

Spring Mills

A Collection of Newsy Happenings and Personals from Gregg Township's Metropolis.

Although the poor board of Gregg township proposes assuming a conciliatory spirit, it intends not to permit itself to fall heir to a poor charge moved from Centre Hall borough to Gregg township a year or more ago. The question is being brought to a focus through a demand by Paul Swabb for rent from November to April, totalling something like $14.00, from the Centre Hall borough poor board for a house occupied by the Callahan family. From the time the house was first occupied by the Callahan family to last November the rent was paid by the borough named, but since then no provision was made for its payment. From what could be gathered from outside sources the borough poor board will claim the head of the Callahan family was regularly employed on November 1st, and that he had voted in his precinct in Gregg township, all of which may not be denied, but it is contended by the Gregg authorities in question that neither or both of these conditions give one a "residence" from the view point of the law defining the legal residence of a pauper. Gregg township poor board is made up of Charles Auman and Robert Lingie, and the Centre Hall board is comprised of J. H. Knarr and C. E. Flink. The parties interested had appointed to meet with "Squire C. B. Stover, Spring Mills, on Monday evening, to aim to come to some amicable agreement, but for sufficient reasons the meeting was postponed to some future date not yet determined.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shook and daughter, Lois, on Monday returned from a visit to the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Godshall, at Morris Plains, N. J., about twenty miles out from New York City. Mr. Godshall, a Penn state, graduate from the department of dairying, is employed on the Brooklawn Farms on which is a dairy of about seventy cows. The Shooks, who went to New Jersey on Friday, speak glowingly of their trip.

There were two births, one on Sunday and one on Monday, in which the readers of this column have an interest. At the Centre County hospital, the first birth occurred, when a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Condo. The proud father is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Condo, where the couple live, and is one of the grade school teachers at Spring Mills. The second birth was a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Garman Matter, the third child and second daughter having come into this world at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heckman, Spring Mills, Mrs. Heckman being a sister of the young mother. Papa Matter when met on the street at Spring Mills on Monday afternoon, had a millionaire look in his eyes, a much more intensified beam than that following the sale of one of the best Dodges he offers.

The Odenkirks of Centre Hall were recent callers at the home of Mrs. C. A. Krape. Max Harshbarger and family and D. R. McCool and daughter Ruth, of Altoona, visited among relatives over the week-end. Mr. Harshbarger is one of the Harshbarger brothers engaged in an extensive milk business in Altoona.

Miss Freda McCool visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McCool. Miss Violet Stover of Smulton was a guest of Miss Leibel Swabb. The girls were classmates in Gregg Township Vocational, having graduated in 1932. The young lady returned to her home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grov, expect to move from Spring Mills to Buffalo, N. Y., by the first of May, which point will afford a great advantage in trucking new automobiles to the east. They recently made a trip to New York City, stopping on the way to visit Harry Finkle.

Harry Brown, of Williamsport, came here to open the fishing season, but his success was not one to boast of. Elwood Stover, a high school youth, had better luck. He had six nice ones in his basket before "books" on Monday morning. Guy Jamison also had luck in getting size.

The track above Spring Mills, badly torn up when a box car was derailed a short time ago, was again put in good repair, the work having been finished on Tuesday. The Spring Mills, Glen Iron and Lemont workmen and two extra men, were called into service.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Huber and three children of Leek Haven, recently visited the former's mother, Mrs. Minerva Huber, and aunt, Catharine Fredericks. Mr. Huber is a collecting agent for a clothing firm, but has several sidelines directly or indirectly connected with music.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Corman and Mrs. Annie Smith, on Sunday, motored to Clearfield, where they visited with the latter's sister, Mrs. M. M. Overly.

The Spring Mills Fish and Game Association will hold a regular monthly meeting this (Thursday) evening in the vocational school building. The promise that R. P. Tanner, superintendent of the Federal Fish Hatchery at Lamar, will be present and speak, will guarantee a large attendance.

A. P. Krape, of Centre Hall, recently paid a visit to G. C. King and was much pleased to find him very much improved. Mrs. S. L. Condo, another resident on the hill who had been ill, is also able to be about again.

W. A. Neese is beginning to figure up just how many days he has been completely out of service so that he will be ready to fill out his insurance blank forwarded to him by the Philadelphia Record. While he is not expecting to make a heavy collection, he thinks the dollar investment for the policy a mighty good one, and so it is.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Diehl, of Millburg, who had been ill, have pretty well recovered. Mr. Diehl had a case of shingles, and after waiting on him, Mrs. Diehl became ill herself. The latter is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dunlap.

Ray Aumiller, Jr., employed on the road construction, Seven Mts., and J. J. McCool, Spring Mills, escaped with light injuries when the car the former was operating turned over at a point above Port Matilda. The car was considerably damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Showers, and Ed. Mullinger, of Pleasant Gap, spent Sunday with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Dukeman, of Clearfield, were visiting friends here recently.

E. C. Hettinger sold a registered Holstein cow and bull to a drover from Lancaster. Samuel Yearick also sold a cow. On Monday they attended a sale at Lancaster and saw them sold. Mr. Hettinger and Mr. Yearick were accompanied by Messrs. Rufus Hettinger, of State College, and Willard Hettinger, of Spring Mills. R. D. The party returned via Liverpool and took supper there at the home of Mr. Hettinger's sister, Mrs. Herman Long.

Potters Mills.

Miss Esther Ennist is spending a few days at the G. B. Bitter home in Spring Mills.

Miss Rachael Foust, who had been a patient at the Centre County hospital for the past ten weeks, has returned home. Mrs. Laura Lee, Miss Laura Breon, and Jackie Breon, of Centre Hall, and Mrs. Cyril Marsteller of Dewart, visited on Sunday at the home of W. E. Lee.

Mrs. W. M. Sweeney, Mrs. F. P. Palmer, Mrs. J. G. Boal, attended a quilting on Wednesday at the Mrs. Geo. Sweeney home at Centre Hall.

Miss Orpha Fleisher, who is employed at State College, visited over the week-end with friends.

Mrs. H. E. Foust and Mrs. G. H. McCormick visited on Saturday with relatives in Aaronsburg.

G. H. McCormick, son William and J. M. Carson attended the Jefferson Day dinner served at the Sandwich Shop in State College, Saturday evening.

Robert McCormick accompanied some friends to New York City on Wednesday to spend his Easter vacation.

100 SELECTED FROM 250 WHO APPLIED FOR CCC TRAINING

One hundred young men selected by the State Emergency Relief Board for enrollment in Civilian Conservation camps left Centre county early Monday morning to report at the recruiting station in the Altoona post office building by noon.

Those who are found to be physically and mentally fit, will leave for Fort Meade, Maryland, where they will receive two weeks of military training, preparatory to allocation to various CCC camps in Central Pennsylvania.

Visitors in the Phillipsburg district office, estimated that about 175 boys, between the ages of 18 and 25, had applied to them for admittance to conservation camps, when it became known that enrollment was to be taken in April. The allotment for the Phillipsburg office, was 79.

Sixty-nine applications for camp were received by visitors in the Bellefonte district office; the allotment for this office was 20.
