The Centre Hall Volunteer Fire Company will meet next Monday evening.

The annual Odd Fellows' celebration, staged in Lock Haven on Friday, was attended by R. M. Smith, W. L. Jacobs, J. H. Knarr and C. E. Flink, from town.

John Dutrow, tenant on the Spayd farm, contemplates planting about nine acres to potatoes. Early varieties were planted some time ago, and Monday the planting of the later varieties was begun.

A Luthersburg resident made the request to the commissioners of Clearfield county to furnish him with a wife and five children. The only conditions are age—the wife must be between eighteen and thirty-five years.

Mrs. W. W. Kerlin, on Sunday, was host to Mrs. Annie Rossman, Mrs. Alwilda Bitner, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Flink and Mrs. Ida Kerlin, at a dinner. The latter two are sisters and the others are their cousins.

Fred Luse, manager of the Wells store, on Tuesday went to Altoona where he underwent a minor operation on the nose, returning home on Wednesday. The operation was performed by Dr. M. H. Long, in his private hospital.

The size, shape, and appearance are not questions to be considered, and so with the children, they may be the brood of the wife offered, or a conglomeration. If you are interested, the offer is made by A. A. Schaffer, from the town named above.

Misses Ruth Henry, of Sunbury, and Isabel Bradford, were at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Bradford, in town, on Sunday. Both young ladies are student nurses in the Geisinger hospital, Danville.

Christ Keller is about again after having been confined to his room for a few days during last week from stomach and bowel trouble.

A. J. Addleman, farmer on the former Reitz farm, on the road to the Reitz gap south of Boalsburg, had the misfortune to lose eight grade cows through death from shipping fever. Mr. Addleman is pasturing a number of steers shipped from the west to Miss Mary Kidder, and it is presumed the cows contracted the disease from them, probably due to the fact that both herds drank from the same watering trough.

Under the proper head will be found the political announcement of Fred Bender, State College boro, as a Republican candidate for the office of County Treasurer. Before locating in State College, Mr. Bender was a resident of Centre Hall, where he stood high as a citizen and showed himself progressive as a member of the borough council. If there are any really good Republicans, Mr. Bender is one of the topnotchers.

The repainting of the hotel stable, mentioned elsewhere in this issue of the Reporter, raised the question as to the time of construction. It is authoritatively stated that the hotel and stable were erected in 1844 by the late Henry Witmer, and upon his retirement as landlord, in 1854, the Witmer property, now occupied by Miss Grace Smith, a granddaughter, and Mrs. Levan Smith, was built. The T. A. Hosterman property was erected in 1853 by the late William Wolf, whose wife was the eldest daughter of Mr. Witmer.

On Monday, Messrs. F. M. Fisher, E. M. Huyett and George Mitchell, representing the board of directors of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Centre County, motored to Harrisburg where they joined representatives of other similar insurance companies from all sections of the State for a conference with the State Commissioner of Insurance. The mutual insurance companies are opposing a tax being placed on all policies being issued by them, and it is for this purpose they threw their forces into Harrisburg beginning of the week.

W. N. Quigley, contractor for the building of the concrete road on Seven Mountains from the Mifflin-Centre county line to Pottery Mills, except that part known as the "Missing Link," completed laying the concrete on Monday, on which day 1156 feet, half-width, was put down. The first work on the road was begun August 29th, at which time men began brushing out the right-of-way south of Pottery Mills. All of the excavating and concreting was completed last fall, except about 1300 feet back of Sand Mountain, and it was this portion of work that was finished Monday. There remain yet to be built headwalls for culverts and berms on a part of the road.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

THE Worst Joke I heard today was told to me by Mr. Edward K. Titus, Jr., of the Brooklyn Eagle. Well, this old Titus Boy, I runs myself into him away up in Warsaw, Russia. He comes sauntering in there, trying to find out something about this Pilsudski for the Brooklyn Eagle. Lord knows how the Eagle ever heard of Pilsudski, but then he was there and he and I and Floyd Gibbons, the Chicago Tribune's Star man, and Dennewitz of the New York Times, why we all went out to the races. They have some hot races in Warsaw and we had a pretty good time of it. None of us ever saw Pilsudski. He had it in for all American Newspaper men. That should not have barred him from seeing me, however. Well, here is one direct from the Brooklyn Eagle. A colored Lady answered an advertisement as a Laundress. She was as black as a coal but she had children with her of every description in the rainbow, black, yellow, high brown. "Why, say, are these children all yours?"

"Yes, ma'am, they is all mine." "But they are all different colors." "Yas'm, you see it's like this. My first husband he was black like me; the second one was kinder brown, and then I decided for the next I would prefer Blondes."
