

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Booser, on Saturday, celebrated the twelfth anniversary of their marriage.

Miss Ella Bottorf, of Lemont, is at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Lizzie Jacobs and will remain for a few weeks.

Guy W. Jacobs, of Steubenville, O., will attend the reunion of his class (1910) at the Pennsylvania State College today, Thursday.

The Senior Service class of the Lutheran Sunday school will hold their class picnic at Hairy John's Park, below Woodward, on Friday, June 14.

In the advertisement of the local First National Bank are given some interesting figures pertaining to the position Pennsylvania occupies in the dairy industry.

The theme of the Children's Day program to be given in the local Reformed church on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock is "Smiles and Sunbeams." Everybody cordially invited.

Mrs. F. P. Geary relinquished her duties as superintendent of the Ohio Valley hospital, Steubenville, Ohio, the last day of May, and has taken up her new duties as housewife in Centre Hall. The couple were married at Easter time.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kerlin, of Harrisburg, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hosterman over the vacation period due to Memorial Day. Mr. Kerlin is storekeeper at the Federal store-house at New Cumberland a position he has held for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rearick, of Tunkhannock, Wyoming county, were in town on Friday, and among others with whom they were in close contact while residents in Centre Hall visited were Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Goodhart. Mr. Rearick is at present a salesman for the Erie Coffin and Cabinet Company.

G. C. Cooney, near Colyer, continues to improve, although his one side is entirely paralyzed. Last week he was moved from the second to the first floor of his home for convenience of his attendant. He was stricken in the beginning of May, and no one at that time thought he could possibly live through that month into June.

One of the graduates of the Nanty-Glo high school is Emaline Minerva Garis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Garis. The exercises were held May 29, in the Capitol theatre, Nanty-Glo. The young lady, whose father is a former Centre Hall youth, received high ratings during her four years in high school.

While detailing the merits of International farm machinery to James Gilliland, at his farm near Linden Hall, D. W. Bradford was surprised to see a large rattlesnake coiled on the ground close to a post on which he was leaning. On recovering from a temporary freeze of wits, the snake was dispatched, although it showed a fighting disposition.

Charles Stoner got a rude awakening early the other morning. He was on his way home, alone, driving an auto, when he fell into a doze long enough to lose control of his car, and bang it went into a tree. The principal damage was done to Mr. Stoner's nose which required surgical attention before it behaved properly. The car damage, considering all conditions, was light.

During the latter part of last week Meyers & Brown, of Myerstown, completed a well on the Elmer Hettinger farm at Farmers Mills. The well was drilled to a depth of 215 feet, at which point it is certain an abundance of water is available. With a gasoline pump Mr. Hettinger expects to have water forced through the house and to several sections of the barn. The drillers, who by the way are a new firm with I. H. Brown as a junior partner with U. W. Meyers, are now operating on the Howard Bickle farm, north of Penn Hall.

Teaching school for sixteen consecutive years under one board is a record worthy of notice, and is one made by Miss Cora Luse of Centre Hall, who is about to complete her sixteenth term in the grade schools of the city of Altoona. She laid the foundation of her education in the Centre Hall borough schools and continued her training for teaching in the Lock Haven Teachers' College, in which College she took a full course. During all excepting three years of the time she has been located in Altoona she lived with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parsell, which may also be justly pointed to with pride. Miss Luse was in town on Memorial Day, which time was spent with her mother, Mrs. Clement Luse, who is living alone at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Homan, of Douglasville, were guests on Saturday and Sunday at the homes of their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Homan, Oak Hall Station, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burris, Centre Hall. Mr. Homan, who is a graduate from the P. S. C. Dairy School, is employed on the Lonciera Farms, one of a number of large dairy farms in Lancaster county, and is making good. Mrs. Homan, who before marriage was Miss Sarah Burris, will be recalled with pleasant memories by many of the young people in and about town. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kruger, of Girard, Ohio, on a tour through Central Pennsylvania, were also guests at the Burris home over the week-end. The couple are formerly from Bellefonte and are now engaged in farming. Mrs. Kruger is a niece of Mr. Burris.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The East Centre County Junior Band will hold a festival and carnival Saturday evening, June 8th, on the high school grounds in Millheim.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Roy Corman, of Wilkensburg, were at the home of Mrs. Corman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher, Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Hoy, of Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. B. Claud Hoy, of Bellefonte, on Saturday evening visited with Mrs. Sallie Rubie, a sister of the gentlemen.

Miss Mary Kennedy, who is in charge of the dining room at the Presbyterian Home in Hollidaysburg, was among friends in and about town on Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Arthur Thoman is reported from the hospital to be in very good condition and is likely to be discharged within a few days. She has been a hospital patient since Sunday a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. L. Bartholomew and daughter, Miss Mary Helen, of Altoona, were at the Bartholomew home over the week-end. It was Mrs. Bartholomew's first visit in a considerable length of time.

Rev. John H. Keller, of China Grove, N. C., visited with his brothers and sister in Centre Hall for a few days, and from here went to Lancaster where he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity, conferred by the Reformed Theological Seminary.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Smity, and children, Wendell and Myra, of North Braddock, were guests at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Sarah E. Smith during Memorial Day vacation. At the close of the present term, Mr. Smith will have completed his tenth year as a teacher in the North Braddock Vocational School.

Miss Margaret Widler received notice on Tuesday that she had received an appointment under the Earle administration in the office at the Pleasant Gap fish hatchery, and went to work on Wednesday morning. Miss Widler has been employed in the office of the Kerlin Poultry Farm during the past twelve years. She is a native of Jersey Shore and is a young person of more than ordinary ability.

The Lutheran and Reformed Cemetery Association held its annual meeting in the Lutheran church, on Monday evening, to hear the annual report and elect trustees. Messrs. W. P. Keller, representing the Reformed, and J. E. Royer, representing the Lutheran church, retiring trustees, were re-elected. The other two members of the board are W. Frank Bradford and A. W. Alexander, representing the Reformed and Lutheran churches, respectively. The financial report revealed a balance of $2900 in the treasury.

After attending the school for nurses connected with the Methodist Episcopal hospital, Philadelphia, for three years, Miss Alice Burkholder will graduate from the institution this (Thursday) evening. She is a graduate of Centre Hall high school. Miss Burkholder has been granted a short vacation after the exercises tonight, and then will again return to the hospital until October. Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Burkholder, parents of the young lady, and sisters, Miss Ellen, Assistant Dean of Women, Penn State, and Miss Mabel, left for Philadelphia this morning and will witness the graduation exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Burkholder, accompanied by their daughters, Misses Jean and Harriet, and a son, of Sewickley, were guests over the weekend of the former's brother, M. A. Burkholder, and family. The Burkholders also visited at Penn State, where Miss Jean is a freshman in Penn State, and expects to continue her studies there. Mr. Burkholder is the manager of two adjoining boroughs—Edgewood and Sewickley—and is a busy man. Other guests recently at the same home were Mrs. Lea Dillon, Mrs. Kate Gardner, and Mrs. Daisy Widler, of Altoona, whose friendship dates back to the time the Burkholders lived in Altoona.
