DEMOCRATS PRAISE TAX RAISE PROPOSED BY PRESIDENT Reactions ranging from high praise by most Democrats and some Republicans to minority assertions that his proposals would retard recovery were evoked by President Roosevelt's tax message.

Senator Long (D., La.), who sought to put his "share-the-wealth" program into the social security bill: "I have no faith in his promises—but if he'll come along and actually bust up every big fortune in America, we'd be out of the depression in 24 hours."

Representative Snell, the Republican leader: "I think it was a fine stump speech. It looks like the President is trying to get the jump on Huey Long and the other share-the-wealth people. The effect of the whole statement in my judgment will be to retard the improvement hoped for this summer."

Senator McNary, Republican leader: "At this late hour I can't believe the President expects legislation of this character during this session of the Congress. It would continue the session indefinitely."

Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.): "I've always believed taxes should be imposed on those best able to pay."

Senator Bulkeley (D., Ohio): "Generally, I favor the principles recommended by the President."

Senator Hayden (D., Ariz.): "It's O. K. by me."

Representative Martin (R., Mass.), agreed with Snell that the message was "not the kind that will be helpful to recovery at this time."

Senator Lewis (D., Ill.): "It's a resort to the only system that can raise the necessary money to defray the debts of the Government through the least burdensome system."

Senator LaFollette (Prog., Wis.): "A splendid message."

Senator Townsend (R., Del.): "It was a great surprise to everyone in the Senate including the leaders on the Democratic side. I should think at this late date it wouldn't have much chance at this session."

Senator Norris (R., Neb.): "The tax program suits me 100 per cent. both on the inheritance tax and the corporation tax. I think he has struck a keynote."

Senator Neely (D., W. Va.): "One of the most praiseworthy messages that President Roosevelt has ever sent to Congress. It is the beginning of the end of plutocracy and a life-saver for democracy."

Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.): "I thought it was an excellent message. I would be in favor of action on it at this session."

Senator Clark (D., Mo.): "I am in general sympathy with it."

Senator Walsh (D., Mass.): "I don't see how some increase in the surtax or inheritance tax can be avoided if we intend to balance the budget."

Deaths

ISENBERG.—Mrs. Della D. Isenberg wife of Charles A. Isenberg, died at her home in Boalsburg, Tuesday morning of last week, following an illness of one week. Death was due to pneumonia.

Mrs. Isenberg was born June 26, 1868, making her age at death 66 years, 11 months and 23 days. She was born in Ferguson township, the daughter of Jonathan and Mary Walker Shutt, both deceased, and was married in December, 1893, to Charles A. Isenberg.

A member of the Boalsburg Reformed church, she was held in high esteem by those who knew her.

In addition to her husband, she leaves two sons, Edward, of Mt. Clemens, Michigan; and Hobart, of Harrisburg. One sister Mrs. Joseph Pressler, Milesburg, also survives. Funeral services were held on Thursday in the Boalsburg Reformed church. The Rev. H. L. Wink officiated and burial was made in the Boalsburg cemetery.

COWAN.—Robert E. Cowan died in the Centre County hospital on Wednesday of last week, following a gall stone operation, aged 49 years.

He was a World War veteran and a son of John and Mary Cowan, of Tyrone. He is survived by a wife, formerly Mildred Ebright, and four children, all at home. Interment was made at Tyrone on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Slutterbeck entertained friends from Schuylkill county Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ammon Baird and daughter Joan, spent Sunday with Mrs. Baird's parents, F. P. Florays.

Joseph Ramer, employed in Pike county, spent Sunday at his home here.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the Hospital fund, should leave same at the S. T. Swartz home during this week.

MILLHEIM BASEBALL CLUB'S FUTURE IN GRAVE DOUBT

[From the Journal]. Efforts are being made to put the Millheim Baseball Club on its feet financially. Upon the result will rest the answer to the question of continuing as a member of the Centre County League beyond the close of the split season, July 4th.

Lack of interest is evidently the principal reason for the poor attendance at the local field, and that may be attributed to a cause detrimental to all league members. The league, with ten clubs, is poorly balanced, an uneven schedule resulting. Contending rivals are not seen often enough to keep interest at a high pitch and, as in the case with the locals, two weeks elapse between some of the home games.

Eight clubs are enough for any baseball league and the Centre County League could do well without both Kato and Lamm, leaving four pairs of geographical rivals to create all the interest necessary.

In the situation here, it might be that the public is simply fed up with baseball and unwilling to continue after July 4th.

The Harmony class of the Evangelical church school held a picnic at Mt. Pleasant, last Friday, at a cabin which is rented by Mr. and Mrs. Moore, of Tyrone. The members of the class present were Miss Gertrude Ishler teacher, Doll Hess, Angeline Hess, Geneva Hess, Ruth Hartley, Lois Ruble, Marie Snyder, Lillian Rickert. Guests were Rev. and Mrs. W. K. Hosterman, Mrs. George Ishler, Jane Spiker, Woodrow Ishler, Marjorie Morrow, Geraldine Bradford, Kathryn Smith, Reuben Rickert, and Kenneth Frank.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Robert Goodhart, Altoona, a P. R. R. engineer, had been very seriously ill, but is now improving.

Mr. and Mrs. William Herman and children, of Hollidaysburg, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Colyer since Saturday.

A ham and egg supper and card party was held Tuesday night at the John Meek camp, leased to J. H. Knarr for the summer.

Miss Isabel Bradford, a student in the school for nurses in the Geisinger hospital, Danville, is at her home in town for a three weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Sallie Ruble is in Altoona with her son, Franklin Ruble, and family. The young man is employed by the Penn Central Light and Power Co.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Royer motored to Uniontown where they spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. John S. Getchell.

Mrs. Della Reiber, previous to her visit with her son, William Reiber, at Carlisle, where she was for the week-end, attended the Rebekah Assembly at Reading, as a delegate from the Centre Hall lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Fisher and three children, of Sunbury, were guests at the F. M. Fisher home, on Sunday. Mr. Fisher is employed by the Government in an office in Seltsgrove.

G. W. Ralston, tenant on the Colyer farm, was one of a number of farmers to cut alfalfa prior to the rainy season. After lying in the rains for two weeks, it was raked up and piled at an out-of-way place to decay.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kerlin and son, William, accompanied by Philip Simmonds, of Altoona, a chum of the latter, on Monday motored to Culver, Indiana, where the boys will be students in the Culver Military School for a term of six weeks.

The Central Pennsylvania Gospel Band, with headquarters at Sunbury, directed by Rev. D. W. Dubendorf, will be playing on Grange Park, Centre Hall, in the afternoon of July 4, and there will be preaching, special songs and other music. All are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Emery and children, Mr. and Mrs. George Goodhart and children, Misses Emma John, Freda Burkholder, Gene Dinges, Edgar Harter and Foster Rhoades, camped over the week-end in the Allegheny Mountains, using the lodge of the Burns Run hunting club.

The 4-H club had hard luck Saturday night, rain having spoiled the opportunity for a profitable festival that began with such a bright outlook. The Spring Mills band was on hand, but it could not stay the clouds from spilling rain on the high school grounds where the festival opened.

NEW "CLEAROSOL" PROCESS

A very interesting meeting was held at R. S. Hagan's Garage recently, three being present Mr. Hagan, his employe and an automotive engineer from the Independent Oil Company.

E. D. Gearhart, the engineer, conducted the meeting, and with the use of slides very effectively illustrated and explained the new "Clearsol" process of refining Mobiloil.

The new "Clearsol" process is expected to bring about a 25 per cent. saving in oil consumption, less engine wear more mileage from gasoline due to better oil and virtual freedom from carbonization in the cylinders.

Carbon, it was asserted, virtually runs off the pistons with the new type of oil. Ten cars, each run 86,000 miles, finished without a trace of carbon.

The new method of refining depends upon the use of two solvents. One, propane, is a light gasoline. The other, cresylic acid, is a coal tar product. When dumped into a tank of crude petroleum they separate the impurities from the oil almost magically.

The acid dissolves and settles the asphaltic materials and naphthenic oil of low viscosity, which cause knocking and carbon deposits. The propane absorbs the desirable parts of the oil.

The clear propane oil is then drawn off. Through another process the propane is removed from it, leaving a motor oil said to be superior to anything ever produced.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

Patients in the Centre County hospital from the south side of the county during last week:

Miss Rachael Foust, Spring Mills, a surgical patient, was discharged last Tuesday.

Mrs. Charles Isenberg, of Boalsburg, expired on Tuesday.

Ira Gramley, Aronsburg, a medical patient, returned home Friday.

Mrs. George Hackett, Centre Hill, was admitted last Wednesday.

Mrs. Nevin Miller, Madisonburg, was discharged last Thursday.

Glenn W. Fetterolf, Centre Hall, R. D., has been a patient since Friday.
