

Spring Mills

A Collection of Newsy Happenings and Personalities from Gregg Township's Metropolis.

A daughter was born to Prof. and Mrs. John Corman, at Unionville, Chester county, and has been named Barbara Gaymer. The couple have been married nine years. The father is assistant principal of a Vocational school having 800 pupils. The young lady who just made her appearance is a granddaughter of Mrs. Sara Corman of Spring Mills, and is the first of its generation. The professor is accused of thumbing his brothers, Rev. E. R. Corman, Wilkinsburg, and Guy Corman, the local furniture dealer.

The Spring Mills baseball team played on the Moshannon field on Saturday, winning by a score of 11 to 9. The game reported between Spring Mills and Aaronsburg as lost to the local team was an error, the score having been Spring Mills, 14; Aaronsburg, 3. Saturday, Pine Grove Mills will play at Spring Mills.

The festival held by the Georges Valley Cemetery Association, on Saturday evening, on the Vocational school grounds, was well attended and well patronized. The gross receipts are reported to have been $200.

A number of residents about here are driving new automobiles of various makes. Among these are William Osman, a Dodge; Thomas Decker, William Neese and Nevin Decker, Plymouths; H. E. Stover, a Ford; Elaine Bitner, a Graham; Dr. George C. Thomas, Chevrolet; Bruce Bailey and Wm. Snyder, almost new Chevrolets.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Corman and Mrs. Annie Smith, on Sunday, motored to Colport.

Miss Anna Barger is clerking for her brother, Harry Barger, in the new grocery store at the old Corman stand.

The foot-walk on the south side of the State highway bridge over Penns Creek is about completed. Including painting. The added walk is much appreciated by a large number of pedestrians who travel over the creek, and greatly lessens the hazard to young and old who pass that way.

The announcement by the State Game Commission that Centre will be one of several counties open for the slaughter of doe deer is not being received kindly by hunters about here as is the case in many other sections of the county. It is denied that the does and bucks are unbalanced in numbers. Hunters who have regularly hunted in various sections of the county hold firm to the statement that the slaughtering of does would be detrimental instead of beneficial to the production of deer. There is a likelihood of a vigorous protest being made against the three-day doe season by sportsmen in this section.

Rev. S. F. Greenhoe, on Sunday evening, held his final service in the local Lutheran church, prior to vacating the Penns Valley Lutheran charge as its pastor. Communion was served.

J. Adam Condo, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Condo, expects to be home by the end of this month after having served for a full month in a signal corps at Fort George Meade, located between Washington and Baltimore. There are 4000 young men in training there. Wayne Bittling, assistant supervisor of agriculture in the Gregg Township Vocational School, was an officer in the camp during the first two weeks of this month.

F. Guy Foreman, of Buffalo, N. Y., a railroad policeman for the New York Central, called on Blaine and Dwight Hiner, one day last week, after a lapse of years. Needless to say the trio recalled many happy incidents of their youth. Mr. Foreman was a former clerk of the Spring Mills post office under postmaster M. T. Zubler.

E. T. Janney, Walter Auman and Hon. J. W. ... represented this section at the democratic picnic held at Moshannon park on Thursday.

Thomas Reib, and Charles Kleckner, of Cavalier City, Kansas, motored through Penna., visiting Brush, Penna. and Buffalo Valleys, where they once lived. Mr. Reib went west from near Madisonburg, and Mr. Kleckner from near Millburg, neither of them having visited in the East in recent years. Before returning home they stopped with Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Condo, Mr. Kleckner being a nephew of Mrs. Condo. They were accompanied to Spring Mills by Bryson Kleckner, of Vicksburg, a brother of Mrs. Condo.

Mrs. John Geary and Mrs. Mattie Bell and daughter, Edna, of Sunbury, motored to Spring Mills on Sunday and were guest at the G. C. King home.

Miss Margaret Grenoble visited during last week at the home of an uncle, Robert Grenoble, in Lewisburg, and also spent some time with girl friends in the town. Miss Margaret on Tuesday left for Camp Memsch Mill, Berks county, where she will remain for two weeks. The camp is fostered by the Reformed church, and is rising in prominence as a camp for religious instruction and recreation. While she is representing the Reformed Sunday school, the financial problem is being solved by Mrs. Sylvia Grenoble, mother of the young lady.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Bartigus, of Sunbury, spent Sunday at the home of the former's father, Ivy Bartiges.

Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Cure, of Muncie, Ind., were week-end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Thomas.
