Mrs. D. N. Dorman, of Yeagertown, was a visitor in town on Monday and favored this office with a call.

Pennsylvania sheep growers bought 149 purebred rams at recent sales sponsored by five county sheep and wool associations. The prices ranged from $22.75 to $55.00.

H. H. Keller, who is teaching in a high school at Laurel, Del., accompanied by a friend, Mr. Cooper, motored to Centre Hall Friday evening, returning to Delaware on Saturday.

William P. Campbell, Penns Cave, a Penn State student, was one of the sixteen students from various colleges who participated in a cattle judging contest at Kansas City, to capture a cash prize.

State highway workmen are busily engaged in the erection of snow fences. The snow fence prevents snow drifting on the roads, making for safety and convenience of the motor operator and companions.

The widow and children of the late Wm. F. Rockey take this method of returning thanks to the many friends who rendered assistance during the last illness and later at the time of the death of the husband and father.

Mrs. W. R. Neff, who several weeks ago fell in her home at Centre Hill and seriously injured a hip bone, has recovered to the extent that she can sit in a chair and is beginning to learn to walk for the second time.

From the Reporter files it is learned that on September 7, 1886, an earthquake shock was felt here and was described by the late Frederick Kurtz, then editor of the Reporter, as having occurred at 9:30 p. m., the rumblings being very distinct.

Farmer T. F. Delaney, at Old Fort, removed the siding from his dwelling house, used celotex for sheeting and then replaced the siding. The idea is to keep the cold winds from creeping through the thin walls. Next spring the large farm house will be repainted.

Last week in referring to a funeral car running into a herd of cattle belonging to the late W. F. Rockey it was stated that it was the Koch funeral car of State College, which was an error. This car belonged to a funeral director named Koch, but not the Koch, from State College, but from Bradford.

A truck operated by Philip Hoover, Bellefonte, struck Joseph Kutenbauer and inflicted lacerations on the right leg. The injured man was unloading hardware from a Potter-Hoy truck being delivered to the Wetzel store, Milesburg. The truck driver was unable to properly negotiate a turn and after hitting the man referred to knocked down a gasoline pump.

The Rockey farm in Walker township was purchased by Harry Rockey for $3425. The farm is located along the Pleasant Gap-Zion road, the building standing close to the road on the North side, and contains 132 acres. It is a highly productive farm and has been tenanted by the purchaser for some years. The farm was sold by the trustee of the John P. Rockey estate.

A card from C. A. McKinney received by this office from Durham, N. C., says: "Kindly send my Reporter to the above address. I have accepted a position with the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service, and am handling the forestry end of erosion control work from CCC Camp N. C. 14. I like the work and the South fine."

W. F. Rishel, a leading stockman in Centre county, and proprietor of the Penns Valley Stock Farm, Centre Hall, R. D. 2, was one of almost five hundred who attended the regional meeting of the Eastern State's Farmers' Exchange at Pennsylvania State College during last week. The Exchange is a co-operative purchasing association with a membership of 60,000.

Mrs. Mary Weber Crawford, of Centre Hall, was appointed a typist in the Department of Revenue and will be found on the third floor of temporary building No. 1, Harrisburg. Salary, $900. She left her home here for the State capital city on Friday afternoon, expecting to enter upon her appointment immediately. Mrs. Crawford has had ample experience as a typist to fill the position with credit.

Wednesday night of last week fire in the State College hotel and corner room building did considerable damage, while the water from firehose and automatic sprinkler system served to confine the fire to a small area, did more extensive damage. The fire raged where the new and old sections of the hotel building joined. Other tenants in the building were H. J. Savers, clothier; the Frost-Doty-Elder insurance firm; and a tailor in the basement, where the fire was first located at about 12:30 a. m.

The start of work by the Resettlement Administration beginning of this week, will be the first step toward eventual transformation of nearly 300,000 acres, to be acquired at a cost for the land alone of approximately $200,000,000, in the six New England States, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Maryland. Worn-out or abandoned farm lands, on which farm families in many instances are dwelling in want and misery or existing on public aid, will be reclaimed and converted into regions of scenic beauty offering greatly enlarged opportunities for healthy public recreation and outdoor enjoyment.

Sunday night about an inch and a half of snow fell in this section, covering buildings and fields throughout Monday. By Tuesday evening, except in protected places, the first snow of the season had disappeared.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Heckert, of Lindley, New York, on their way to Lancaster, stopped with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lanson Burris, in Centre Hall. At Lancaster they will be guests of Mrs. Charles Burris, mother of Mrs. Heckert.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wagner, of Juniata, on Monday visited their cousins, Mrs. Ida Kerlin and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Flink, and found Mrs. Kerlin and Mr. Flink somewhat improved, although both continue to be confined to bed.

Mrs. Catharine Burwell, wife of A. L. Burwell of State College recently underwent an operation for gallstones in the Phillipsburg State hospital. Mr. Burwell was manager of the Shaffer store in Centre Hall when that firm carried on here, and at present is manager of the Shaffer stores in State College.

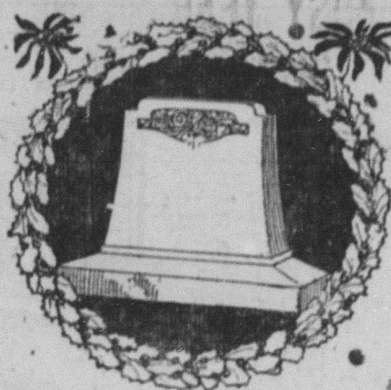

The transportation of freight by truck, a GMC eleven-ton semi-trailer, conducted by James Searson, is proving successful. The route is between Cleveland, New York City, and Philadelphia. Mr. Searson began operations Sept. 23rd, and up to Saturday had covered ten thousand miles. J. W. Royer, of Centre Hall, accompanies Mr. Searson as a second operator.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Porter of Hubbersburg, and Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Kryder, of town, were a part of a group of 350 persons who on Monday attended the annual convention of the Farm Bureau Federation to meet in Harrisburg. In the evening a banquet was served which was attended by almost everyone who was present at the day sessions.

The Reporter, on Tuesday, was favored with a call by M. E. Defenderfer, of Northumberland, whom the writer had not contacted in twenty years. For a period of seventeen years, to 1914, Mr. Defenderfer represented a grocery firm and waited on merchants throughout Centre county, and formed a large acquaintance among others than merchants. He was then living in Mifflinburg. From here the former salesman went on to Bellefonte. The Greyhound bus was employed as a means of transportation.

James J. Murphy, a Philadelphian, drove a Hudson sedan into an implement shed, doing damage to the structure and implements in it to the extent of $250. The car was also greatly damaged. Mr. Murphy was going west on Route 45, and at Old Fort drove straight on instead of making a right-hand turn to proceed to Phillipsburg, the objective destination. The building was hit at the centre of the double doors, the car burying itself among the implements, after pushing them right and left for its full length. A hay loader and side-delivery rake were two of the most expensive implements damaged. In the sedan were found great slivers of wood from the pine doors, yet all passengers escaped injuries. The affair occurred at 9:30. Sunday evening while a light snow was falling.

Trinity Reformed church will hold their Christmas service on Sunday evening, December 22.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

COURT NEWS.

Criminal court was in session last week and was largely devoted to hearing assault and battery, larceny, or something worse. The only case of any appearance of "respectability" was the Howard robbery, referred to below:

Jesse Shaffer, of Lock Haven, now serving an eighteen months' term in the Allegheny county work house on a sentence in Clinton county court, was brought to Bellefonte to stand trial on the charge of robbing the Schenck hardware store, at Howard in October 1934. He was convicted and sentenced to serve from three to four years in the work house, to be computed from the expiration of his Clinton county sentence.

The cases of George Deering of Potter township, violation of the liquor law, and E. E. Weiser, of State College, larceny by bailee, were not pressed.

Cases of Walter LaBarr, Frank DiAngelo, and James Brown, breaking and larceny were continued until another term of court.

The court sessions lasted but for two days—Tuesday and Wednesday. Altogether twelve cases were disposed of, five of which were heard before a jury, three were continued and two not pressed.

NO CIVIL COURT THIS WEEK.

But one case was up for trial at the Civil Court to have been held this week. Consequently the second week sessions were dispensed with and the case continued to the February term.
