ROOSEVELT REMINDS BIG SHOTS OF THEIR CONVENTION IN '35

In his address at Atlanta, on Friday afternoon, President Roosevelt took the offensive, displayed a fighting mood, reaffirmed his determination to give America a New Deal. While the Tories are crying, "balance the budget," the President lifted the curtain on a bit of history. Listen: "In the spring of 1933 many of the great bankers of the United States flocked to Washington. They were there to get the help of their Government in the saving of their banks from insolvency. "To them I pointed out, in all fairness, the simple fact that the Government would be compelled to go heavily in debt for a few years to come, in order to save banks and insurance companies and mortgage companies and railroads, and to take care of millions of people who were on the verge of starvation. "Every one of these gentlemen expressed to me the firm conviction that it was all worth the price and that they heartily approved. "In order to get their further judgment, however, I asked them what they thought the maximum national debt of the United States could rise to without serious danger to the national credit. "Their answers, remembering this was in the spring of 1933, were that the country could safely stand a national debt of between $55,000,000,000 and $70,000,000,000 . . . at that time many bankers and big business men would have been willing to put the country far deeper into debt than I shall ever let it go. "Since March 4, 1933, the national debt has risen from $21,000,000,000 to $29,500,000,000, but . . . included in this figure is nearly $1,500,000,000 of working balance in the Treasury and nearly $4,500,000,000 of recoverable assets which the Government will get back. "The credit of the Government is today higher than that of any other great nation in the world, in spite of the attacks on that credit made by those few individuals and organizations which seek to dictate to the Administration and to Congress how to run the national Treasury and how to let the needy starve."

$216,920 SCHOOL BUILDING FOR PHILIPSBURG BOROUGH

The general contract was let Saturday evening for the new $216,920 Junior-Senior high school building in Philipsburg, to John C. Yenter, of Tyrone, for $161,588; heating and ventilating to Mulch Brothers, Hollidaysburg, $26,422; plumbing, William Clark Co., $11,440; electrical supplies, Electric Supply Co., Clearfield, $11,450. The structure will be built of brick and work must start by December 15. The building will accommodate 600 pupils and will take the place of a school building destroyed by fire a year ago. The PWA will pay 45 per cent of the total cost and the borough the remainder.

Deaths

MRS. A. E. KERLIN PASSES AWAY WEDNESDAY NOON

After an illness extending over a period of several months, Mrs. Arthur E. Kerlin passed out of this life a short time before the noon hour on Wednesday. Her condition on Tuesday was regarded as most serious, but the day previous she was unusually bright, having rallied from one of a number of serious attacks she experienced during her last illness. Funeral services will be held from the Goodhart funeral parlor, on Saturday morning, 10:00 o'clock, Rev. A. L. Wagner, pastor of the local Lutheran church, to officiate. Interment at Centre Hall beside the body of her deceased husband, Arthur E. Kerlin, whose death occurred during October of last year. Ida J. Kerlin was the daughter of Jacob and Susan (Gise) Wagner, and was born July 11, 1861, in the vicinity of Tusseyville. Her marriage to Mr. Kerlin took place early in 1885, and within a few years thereafter the couple located in Centre Hall, where they lived continuously thereafter. There survive her a son, William W., the eldest of their two children, and a grandson, William H. Kerlin. Also, two brothers, and one sister; namely, D. Gise Wagner, Mrs. Charles E. Flink, Centre Hall, and Rev. William J. Wagner, State College. E. Clayton Wagner, Potlatch, and James E. Wagner, Herndon, are surviving half-brothers. Mrs. Kerlin lived a consistent Christian life, was charitably disposed toward all, and liberal. Long a member of the Lutheran church, she supported it at all possible times by her presence and adequately with her means, missions being especially favored. She was aged 74 years, 4 months and 23 days.

GOSS.—Isabel Louise Goss, widow of James Goss, died in the Centre County hospital, Sunday morning, from complications. Burial was made at Centre Hall from the home of her niece, Miss Sarah McClellan, at 2:30 p. m., Tuesday, Rev. L. A. Wagner officiating.

The deceased was born in this county, Nov. 8, 1847, aged 88 years and 22 days. She was a daughter of Isaac and Margaret Clymer Bruns, who located a short distance west of Centre Hall many years ago. Mrs. Emeline Coldron, Centre Hall is a sister of the deceased.

GARTHOFF.—Stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Blackford, of Pottery Mills, John Franklin Garthoff, of Bellefonte, died Thursday afternoon, at the age of 72 years, 5 months and 23 days. Mr. Garthoff was in an upstairs room and when his daughter called him to dinner she heard a thump on the floor. When she investigated she found him lying on the floor, where he had fallen, dead. Born June 5, 1863, at Bannerville, Mr. Garthoff was the son of Jonathan and Caroline Garthoff. He was a mail carrier at Bellefonte for many years, retiring from active service about eight years ago. Mr. Garthoff went to Bellefonte from Coburn, where he engaged in teaching in the public schools and was a justice of the peace. He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Blackford, and four grandchildren, John W. Blackford, Bellefonte; Clifton D. Blackford, Hawaii; Philip R. Blackford, of Harrisburg; and J. L. Blackford, Pottery Mills. His wife died June 9 of this year. Funeral services were held from his late home on Reynolds avenue, Bellefonte, Saturday afternoon at 2:30, with the Rev. Clarence E. Arnold officiating. Burial in the Zion cemetery.

WELSHANS.—Mrs. Bertha Welshans, long a resident of Booneville, died in the Geisinger hospital, Danville, on Friday, from cerebral hemorrhages. The husband and four children survive her. Burial was made at Booneville on Tuesday.

STOVER.—Mrs. Ellen Stover, aged 87 years, died recently at Berrien Springs, Mich. She was the widow of John Stover and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Stemm. In 1858 she accompanied her parents from their home where Ray Decker now lives, near Tusseyville, to Michigan, and in the same year married Mr. Stover. Her father was a brother of the late Mrs. Michael Derstine. There survive her three of her five sons, and two sisters, Mrs. Sarah Moyer, of Niles, Mich., and Mrs. Regina Fogie, Hinchman, Mich., also a brother, William Stemm, of Berrien Springs.

WEISER.—Solomon I. Weiser, a native of Millheim, but a resident of Marion, Ohio, since arriving at manhood, died at a Marion hospital, aged 77 years. He was a son of Henry H. Weiser, and was employed by the Huber Threshing Machine company. He is survived by a son and three daughters, also by a brother, F. P. Weiser, of Millheim, and two sisters, Mrs. Sally Grove, of Kansas, and Mrs. Robert Harter, of South Dakota.

MCGARVEY.—James Milliken McGarvey died in the Veterans' Hospital at Palo Alto, Calif., Tuesday evening of last week. He was a World War veteran, a son of John W. and Ella McGarvey, Bellefonte. Two brothers, Edward and Paul, and two sisters, Mary and Blanche, all of Bellefonte, survive him. He was unmarried. Burial was made in Bellefonte.

MCCOY.—At the advanced age of 85 years, 5 months and 22 days, Mrs. Sara McCoy died at her home in Bellefonte on Friday. She was a daughter of James and Bridget Kelley and was born in Spring township. Six children, a brother and sister, survive her. Burial was made in the Catholic cemetery, Bellefonte, on Monday.

RUPP.—Mrs. Agnes Priscilla Rupp, widow of John E. Rupp, of State College, died on Saturday, aged 77 years. Funeral services were held Tuesday; burial at Pine Hall.

She was a daughter of John and Susan Dale Musser, both deceased. Surviving children are: James P. Rupp and Mrs. W. H. Rieker, Jr., both of State College, and Musser P. Rupp, of New Kensington. Two brothers, H. Lincoln Musser, of Miami Fla., and Christian M. Musser, State College, also survive.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS, FATAL AND OTHERWISE, IN CRN. PA.

John L. Walk, 50, of Hannah, while walking through the woods, discharged his gun accidentally, the bullet penetrating the right leg. He was taken to the Philipsburg hospital.

Fatal accidents throughout the central part of the State on Monday and Tuesday, include:

N. T. Yingling, 70, Westover, shot through the chest near Tamaea, Clinton county, by a stray bullet.

Another victim of a stray bullet, Kenneth Wariow, 16, Tower City, was searching for deer with his father and several friends.

Among the local youthful hunters who met with success in bird hunting were Bob Wetzel, who shot five ring-necked pheasants during the season just closed and Muth Bailey, who shot nine ruffed grouse, without the aid of a dog. Another successful grouse hunter was Daniel S. Daup, who had a string of six.

Freeman's Works Progress Administration office has passed favorably on large number of projects, 151 of which were put into operation, and 19 already completed. These projects are supposed to give employment to 19,986, while the actual number employed is 9,299. By the middle of the month the remaining number will be at work. Up to December 1st, $513,890.51 had been expended, including allotment and sponsors' contributions. A total of 455 projects were passed on favorably.

COMPLETE DISPLAY OF PENNA. HUNTING LICENSE—1913-1934

There are few hunters, however enthusiastic, who can today show a specimen of all the regular season and special season hunting licenses since the State began their issuing in 1913, yet some can, and John H. Knarr is one of them. In first class condition and neatly framed are on display all the hunting licenses issued to him from 1913 to 1934, and 1935 is carried by him now. Up to and including 1923 the licenses were made of cloth; in 1924, aluminum, and the remainder enameled metal. Special licenses for killing antelope deer were issued in 1926, 1928, 1929. The display is in the Knarr meat market and to hunters is of particular interest.

While the sun shone brightly during parts of Monday and Tuesday, not a bit of snow melted. Hunters complained much due to the cold throughout the entire two days.

FARM CALENDAR. Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

CHECK PULLETS' WEIGHT—Pullets should gain in weight during the first laying year. If underweight, feed them more. If pullets lose weight there is good possibility of their going into a molt.

STORE SEED POTATOES RIGHT—Keep from freezing, have constant or regular ventilation immediately following digging. The ideal temperature for seed storage is around 34 to 38 degrees F.

CHICKENS NEED VITAMIN D—Lack of sunshine or substitutes which supply vitamin D may result in low egg production, crooked breast bones, poor egg shells, and lowered resistance to disease. Add vitamin D concentrate to feed daily.

DAIRY CATTLE IN WINTER QUARTERS—Adjust the herd to existing stable and feed conditions. The stable should be comfortable, well lighted, and so arranged as to make it possible to do the necessary daily work in the easiest way.

APPLE THINNING PAYS—It was discovered that a net profit of $3.47 resulted in about 12 bushels of thinned Wealthy apples as compared with the same amount unthinned. This is about 26 1/2 cents per bushel.

CLEAN GARDENS NOW—All garden refuse should be collected in order to prevent infestation of insects or diseases which may be harbored in winter.
