

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Miss Gertrude Spangler, formerly located at Oakland, Calif., is now found in Alameda, Calif., 1420 Oak St.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Houtz and young daughter, Freda Jane, of Leont, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Durst and other relatives.

Misses Miriam Mitterling and Thelma Clark, students in Potts Business College, Williamsport, were at their respective homes here over the weekend.

New cars recently sold through the R. S. Hagan agency, Centre Hall, include a Dodge coupe to G. C. Hoob and a Plymouth sedan to Ray A. Miller, both of Millheim.

M. E. Coldron, daddy of the youth, Jack Coldron, who captured a $100 prize through the Friendship Charity drawing, Sunbury, selected a $50.00 ticket in last week's drawing.

Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Wagner, of Sunbury, were visited by the former's father, E. C. Wagner and brother, Franklin Wagner, of Danville, R. D., and Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Hull, cousins, of Sunbury.

Fred Bender, of State College, the Rawleigh Products salesman, was a business caller at this office on Monday. He was defeated at the recent primaries for the nomination for county treasurer, but takes his defeat most gracefully.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Goodhart, of Johnstown, visited with their son, Franklin D. Goodhart, for a few days last week. They brought with them Frank-Bill Goodhart, a grandson, who had been with them at their home for several weeks, and had completed his visit.

Cars driven by M. H. Swartz and W. J. Hockenbery, of Rebersburg, collided on route 95, five miles east of Centre Hall, Sunday afternoon. The two machines were moving in opposite directions, when Hockenbery skidded as he applied his brakes upon meeting the other car. No one was injured.

F. M. Fisher, secretary of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Centre county, adjusted the loss by fire to the property occupied by Clyde Ripka, Pine Grove Mills, resulting from an explosion of kerosene being poured from a can, with such dire results as are noted elsewhere in this issue. The fire loss was very light.

M. E. Coldron, of Nittany Mountain, and nephew, Harry Barger, of Spring Mills, while driving over the Seven Mountains on Sunday evening, struck a culvert a short distance below the big curve, doing considerable damage to the car which is owned by the former. Poor visibility, due to a heavy fog, was a contributory cause of the accident. None of the occupants of the car were injured.

The third son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keller, on the Keller road in the south section of the borough, during the latter part of last week. This makes the fifth boy to arrive in that portion of the town within the recent past. The "Winchell" of the Reporter states that the old bird, the Stork, dropped a note stating he had an additional mission to perform in due time, and that it too would call him close to the south boro line.

Harry R. Wolfe, progressive farmer east of Centre Hall, last week completed the installation of a Myers' water system on the farm property which is aiding materially to reduce farm drudgery in the daily routine of work. The system was installed by C. B. Stover, of Spring Mills, and places running water in the house, barn and various outbuildings. It has an automatic pressure arrangement, and works to perfection.

David Thompson, 14 son of Rev. W. C. Thompson, Bellefonte, seriously injured in an auto wreck is improving, but slowly. Kenneth Ripka, one of several burned following an explosion of an oil can which resulted in the death of Mrs. Moore, at Pine Grove Mills, Sunday evening, is improving and is expected to recover. James Houser, almost ninety years old, returned to the home of a son at Pleasant Gap, in an improved condition. The above notations are made from information obtained Wednesday noon from the Centre County hospital.

The "Wincharger" is a boon to farmers and others desiring to operate radios and not having access to electric power. The "Wincharger" is built on the style of a windmill, the propeller being similar to that on an airplane. On the arm back of the propeller is a generator which is connected with an ordinary automobile battery by means of a wire, the idea, of course, being to keep the battery charged at no cost to the operator. With a "Wincharger" the family living in a district not covered by an electric line may have continuous radio service. The invention, which may be seen at the Hagan garage, is quite inexpensive.

Out-of-town relatives and friends of Mrs. Ida Kerlin who attended her funeral services, on Saturday morning, included Rev. and Mrs. William J. Wagner, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Harkins, the latter couple's sons, John and William Harkins, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Rice, of State College; S. J. Wagner, Mrs. Cyrus Wagner, Boalsburg; Mrs. Addie Long, Washington, D. C.; James B. Wagner, Herndon; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wagner, Potters Mills; Mrs. D. W. Gelas, Miss Margaret Weidler, Bellefonte; Mrs. Annie Roseman, John B. Wert, Mrs. Gilbert Rimmey, Mrs. John Neff, Tusseyville; Mrs. Mary Neihart, Lewisburg.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The antlerless deer season opens today (Thursday) and continues to and including Friday.

A copy of the Middle Atlantic edition of the "Old Farmer's Almanac," published by Robert H. Thomas, 34 Beacon St. Boston, Mass., reached the Reporter desk Monday morning, and in it is found a great mass of valuable information.

G. Frank Smith, the borough assessor, is making the annual assessment at this time, and is pretty well through with the work. Of course, at this time except under particular circumstances, revaluation of real estate is not a part of the program.

Harry Taylor, Philadelphia, was a week-end guest at the M. A. Burkholder home. He is a friend of Miss Alice Burkholder, who completed a course in nursing in the Methodist hospital, Philadelphia, recently, and is now acting Red Cross nurse in the State College district. Mr. Taylor is employed in the Federal arsenal, Philadelphia.

Miss Ida Schaeffer and daughters, Mrs. Minnie Mender and Mrs. Catharine Shafer, all of Altoona, also Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Liestor and daughter, Mrs. Orpha Hall, of McClure, were at the home of Mrs. Clara Liestor who is ill during the recent past. Mrs. Schaeffer is a sister and Mr. Liestor, a son of Mrs. Liestor. Mrs. Liestor, by the way, reported very ill last week, has improved to a very considerable extent, which her many friends will be pleased to note.

Hon. Wilson P. Sarig, speaker of the lower house of the State Legislature, has been in the Reading hospital for two weeks, and is showing no signs of improvement.

The Supreme Court, on Monday, refused a review of the Hauptmann case.

[The following articles are taken from the current issue of "The Tiger," Centre Hall High School Magazine.]

Dear Editor,
Mrs. Jamison asked me to write to "The Tiger" and tell its readers about the Kingston high school. As I have been writing for your paper for the past two years, I am glad to add my bit one more.

It is needless for me to tell you that the Kingston high school, with an enrollment ranging from sixteen to eighteen hundred, is very much larger than that of Centre Hall. There are three stories in the building with one hundred rooms on each floor.

I cannot describe the sinking sensation I felt as I approached the school for the first time. It was like approaching a gigantic rock, knowing I had to scale it, but not having the least idea how.

The building which is situated on half a city block, is made of brown brick, with many windows dotting its surface. It is surrounded by a beautiful green, even lawn with a large walk, divided in the center by a small square of shrubbery, leading up to the front and finding its end at the bottom of the wide front steps. This walk gives one an ample view of the front of the building and also plenty of time for one's knees to play "school days" especially if one is entering for the first time.

Within, on all the floors are four long halls. The floor of the main hall and lobby is made of marble, and all the office floors are made of hardwood.

The auditorium is set down, as it were, between the halls and classrooms. It is connected on the front and back, but on each side there is a space about thirty feet between it and the halls so as to let in light from the windows. As we sit in the auditorium we can look out the windows and see the pupils moving about in the next halls. There are two gymnasiums, one for the girls and one for the boys. All the school dances are held in either one of these.

Four courses are offered in the school. They are: general, academic, economic and commercial.

The school is well represented in athletics, clubs, and social activities. The sport of this season is football. Unlike last year, I am attending a school with an undefeated football team. Most of the games are played on the home field, because our athletic field is equipped with flood lights while those of the majority of schools are not. Other major athletics are girls' and boys' basket ball, track, and baseball.

Of the clubs for girls probably the most active and important one is the Girl Reserves, corresponding with the Tri-H-Y of Centre Hall. It has a membership of two hundred. For the boys the most important ones are the Pi Delta and the HG. Other clubs are the Triple A, a dramatic club; the Treble Clef, a girls' chorus; the Honorary Society, and the Library Club. There are also clubs for every language taught in the school, such as Latin, French and Spanish. There is also the Kingstonian Staff, the Kingstonian being the name of the school paper, which is issued monthly at ten cents a copy. All the printing is done by typing students of the school.

I have tried to relate the most important facts about the Kingston high school. However, there are many more things of interest I could tell you, and I am a bit doubtful whether I have done justice to the school.

Sincerely yours,
DOLLY E. HESS.

DRAMATICS ENTHUSIASTS MEET; PLAN ONE-ACT PLAY CONTEST

People interested in dramatics from all parts of Pennsylvania gathered at State College on Saturday, November 16th. Mrs. Jamison represented Centre Hall high school. Prof. Cloetingh, head of the Department of Dramatics at the College, arranged the program that consisted of a morning, afternoon, and evening session. There were approximately sixty people present.

The morning session was a lecture and demonstration by Mr. Cloetingh on make-up, and the afternoon program centered on lighting effects. In the evening the Penn State Players presented a play, "The Late Christopher Pean" in the Little Theatre in Old Main.

At this meeting plans were made for a one-act play contest in which Centre Hall may participate. It will be held next spring.

Mrs. Samuel Homan and daughter, Mary Ellen, of Penna. Furnace, were guests of Misses Mary Reish and Nora Miller last week.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goheen, of Indiana, on Sunday and has been named Virginia Louise. The Goheens were formerly residents in this vicinity.

Misses Anna Mary and Virginia Hess and Mrs. Mabel Simpson visited friends in Altoona from Friday until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kimberling, of Selmsgrove, were visitors at the Henry Reitz home on Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Young spent several days in Lock Haven visiting her brother who is ill.

Mrs. Charles Kuhn is spending some time with friends in Altoona and Williamsport.

The Young Ladies' class of the Lutheran S. S. held their regular meeting at the home of Misses Maud and Grace Musser, at the Branch, Tuesday evening.

The Red Cross membership drive is about completed in this district. The solicitors were Mrs. Irwin Graham, Mrs. Leroy Freeby, Virginia Hess and Cathryn Dale, with Mrs. Wm. R. Ham, director.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Walker and family, of Charleston, N. C., spent some time among friends in town on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Kryder of Centre Hall were in town Tuesday.
