

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Wilbur H. McClellan, in the insurance business in Lock Haven, was in Centre Hall, his home town, on Tuesday.

A family dinner was given in honor of Daniel A. Grove, at his home in Bellefonte, on Sunday, the occasion being Mr. Grove's eightieth birthday. E. C. Wagner, of Danville, R. D., was at the home of his son, Rev. L. A. Wagner, and family, at the Lutheran parsonage here from Wednesday until Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. W. E. Lee takes this means of returning thanks to neighbors and friends who extended aid and sympathy during the last illness of her husband, and at the time of his death.

Mrs. Walter Yocum, of Lewistown, is under the care of Dr. Rothrock, osteopath, since sustaining injuries to her back in a fall. Mrs. Yocum is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Klinefelter, of Centre Hall.

The first issue of "The Tattler," a seventh and eighth grade school publication, made its appearance a few days ago. The publication lacks the one important feature of a newspaper, namely, advertising.

The rotary snow plow "came over the mountain" late Monday night and cleaned up some of the roads of snow that had become so thoroughly filled up that the ordinary plow was unable to push it aside.

Carl A. Auman, Esq., of Steubenville, Ohio, is here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Auman. His mother, ill from a heart condition for several months, has not improved since his last visit.

Ralph Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Cummings of Rebersburg, spent a short time at the parental home at Rebersburg. The young man is employed by the F. W. Woolworth Co. in Philadelphia.

The Reformed church and Sunday school at Boalsburg are preparing a Washington's Birthday Party to be held Friday evening, February 21, at 8:00 o'clock. The proceeds will be used to pay for the winter's coal used in the church building.

Daniel Bloom, aged 19, who was stricken with a severe attack of pneumonia three weeks ago, while yet confined to bed, is making recovery. It is thought he will be able to leave his bed for short periods within a few days. The young man lives with his mother, Mrs. Ada Bloom, west of town.

Laura, aged three years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Smith, of near Centre Hill, had the second finger on the left hand crushed from the tip to back of the first joint. The family was entering a car and when the door was closed the child's finger was caught in one of the door hinges. The injury was dressed by a surgeon.

Miss Lorraine Brungart, employed for some time at State College, has made application at the State Hospital, Danville, to become a student in the school for nurses in that institution. She is a graduate of Centre Hall high school and is well fitted from both an educational and a physical standpoint for the profession she has selected.

Mrs. Fred Slack and son, Fred, Jr., arrived at their home, near town, on Sunday, from a motor trip to Florida, on which they were accompanied by Mrs. Slack's sisters from Middleburg and Newberry. Strange as it may seem, the most snow was seen on the way north, in Virginia and at Washington, D. C., eclipsing that in dear old Pennsylvania, which is plenty.

Miss Luella Ripka was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ripka, at Centre Hill. She is employed in the Revenue Department in the State capitol. Speaking of road conditions throughout the valley, Miss Ripka ventured to say that they were much better than those in the city and nearby, where travel on some of the main thoroughfares was almost impossible.

Mrs. Fred Brown and daughters, Misses Hazel and Mary, of Colyer, ventured out on Friday and motored to Centre Hall. While in town they called at the Reporter office, where Mrs. Brown displayed an article of column length referring to the death of Willie Wolf son of former county commissioner John Wolf, of Miles township, deceased, since June of 1878. The article was originally published in the Reporter.

The Centre County Past Grands Association of the I. O. O. F. was recently entertained by the lodge at Unionville. After opening remarks by President G. B. Jackson, a most interesting talk on Patriotism was given by John H. Fizzell of State College. It was decided to hold the annual banquet at Unionville. The date will be announced later. The next meeting will be held at State College, on March 2nd. All members are urged to be present.

Prof. and Mrs. J. F. Wetzel and children, Robert and Clara Lou, motored to Beaver town, and on Sunday were with the former's mother, Mrs. Louisa Wetzel, who on that day celebrated her ninetieth birthday. Mrs. Wetzel was found to be in fine physical condition and was able to fully enjoy the event. The Wetzel family was the only one of the four able to reach the scene. Elmer is a resident of Hershey; Lester is located in Chicago, and Mrs. Evan Bingham, a niece, who was reared in the Wetzel home, and was regarded by Prof. Wetzel more like a twin sister than a cousin, lives in Montoursville.
