

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Paul Ripka is a salesman of Ford cars, working for the Vogt Motor company.

The Ladies' Aid of the Sprucetown M. E. church will serve a ham and egg supper on Saturday, April 11.

Hugh Morrow, Jr., news service man located at Lewisburg, visited his parents in Centre Hall on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Coldron, of the Koffee Shoppe, motored to Tyrone on Sunday to view the destruction of flood waters.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Verrick and family spent the week-end visiting Mrs. Verrick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Summers, in Lewistown.

Charles, Jordan, Colyer, one of the NYA group working in Centre Hall, on Monday was cut over the left eye when a root he was endeavoring to pull up suddenly let loose and struck him.

Thomas C. Henney and daughter, Mrs. Anna Erb and young daughter, of Latrobe, arrived here Saturday noon and returned Sunday. They were guests of Mrs. Lucy Henney, sister-in-law of the former.

The contract to build 1.19 miles of road of bituminous surface on native stone base 14 feet wide, in Marion township, was awarded to J.L. Wilson, State College, for $15,888.80, who was the lowest of three firms to bid on the work.

Four of the children of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Ralston were taken to Lewistown for treatment for infected ears. Gilbert, the eldest, who has been troubled with a leaking tear duct in his right eye for a number of years, also received treatment from Dr. Allis.

Lewistown public schools, closed since the beginning of the flood period, March 18th, were scheduled to open today (Thursday) April 2nd.

A community sale will be held at the E. E. Zettle home, near the railroad station, Saturday, April 11, at 1:00 p. m. See ad. in this issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin M. Burris and Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Stover, of Yeagerstown, drove to Centre Hall on Saturday to visit the former's brother Lanson Burris. The Reporter regrets to note the slow progress of recovery in the condition of Irvin M. Burris who suffered a severe illness last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rockey and two daughters, of Altoona, were at the Rockey homestead at Tusseyville, on Saturday. Mr. Rockey came at this time to arrange for the sale (private) of several tracts of real estate to close up the Rockey estate. Advertisements covering these tracts appear in the classified column of the Reporter this week.

The sum total of the receipts from the Fisher-Beightol farm stock and implement sale, on Saturday, near Penn Hall, was $4390. Considerable property was divided between the two partners before the sale, which, if included, would have boosted the gross to at least $5,000. The sale was first billed for March 19th, but was postponed due to high water.

In this issue the Reporter is pleased to present an interesting and highly enlightening article on the subject of Balanced Vitamins, written by Dr. S. E. Peterson, of Chicago. For the past twenty years the doctor has been a business associate of W. W. Kerlin of this place and much time has been devoted in research work in the matter of vitamins, their relative values, etc.

During the time the Potts Short-hand and Business College, Williamsport, was closed to permit renovation after the flood, Miss Miriam Mitterling was working in the Centre Hall First National Bank to gain practical experience. She is taking the secretarial course, and on Monday in company with Miss Thelma Clark returned to the institution to continue her studies.

F. E. Arney is improving nicely at the Centre County hospital where he has been a patient since March 21st. In addition to a heart condition it was discovered that he had a liquid accumulation on the lungs. One lung was tapped Friday and later the other, resulting in the patient's pronounced improvement. William Arney, his son, expects to remove him to his home in Millifling as soon as conditions will permit.

Mrs. Charley Miller, of Earlstown, entertained a group of her friends last Thursday at an all-day quilting. The group included Mrs. J. C. Brooks, Mrs. C. B. Neff, Mrs. Adam Smith, Mrs. George Hackett, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Brown Hackett, Mrs. Foster Frazier, Mrs. Earl Frazier and young son, Mrs. Bloomer Weaver, Mrs. Bob Finkle, Mrs. Messinger, Mrs. Samuel Ross, Mrs. Reifsnnyder, Mrs. James Reish, Mrs. Roy Seanson.

In the opinion of Deputy Fish Commissioner C. R. Buller, the fish hatchery at Pleasant Gap and Fishermen's Paradise in Spring Creek were but slightly damaged and could be easily repaired or replaced. The flooding over the pools permitted trout temporary freedom, and many of them when the water fell to its natural level, found themselves in the wrong "home." While the separation will require considerable work it can and will be done. The large brown trout thought not able to withstand the force of the current worked themselves up stream and were found in safe shape among the fingerlings, on which, they no doubt fed.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The Clover Club is due to meet on Thursday night of next week at the home of Mrs. F. V. Goodhart.

Mrs. Robert Snyder, of Altoona, visited her mother, Mrs. Mary Stahl, over the week-end.

Lewis Foust, Clarence Meyer and George Deering were three young men who joined the National Youth Administration force in Centre Hall.

Merle E. Meyer, one of fifteen to begin work on the excavation for the addition to the high school plant, was successful in his effort to lift the first soil.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hagan and daughter, Miriam, and Mr. and Mrs. William Luse, were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Zerby, parents of the ladies.

Kenneth Snyder, son of F. E. Snyder of this place, a CCC camp youth, in assisting in the clean up of Johnstown, uncovered the bodies of two women buried in the deep mud.

William H. Fry, Jr., son of the late Capt. William H. Fry, according to a message received by relatives, was killed on Monday at Tacoma, Wash., where he was engaged by a lumber firm.

Mrs. Fred Harvey and daughter, Patricia, of Phillipsburg, are at the home of Mrs. Harvey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Luse, Mr. Harvey, who was here on Sunday, returned home the same day.

Thugs knocked out Clair McCorkle, manager of the Phillipsburg A & P store, as he was about to drop Saturday's receipts into the First National bank "night box." The firm did not make known the amount of cash in the wallet.

A petition to have the county pay the cost of his trial witnesses entered by Joseph Rine, recently acquitted of the charge of murdering Hugh "Dewey" Multhead, was refused by Judge Fleming. The costs involved amount to $269.46.

John Rimmey, tenant on the D. K. Keller farm, east of town, will also till the Mrs. Annie Homan farm, recently purchased by Mr. Keller. The two farms join. Melvin Burris, recently married, will occupy the Homan farm house and will be employed by Mr. Rimmey.

One of the heroes of the flood of two weeks ago, in the Lock Haven area, was "Bill" Seckinger, husband of Beatrice Kreamer, formerly of Centre Hall, now of State College. Seckinger operated a motor boat to remove several hundred marooned persons from their homes in second stories.

Miss Charlotte Keller, in company with Miss Manifold and a high school girl, all of Buck Hill Falls, Monroe county, on her way here became stranded at Danville, Saturday evening, due to the car she was driving falling to furlion, properly. E. W. Miller, of the Miller Motor company, relieved the situation by motoring to Danville and bringing the trio to Miss Keller's home. The high school girl went on to State College to visit with a sister, while the others were taken to the Monroe county town on Sunday by W. F. Keller. Miss Manifold, the Reporter is informed, is the fiancée of Dr. John Foster, a son of Dr. J. V. Foster, State College.

JOHNSTOWN STEEL MILLS READY TO RESUME OPERATION

The recovery rate in the flood city hit a new high with the Johnstown steel mills announcing reopening was only the matter of days.

One blast furnace in the Cambria plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation already was operating. General Manager R. L. Custer said normal production will be reached in ten days.

With an estimate of $28,000,000 needed for restoration of ruined homes, buildings and merchandise, business men took stock of promises for aid in getting them on their feet. A national appeal has been made for loans or contributions.

Mr. Custer named above is the gentleman who, acting for his company, so delightfully entertained the Centre Hall Business Men's Association on their visit to Johnstown, last fall.

"RELEASED" TITLE OF PLAYLET BY YOUNG PEOPLE REF. CH.

On the evening of Palm Sunday, April 5th, the Young People of the local Reformed church will present a play entitled, "Released." The play was written by Dorothy Clarke Wilson, who has a list of outstanding plays written for the Lenten season.

The cast of characters are as follows:

Bar Abbas, leader of the robber band—Robert Bradford; Depmas and Sothmus, robbers, condemned to die—Russell Reish and Ralph Arney; Mara, mother of Bar Abbas—Margaret Delaney; Tamat, his sister—Geraldine Bradford; Dumlal, member of Bar Abbas' band—Ralph Packer; a centurion—Woodrow Bradford; a soldier—Bob Wetzel.

Synopsis: The play takes place in a dark dungeon. It tells the story of the moments leading up to the crucifixion of our Lord.

Bar Abbas as well as Sothmus and Depmas are condemned to die, but Bar Abbas is saved by the intervention of fate. Christ was forced to take Bar Abbas' cross.

Mara, Bar Abbas' mother, and Tamah, tells him there is a release through Christ, but Bar Abbas would not believe it until too late.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL CLOSES SUCCESSFUL TERM

The first term of the Centre Hall Community Leadership Training School sponsored by the church schools of Centre Hall and community ended last Tuesday evening in a most successful fashion.

The last session varied from others only at its closing at which time light refreshments were served. These were furnished by members of the several classes and proved to be choice in quality and abundant in quantity.

The courses selected by the board of administration were well adapted to meet some of the special needs of our church schools today.

The courses, were taken from "The Second Series Courses of the New Standard Leadership Curriculum" prescribed by the International Council of Religious Education and will extend credit to all who satisfactorily completed a course.

From the enthusiastic response given by those attending the school this year the training school will undoubtedly become a permanent part of the religious education of this community.

The faculty for this year's school was composed of Prof. J. F. Wetzel, Rev. L. A. Wagner, Rev. W. K. Hosterman, and Rev. Seth Russell. Rev. D. R. Keener served as dean of the school.

CASH NEEDED BY RED CROSS; MAKE SOCIAL GOSPEL REALITY

Centre Hall citizens have contributed liberally to flood refugees by giving clothes, foodstuffs and milk. These contributions helped greatly to alleviate their burdens in the immediate crisis. The very important and huge task of rehabilitation now faces the Red Cross for which money will be needed. Let us help the Red Cross in this noble work by giving our contributions to the treasurer, Miss Grace Smith, Centre Hall.

Here is a chance for the churches to make the social gospel a reality. Some of the local churches have responded liberally. It is hoped all may find it possible to share in this work.

Contributions should be in by Wednesday, April 8th.

Up to this time contributions received from local churches and Sunday schools are as follows:

Lutheran	$77.95
Reformed	4.00
Evangelical S. S.	10.00
Presbyterian	52.52
Individual	3.00
Sprucetown M. E. S.S.	11.00

Contributed to Flood Sufferers in Lewistown.

In addition to those named last week as having contributed to sufferers from the flood in the Lewistown area, through the Red Cross, are John A. Heckman, J. Cloyd Brooks, C. W. Slack, Mrs. Lucy Henney, Mrs. Wilbur Henney.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO HOLD MUSIC CONTESTS, APR. 19

Eliminations for the central district of the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League high school contest will be conducted at the College, April 19, for the ninth successive year. Dean Richard W. Grant, of the department of Music, announced. Councils that will send high school competitors in the various musical and forensic contests are Blair, Huntingdon, Clearfield, Cambria, Mifflin, Snyder, Union and Centre.

Judges in the local meet will be members of the department of music. Last year the contest attracted over 9,000 students, while 5,000 attended the state finals. This year the finals will be in Pottsville.

Two new events have been added to the competition this year by the association, the saxophone solo and a girls' vocal ensemble. Other contests are in hand work, orchestration, boys' and girls' vocal groups, instrumental solos, debate, declamation, poetry, and extemporaneous speaking.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

PREVENT DAMPING-OFF—Heavy losses of vegetable seedlings are caused by damping-off. The fungi causing this trouble are present in nearly all soils and live on the seed coats of many seeds. Where soil sterilization is impractical, chemical treatments for seed or soil may be used as a control.

FERTILIZE GARDENS—On fertile garden soil or with a heavy application of manure, the greatest returns from fertilizer probably can be obtained from 16 or 20 per cent superphosphate. On medium or average garden soils, use a 4-16-4 with manure or a 4-12-4 without manure, and on less fertile sand or shale soils use a 5-10-5 analysis.

GOOD SEED IS CHEAPEST—Good storage is important in preserving seed vitality. Seed potatoes from good storage are cheaper in the end even at twice the price of seed from common or poor storage.

MOISTEN DRY HAY—Alfalfa hay which shatters badly and loses its leaves may be moistened by sprinkling in the mow the day before it is to be fed.

CHOOSE GOOD BERRIES—Strawberry varieties which have proved outstanding in Pennsylvania are, in order of ripening: Howard 17 or Premier, Abedeen, Dorset, Fairfax, and Catakill, say Penn State fruit specialists.

GRADE SCHOOL NOTES.

The following pupils in 1st and 2d grades have been neither tardy nor absent this year: Dale Confer, Dorothy Crater, Margorie Emery, Miriam Foust, Ruth Spzyker, and Betty Sweeney.

The term attendance for the girls in Miss White's room is 96%, and for the boys, 72%.

The following pupils in 5th and 6th grades have been neither tardy nor absent this year: Robert Arney, Norman Crater, Deau Wessner, Guy Foust and Ruth Foust.

RETAINING WALL AND WALK TWO PROJECTS APPROVED

District 10 Works Progress Administrator announced today that two Centre county projects were approved during the week March 24-31. Both projects were forwarded to Harrisburg for endorsement by State Director Edward N. Jones, Harrisburg.

The projects are as follows:

Snow Shoe twp.: Build retaining wall at Clarence; 35 men; 2 months; $4134.00.

Rush twp.: Sidewalk construction; 26 men; 1 1/2 months; $2305.50.
