Slightly Mixed

Jimson was relating his experiences in India.

"I was taking my usual morning dip when I spotted three gladiators making for me, so I had to swim for dear life."

"You mean navigators—something like a crocodile," interposed Johnson.

"Well, what are gladiators?"

"Gladiators? Why, they're a sort of flower grown from bulbs."—Stray Stories Magazine.

Getting It Right

A grubby urchin walked into the men's outfitting department of a large store.

Addressing an assistant, he said: "A soft man's collar, please!"

The other assistants tittered and the one addressed said stiffly: "You mean a man's soft collar, my boy?"

Pointing to his own collar, he asked: "Do you mean one like this?"

The boy eyed it momentarily. Then he replied: "No! A clean one."

Like the Schoolmarm, Wild-Duck Appreciates Hospitality

Remember the country "schoolmarm"? Spending one week with one family and the next with another, she fared well on good food and comfortable sleeping quarters. "If wild ducks could have such hospitality for three years, their annual migrations would soon resemble those of 50 years ago," says Col. H. P. Sheldon of the United States bureau of biological survey. "Like the 'schoolmarm,' a wild duck appreciates good food and good resting places."

"The 'schoolmarm' wouldn't have lasted long on starvation rations and a plank bed. Our ducks won't last long either if the public continues to let itself be guided by the slogan, 'Let's kill 'em while they're here.'"

No Monuments

The American Indians have never erected a monument of any kind, as far as known, to commemorate an event in their long history.
