Higher Prices for Milk.—A higher milk price for dairymen was today the climax of the negotiations between the Sheffield Producers Cooperative Association and the Sheffield Farms Company looking toward an increase to compensate for the advancing costs due to drought. Fred E. Mather, President of the cooperative, announced that the new Class 1 price for September is 42 cents above the July price and 17c per hundredweight above the minimum fixed by the State Department of Agriculture and Markets on August 16.

After prolonged negotiations, Mr. Van Bommel said, "We have made an independent investigation of the effects of the drought. We have found that the situation is bad and has not been exaggerated and we are convinced that the farmers are facing a very real and difficult situation in continuing an adequate supply of milk for the New York market in the face of falling feed supplies produced on their own farms and the mounting costs of purchased feeds. To make it possible for the dairymen to carry on, we are prepared to pay to our producers for the portion of the supply which we have sold as fluid milk $2.87 per cwt., effective as of September 5th."

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Good Rams Increase Lamb Crop Value.—The use of the right kind of a ram is probably the shortest route to a good flock of sheep. Experimental evidence, as well as the experiments of successful farmers has proved that a good ram will increase the value of a lamb crop 25 per cent.

Garden Days to Come.—October 12, 13 and 14 will be set aside as Garden Days at the Penna. State College. The first day is for professional gardeners and the other two are arranged especially for amateur gardeners, although both programs are open to all who wish to attend.

Ripe Tomatoes Are Preferred.—Ripe, well formed tomatoes free from molds, decay, damage caused by worm holes, and other injuries are preferred by buyers. The percentage of red color and the amount of usable material are important factors in determining the grade of tomatoes.

Entries Soon Due for Drama Contest.—Entries in the County Rural Dramatics Tournament must be made by Tuesday, Sept. 29. The application for entry should be made in writing to a member of the recreation committee or to the County Agricultural Association Office.

Feed Corn to Lambs.—Because of dry weather in many sections of the State, lambs are coming to market not carrying sufficient finish. Even though feed prices are high it will pay to feed corn at the present market price to lambs to finish them properly for market.
