CURIOSER AND CURIOSER
[Editorial from Philada. Record]
Returns in the Literary Digest straw vote grow more cockeyed every day.

Latest figures show Landon leading by something like three to two. But of 653,630 ballots recorded for other than first-time voters, 362,955 are from voters who were Republican in 1932. Only 296,675 are from voters who were Democratic in 1932. But, in 1932, 22,800,000 voters were Democratic as against only 15,700,000 Republican. In other words, only 43 percent of the Digest ballots are being mailed to the 59 percent of voters who were Democratic in 1932. We think the distortion arises because most of the Digest ballots are mailed to the higher income classes. Or will the Digest offer some other explanation of how it happens that 57 percent of its straw voters are 1932 Republicans? And will it add a few comments on the ethics of presenting such a straw vote as an accurate one?

JOBS FOR THE MOST NEEDED
On September 25, Works Progress Administrator Edward N. Jones announced that jobs had been offered to all persons in this category in every county in the state except three—Luzerne, Philadelphia and Schuylkill. Now underway is a project for the survey of the entire State WPA payroll to determine the needs of those holding jobs. More than 4,000 men and women have been removed from WPA payroll as a result of the survey, it was announced. In their places, an equal number of persons in need were given employment.

Governor Earle got his reward on Monday evening, at State College, for not cleaning up that dirty Republican spot in Centre county. A Pennington should be sent to the State institution.

Deaths

AUMAN.—Alfred Louis Auman, prominent resident of Coburn and former postmaster there, died at his home on Sunday at the age of 75 years, three months and 20 days. Mr. Auman was postmaster at Coburn for 20 years and before that had served a term as tax collector and 2 years as justice of the peace.

Born in Penn township June 14, 1861, he was educated at Spring Mills Academy and the Central Penn. College at New Berlin. He taught school 11 years and then entered the wholesale lumber business which he followed the remainder of his life. He was married Jan. 29, 1891, to Miss Sara Heckman, who survives his death along with five children and 13 grand children. The children are Allen, Mrs. George Stein and Miss Marion Auman, all of Coburn, Ernest, of Irvington, N. J., and Mrs. Ray Brown, of Axemann. Three brothers, J. P. Auman, and Andrew, of Coburn, Oscar, of Aaronburg, one sister, Mrs. M. P. Downey, of Harrisburg, and a half brother, John Evert, of Spring Mills, also survive.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from his late home with the Rev. Louis Leshner officiating. Burial was made in the Fairview cemetery, Millheim.

RUHL.—Mrs. Cyrus Ruhl, daughter of Joseph and Margaret Kleckner Durst, died Sunday, at her home along State Highway No. 45, near Millheim. She was aged 81 years. She is survived by her husband and four children: Durst, Charles, Ernest and Miss Margaret. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon, with burial in Ray's cemetery.

KNISELY.—John Kniseley, for twelve years postmaster at Bellefonte, died Thursday morning at his home following a stroke, at the age of a bit over 68 years. He was born in Boggs township.

He was married to Miss Anna McElhattan, who survives his death together with one daughter, Mrs. Joseph G. Butterworth, of Pittsburgh; one brother, Andrew, of Harrisburg; and two sisters, Mrs. Jacob Warner, Reading, and Mrs. Eliza Meyers, Pleasant Gap.

Mr. Kniseley began work as a glass blower at the Bellefonte works and later became a part owner of the plant. Funeral services were held from his late home on Saturday, Rev. C. W. Winey, a former pastor of the Bellefonte United Brethren church, officiating.

TWO PRISONERS RECAPTURED

SENTENCED BY COUNTY JUDGE
George Bruner and William Isett, two prisoners who escaped from Rockview Penitentiary on Wednesday of last week, were recaptured in their home section in the Pittsburgh region, and on Saturday were sentenced by Judge Fleming. Bruner was given 6 to 12 years and Isett 5 to 10 years. There is but one prisoner who escaped from the pen free at this time. He escaped soon after the prison opened, and no clue up to this time has been discovered. The truck stolen by Bruner and Isett has also been recovered.

Pleading guilty to charges of involuntary manslaughter, Edward Way, of Morrisdale, was sentenced to serve one to two years in the county jail as well as pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $1. Way, who has been confined in the county jail since June was the operator of the car in which Richard Morgan and Albert Price, two Morrisdale men, were killed May 30, near Philipsburg. Elmer Snare, pleading guilty to larceny of chickens, was given one to two years in the Allegheny Workhouse, costs and a fine of $1.00. Harry Baird, who pleaded guilty at the February court as having been with Snare in the hen-house raid, was given a similar sentence.

Charged with selling liquor without a proper license, Charles Eason and Mildred Loughran, of Julian, R. D., were sentenced to a fine of $300, and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for six months. Paul Lawrence and Anthony Ruene, members of Ganderstep transient camp, arrested for purchasing intoxicants at the Eason home, were ordered to pay costs and placed under probation for six months.

It is just as important for Governor Earle to have a favorable house and senate as it is for the President to have the backing of Congress. Both would be practically helpless without the support of the state and national legislature, consequently it is important that John W. Decker be re-elected to the lower state house and Don Gingery be returned as a representative in Congress.

John W. Decker, during his first term in the Pennsylvania State legislature, was successful in getting more bills introduced and passed than many other associates who had had seats in the lower house for several years. Mr. Decker is aggressive in politics like he is aggressive in every day affairs.

The youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry McClenahan is suffering from ear trouble. A Lewistown specialist has been in hand. At present it is suspected the trouble is due to infection of the ear channels.

Growers to Exhibit.—Student Horticulture Show at the Pennsylvania State College, October 9 and 10, will have competitive exhibits for commercial growers as a new feature this year.

LOCAL REBEKAH LODGE

HOLDS INSTALLATION
The semi-annual installation of officers in Lady of the Valley Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., Centre Hall, was held Tuesday evening, under the direction of Mrs. Sarah Erb, D. D. Pres., of State College, and her official staff, composed of Boolsburg and State College members.

The officers installed were the following:
Noble grand, Mrs. Cecile Vogt; vice grand, Ruth Reiber; warden, Doris Moltz; conductor, Marion T. Reaster; chaplain, Mrs. Lillian Moore; R. S. to N. G., Mrs. Jane Knarr; L. S. to N. G., Elizabeth Bartholomew; R. S. to V. G., Mrs. Sarah Bailey; L. S. to V. G., Mrs. Elizabeth Fiedler; inside guard, Mrs. Mirlam Mac Moran; outside guard, Mrs. Sarah Burkholder; secretary, Mrs. Madaline Dutrow; treasurer, Mrs. Martha Mark; organist, Mrs. Della Reiber.

VITAMIN D TESTS ON 6000 HENS

POINTS WAY TO INCREASED YIELD
Poultrymen stand to win bigger profits and provide housewives with better eggs as the result of experiments carried on at a novel four-year feeding "school" from which 6,000 chickens have just been "graduated" by staff members of the departments of agriculture and biological chemistry and poultry husbandry at the Pennsylvania State College.

The tests were for the purpose of discovering the effect on egg production of feeding Vitamin D from cod liver oil to laying hens in quantities twice as great as that required for growing chicks. Results which showed an increase of 20 per cent in egg production, 10 per cent in hatchability of fertile eggs, and marked improvement in other factors, confirmed the discovery of a new principle of scientific feeding. Investigators believe, will mean more profitable business for poultry men. According to their computations, for an additional investment of two and a half cents per bird per year for Vitamin D supplements, the farmer can expect an extra revenue of 58 cents per bird when eggs are selling at 30 cents per dozen.

Prof. R. R. Murphy, of the department of poultry husbandry, Dr. J. E. Hunter of the department of agricultural and biological chemistry, and Prof. H. C. Knadel, of the department of poultry husbandry, conducted the four-year tests under a fellowship established by the National Oil Products, Harrison, N. J. The investigation is considered the most comprehensive of its kind ever undertaken and involved a study of the entire life of the chicken from birth to full maturity.

The detailed findings of the investigation are to be published in a bulletin to be issued by the agricultural experiment station at the college.

Fog lines, a yellow strip painted in the center of the road, will be extended this year to cover 550 miles of road.
