

Spring Mills

A Collection of Newsy Happenings and Personals from Gregg Township's Metropolis.

Death of a Child—Laura Rosella, 9 months old, daughter of Albert and Freda (Confer) Auman, died at the home of her parents, Spring Mills, R. D. The infant, the only child, was born in Penn township, March 8, 1935. Burial was made in Millheim.

Mrs. H. A. Long, of Madisonburg, is confined to her home with a fracture of the left leg above the ankle, suffered when she slipped while assisting in butchering at the David Hosterman home.

Several crates of rabbits were released in this vicinity by a game protector. The rabbits were shipped here from mid-western states. This is an invitation to local sportsmen to protect the game to whatever extent they are able.

Teaching Agriculture at Lionier—Vernon Godshall, since Monday, has been teaching agriculture in the Lionier Vocational High school, in Lionier, Westmoreland county. He is substituting for Clarence Pershing, who was elected a member of the State Legislature. While Mr. Godshall will receive a salary, he will at the same time obtain credit in practice teaching in the post graduate work at Penn State.

Wedding at Hagerstown—In that proverbial church around the corner in Hagerstown, Md., a ceremony was performed that united in marriage John A. Wagner, of Oak Hall Station, and Miss Carrie Viola Walker, Spring Mills, on December 23. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wagner, Oak Hall Sta., and is employed on the State highway. The bride is a seamstress and with a sister conducts business in Spring Mills. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merl J. Walker, Farmers Mills. The couple have not announced plans as to housekeeping.

Miss Miriam Tschudy and Wayne Bitting, after spending the holiday season at their respective homes have resumed teaching in Gregg Vocational.

Prof. C. M. Watts is driving a new Dodge sedan purchased from the R. S. Hagan agency.

Miss Delcie Morris, after having been here throughout the Christmas season, returned to Doylestown where she is teaching in a public school.

A family dinner was served at the Randall Meyer home, on Sunday, the guests at which included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Swabb, Mr. and Mrs. Cal Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mark and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Swabb, son and daughter.

Randall Steigler, who with his wife lives with Wesley Goble, has recovered from a sickness sufficiently to resume hauling milk to the Sheffield plant for Albert Lingle.

Fire in Ruhl Home—The home occupied by Mrs. Susan Ruhl and her son William Ruhl, at the western approach to Spring Mills, sustained considerable damage on the interior due to a fire that originated at a flue in the center of the building. The fire crept along between the ceiling of the first floor and the second, and also worked its way to a side wall. The loss was considerable and is occasioning much annoyance to Mrs. Ruhl who is one of the most aged residents in this section. The damage was adjusted by Milo Campbell, of State College. The structure will be put into condition by John Graden, a carpenter, living nearby. The Ruhl home was erected by the late David Ruhl, and has since been occupied by the Ruhl family.

Mr. and Mrs. Myrtle Burrows spent Christmas week at the C. B. Stover and George N. Wolfe homes. Walter S. Wolfe, of Philadelphia, also visited with his father, Mr. Wolfe, and other relatives and friends about here.

The Gregg twp. board of auditors met in the directors' room of the First National Bank, on Monday, to audit the accounts of the board of supervisors. The auditors are Guy Corman, John W. Venada, and David Hosterman. The supervisors are Andrew C. Sheesley, W. E. Smith and Wilbur Lucas, with Charles Bartsch secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Corman entertained Mr. and Mrs. Windom Gramley, of Millheim, on Wednesday.

Miss Margaret Grenoble, student in Music in Susquehanna Univ., Selinsgrove, and Glenn Long, an F. & M. student, in Lancaster, returned to their respective colleges on Monday.

A Christmas dinner at the C. B. Stover home took on the form of a family gathering, the guests having been George N. Wolfe, his son, Walter S. Wolfe, a daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Burrows, and Mrs. H. E. Eisenhuth.

There was a bit of disappointment felt on the part of those who served the dinner for the Gregg Vocational dinner dance when it was discovered the surplus of sandwiches, cake, etc. had fallen flight. It robbed those who so faithfully served a feed later on.

Mr. and Mrs. Speaker Hartman and daughter Virginia, spent Christmas eve at the home of the former's mother Mrs. Mellie M. Herman, Lewisburg.

Hon. John W. Decker, on Monday night, went to Harrisburg to attend a regular session of the State Legislature, of which body he is a member.

A young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Smith, Nancy Bailey, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Balfey, Patricia Ann Grove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Grove, were children in this section who received medical attention during the past week as did also Mrs. Frank Kerstetter.

Mr. and Mrs. Grenoble and two sons, of Smulton, visited on Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Bruce Bailey, and family.

A new inspector on the road construction east of here came on the job during the recent past. He is said to be very alert. A delightful New Year's dinner was served by Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Sweetwood at their home in Georges Valley. Guests present were the C. B. Stover family, Miss Pearl Lingle, the latter of Millheim. Mr. and Mrs. David Westbrook and daughter Patricia, spent Christmas at the home of M. T. Duck, Mrs. Westbrook was the former Miss Josephine Duck.

Jacob McCool, tenant on the Henry Krape farm east of Spring Mills, will discontinue farming in the spring and will locate here.

Apparently there is particular attraction for a particular Millheim resident in the south section of town.

Gregg Vocational Alumni Dance—The patronage extended the Gregg Voc. school alumni dance and banquet footed to 114. The affair was held on New Year's eve in the new auditorium which is admirably fitted for such an affair. Bob Lyons' All-Star orchestra of five pieces was the organization to furnish the music, and members of the Union Sunday-school at Farmers Mills provided the banquet food, serving on small tables scattered over the main floor. Dancing continued until the break of the New Year, when from nowhere appeared noise-making devices, head-gear streamers and the like—the signal for a period of infernal noises, if not pandemonium.

At a business session the former officers were re-elected, as follows: President, R. S. Hagan; vice pres. Joseph Swabb; recoring sec'y. Harry Condo; corresponding sec'y. Mrs. Alita Meyer; treasurer, Mrs. Ray Mark. Gregg Vocational was organized in the fall of 1917, with Wm. Godshall as principal and W. W. Reltz as supervisor of agriculture. The present president of the alumni association was a member of the first freshman class and graduated in 1921.

W. H. Homan, Centre Hall, on Sunday, called to see E. T. Jamison, Mr. Jamison, by the way, was considerably improved during the beginning of this week, but, of course, is yet confined to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Condo, C. F. Ziegler and his housekeeper, Mrs. Lu Lu Brungart, on Sunday, motored to Robersburg and Wolfs Store where they visited with friends, Mr. Ziegler who has had much experience as a music teacher, opened a music studio at his home. Further details in an advertisement in this issue of Reporter.

Sunday a week Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haney, of Rising Sun, Md., and Harry Haney, of Millheim, visited with Mrs. Mabel Smith, Mrs. Paul Grove who was away from here since Thanksgiving day has returned and is with her sister, Mrs. Smith.

Guy Jamison and Charles Stover, of Millheim, motored to Conneautville, to assist the former's brother, Miller Jamison, to butcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Braucht, of Coalport; John Gramley, of Clymer, and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Fink, of Phillipsburg, were among those from a distance to attend the alumni banquet. The former couple remained over for a day with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meyer.

Opening League Basketball Games—The first league basketball games for the present season will open on the Vocational school floor on Friday evening, 7:30 o'clock, with the Snow Shoe high school teams. Both boys and girls will play.
