

FEBRUARY SCHOOL PAYMENTS REPRESENT ONLY 64% AMOUNT DUE DISTRICTS

The report furnished by the Department of Public Instruction indicates that each school district in Centre county will receive 64 per cent of the amount due February 1st. The remaining 36 per cent will be paid as soon as the Legislature passes a deficiency bill appropriating the funds.

The 64% of the total of the semi-annual payment at this time for Centre county is $75,811.19.

The county papers, last week, published the appropriations each school district received without stating that the sum represented only 64% of the amount due them.

Following is a list of districts and the sum paid to them under the "short" appropriation:

COUNTY SCHOOL DIRECTORS IN ANNUAL MEETING TODAY

The 50th annual meeting of the Centre County School Directors' Association will be held today (Thursday) in the court house in Bellefonte.

The first session convenes at 9:45 a. m. Addresses for the morning session include one by Supt. Lloyd H. Hinkle, of Bedford county, on "Every Child a Chance," and one by Dr. Donald P. Davis, Chief, Child Accounting and Research, Dept. of Public Instruction, Harrisburg.

At the 1:30 p. m. session, Supt. Hinkle will again speak on "Our Job," while the subject "Proposed School Legislation" will be discussed by Dr. Clarence E. Ackley, Director of Bureau of Administration and Finance, of the Dept. of Public Instruction.

Rev. H. L. Wink, of Harris township, will bring the report as delegate to the State convention.

BROKEN MEN MUST BE PAID FOR LIKE BROKEN MACHINES

[Editorial, Philada. Record] No industrialist fails to set aside a part of his profits against wear and tear and accidents that decrease the efficiency or necessitate the replacement of his machinery.

But what happens when some industrialists are asked to set aside a sum to pay decent compensation for the accidents that happen to their workers?

The reason for the distinction is rather brutal: Machines cost more than men.

An injured workman can be replaced by another workman at the same wages. The industrialist loses nothing. But society loses the services of a worker—perhaps permanently—through an injury sustained while in the employ of a certain employer.

Some one must take care of that injured worker. Thirteen percent of such cases in Pennsylvania today go on the public relief rolls. Thirty-eight percent run up debts, and thus force their creditors to carry them, and often such debts are never paid. Eighteen percent live upon the charity of relatives.

Such cases should not be a charge upon the public at large any more than a broken machine in a factory should be replaced out of tax funds or private charity.

The cost of industrial accidents to humans belongs in the same place as industrial accidents to machines—on the shoulders of the employers in whose services those accidents occur.

Now that the big strike is settled, local business will be improved, as well as in the big centers. For instance, the Miller Motor company will be able to get cars for the many who have been clamoring for them; we will likely be getting our share of advertising from the corporations' agency which certainly has been most conspicuous by its absence; and the local retailers who have felt the force of the strike through the absence of legal papers which would otherwise have come to their offices, will again be taking in a little money.

CENTRE HALL BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION VISIT TITAN

The Centre Hall Business Men's Association opened its 1937 season of visits to industrial institutions on Thursday when it spent about three hours with the Titan Smpson, metallurgist of the Titan Metal Plant, during which the members of the organization were directed through all its departments. Aside from the machinery, the visitors got their greatest surprise when they measured the buildings housing the machinery. The beautiful surroundings, especially attractive during the summer months, stand out prominently, but in passing by no one unacquainted suspects the duplication of buildings. The concern has been in operation for twenty years, and is gradually expanding.

The plant was most likely named as it was, Titan, because the name carries with it the idea of great strength. The Titans of Greek mythology were regarded as an incarnation of natural forces. Agam, Japheth, one of the twelve children of Aram and Ge, and his descendants were noted for their giant strength. So, Titan may be associated with the giant strength of these peoples.

In passing through the plant one is confronted everywhere with massive machinery performing in many instances human like, if not taking the place of the wizard. The screw machines produce the smaller products. These machines simply need a diet of long brass rods, and from them drop the shiny brass products at the rate of fractional minutes.

A product peculiar to the Titan plant is the extruded brass rods, and this forms the major portion of the plant's output for the market, as but about ten per cent of the rods are used in the manufacture of the hundreds of various almost, if not completely, finished products.

Extruded rods are produced nowhere else in this great manufacturing state except at the Titan plant. The extrusion process is one in which billets of brass 26 inches long and 6 inches in diameter, after being heated, are forced through dies with various size openings. The "squeeze" back of them is hydraulic pressure of two million pounds.

The first Polk brass pressure casting machines to be used in the United States found their way to the Titan plant. The pressure used to operate them is 6000 pounds per square inch. The brass is brought to a semi-plastic state and held in electrically controlled holding pots. From the pots is dipped by the use of small ladders a portion of the molten mass and placed in a receptacle where dies and pressure do the remainder.

In the forging department brass products weigh from half an ounce to twenty pounds. Here crank presses ranging in power from 150 tons to 1000 tons capacity are used.

These very incomplete descriptions, for power, electricity is used exclusively. For heating furnaces, pots, etc., electricity, gas and oil are utilized.

apply to only a few of the operations one gazes at on passing through a plant whose name, Titan, indicates everywhere strength.

Passing through the shipping room the association members were taken to a small building where a moving picture machine had been installed. On the screen were shown scenes from the plant grounds and as well the machines, presses, etc., while in operation in the various buildings.

The company employs between 500 and 600 men, approximately ten per cent of which number are said to be credited to the south side of Centre county. A large per cent of these come from Centre Hall, Potter and Gregg townships. They will be found at work in all departments—from the drafting room to the out-door laborer.

MUCK, WHEN TO BAKE IT.

"When there is muck to be raked, it must be raked, and the public must know of it, that it may mete out justice. . . . Publicity is a great purifier, because it sets in motion the forces of public opinion, and in this country public opinion controls the courses of the nation."

—Charles Evans Hughes in speech before the Manufacturers' Ass'n in May 1936, while Governor of New York.

"It is a mistake to suppose that the Supreme Court is either honored or helped by being spoken of as beyond criticism. . . . The time is past in the history of the world when any living man or body of men can be set on a pedestal and decorated with a halo."

—Associate Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court of the United States, in 1898.

With the guarantee of $20,000 per annum for life, on resigning, the Supreme Court Justices will breathe a bit easier. The layman will have a struggle to believe other than that the twenty grand will go a long way toward inducing several of the judges to decide that after all the Court will function more to the liking of the public with younger blood warming the bench.

CENTRE HALL BUSINESS MEN'S ASS'N BANQUET

More than fifty members of the Centre Hall Business Men's Association and guests assembled in the local high school building on Thursday evening for the first banquet in the current year. The dinner was served by the high school athletic association and was done to the entire satisfaction of the committee of the association and banquets.

Tables were set to accommodate twelve and were located on the stage. The table decorations were in keeping with the Halloween season. The menu: Tomato cocktail, fruit salad, boned chicken, potatoes, corn, peas, dressing, celery, pickles, bread, butter, ice cream, cake, coffee, cigars.

The committee had arranged for an after-dinner speaker, but he became ill, as did also his substitute, consequently the talk after the cup was no more than a few announcements by the president, F. V. Goodhart.

EARLE SAYS LINCOLN BLAZED F. D. R. TRAIL FOR COURT REFORM

In an address before the Mid-Day Luncheon Club in Springfield, Ill., on the eve of the 125th anniversary of the Great Emancipator's birth, Governor George H. Earle recalled some of Lincoln's statements in referring to President Roosevelt's proposal to appoint six new Justices if those now past 70 do not retire.

Expressions of the Emancipator quoted by Pennsylvania's Governor included these: "To consider the Judges as the ultimate arbiters of all constitutional questions is a very dangerous doctrine indeed, and one which places us under the despotism of an oligarchy."

Earle said the address of Lincoln at Springfield had the double warning of Jefferson and Lincoln.

Continuing, the Governor said: "But if anyone might think it a mere passing remark, in his address at Cooper Union in New York, he referred to the Supreme Court as 'presumptuous' and 'impudently absurd.' It had rendered the Dred Scott decision some time before—a decision that unquestionably precipitated the Civil War."

"And, again, Lincoln is said to have commented: 'The Supreme Court has got the doctrine of popular sovereignty down as thin as soup that was made by the shadow of a pigeon that had starved to death.'"

SOME GOOD BASKETBALL PLAYED ON LOCAL FLOOR

An independent basketball team from Spring Mills defeated the Careful Cleaners team from Lewistown in a game on the Centre Hall floor, Monday evening. Score, 41 to 40. The Cleaners are also "cleaners" but the old-timers down the road got the edge on them at the finish.

The Centre Hall Independents lost to the Avalons by a score of 37-31. The visitors were a bunch of young men who had much experience on the floor.

C. E. UNION ORATORICAL CONTEST, LEMONT, FEB. 19

The Centre County Christian Endeavor Union will hold their annual oratorical contest at Lemont, Friday evening, February 19. Two age groups—intermediate, 12 yrs. to 15 yrs.; young people, 16 yrs. to 24 yrs. All contestants will receive suitable rewards for their efforts. Talks will be judged by competent persons, who will announce decisions during the evening. The public is cordially invited to attend the event.

SHEFFIELD MILK PRICES.

The net cash price to be paid the members of the Sheffield Producers Co-operative Association for milk delivered by them in the month of January, is $1.89 per 100 lbs. for Grade B milk testing 3.5% butterfat, in the 201-210 mile zone, with the usual freight, grade and butterfat differentials.

The price for January is 7 cents per hundredweight lower than the price for January, 1936. The amount of milk produced in January, 1937, was approximately four million pounds more than that produced in Jan., 1936.

SLIPPERY WALKS COST CLEARFIELD BORO $6000

Clearfield borough must pay two of its citizens almost $6,000 for its failure to enforce the ordinance requiring the cleaning of snow and ice from its sidewalks. The county court this week awarded to Mrs. Wm. Walters, who was injured in a fall on a sidewalk $4,900, and to her husband, for expenses following the injury, $1,116.25.

TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH IS SCENE OF HECK-REIBER NUPTIALS WED. NIGHT AT 9:00

A very pretty church wedding was performed Wednesday night of last week, at 9:00 o'clock, in Trinity Reformed church, Centre Hall, when Miss Mary A. Reiber became the bride of Edward E. Heck, of Jersey Shore. The ring ceremony was used, the Rev. Delas R. Keener, tying the nuptial knot.

The church was beautifully decorated in a woodland scene, and no electric lights were used—all illumination being by candles.

Prior to the processional march, Mrs. Delas Keener gave an organ recital of appropriate music, including "Rosemary," "The Wedding March," and the recessional by Mendelssohn.

During the recessional Miss Mary Camerer of Jersey Shore sang "O, Promise Me," and Miss Ruth Reiber "I Love You Truly."

The bride was attired in a white satin gown, with white shoes and white gloves, and her train was carried by Mary Frances Reiber, niece of the bride. The bride carried a large bouquet of gardenias with baby netbow streamers. She was given in marriage by her brother, Curtis B. Reiber, Miss Ruth Reiber, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in white and carried a large bouquet of gardenias and pink sweet peas.

The bridegroom wore the conventional black and was attended by his brother, Ross Heck, of Jersey Shore. The ushers were Dean Ilgen of Centre Hall, and Richard Wolf of Howard.

Following the ceremony a reception was tendered at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Della Reiber, at which seventy-eight persons were present many of them young people from Jersey Shore, friends of the couple.

The bride received many pretty and useful gifts. Among these was a bank note for $100.00, coming from her father, W. A. Reiber, of Johnstown.

Mrs. Heck is a graduate of Centre Hall high school. Following her school work here she entered the nurses' training school in Dr. Sanford's Private hospital in Jersey Shore, from which in due time she was graduated. She is now employed there.

The bridegroom is a machinist by trade, and a worthy young man. He is gainfully employed in Jersey Shore. The young couple will not begin housekeeping in the immediate future.

Their many friends wish them success and happiness in their new-found relationship.

BOYS EVEN WITH SNOW SHOE; GIRLS LOSE GRACEFULLY

The local high school Tigers evened their score with Snow Shoe by a 20-25 victory last Friday. From the beginning of the game the locals were easily superior. The score read 19-7 at half time. In accordance with the score was Centre Hall's smooth passing combination, which clicked for baskets many times. Another advantage enjoyed by the local yearlings was in the percentage of tosses from the foul line. Centre Hall made 14 out of 20 tries; Snow Shoe completed 7 out of 17.

Donnie Goodhart paced both teams with 14 points. Fredman, of Snow Shoe, followed with 13, and Bob Gerhart at the center position captured 10 counters. Acting Capt. Heckman tallied 4 markers. In the final minutes of the contest the results seemed rather doubtful as three of the Tigers were banished from the game on personal fouls, but the substitutes rallied and the game ended with the ball again in Centre Hall's possession.

The lineup:

| | | |
|------------------|------|----------------|
| Centre Hall pts. | pos. | Snow Shoe pts. |
| Goodhart 14 | F | Hershey 4 |
| Meeker 0 | F | Drachop 0 |
| Gerhart 10 | C | Bonaway 6 |
| Heckman (c) 4 | G | Budinger 1 |
| Arney 0 | G | Budinger 1 |
| Smith 2 | F | Friedman 13 |
| | | Mann 1 |

The Centre Hall girls' team was defeated by a fast-moving, fast-passing Snow Shoe sextette to the tune of 47-38. The Snow Shoe team is exceptionally skilled in passing and shooting accurately, two accomplishments that develop with experience. The local team is rapidly gaining the experience and shows more promise with each succeeding game.

With the score standing 38-14 at the half in favor of the Snow Shoe team, Centre Hall came back in full force to increase their side of the scoreboard by 24 points. Players: Bradford Miller, Neff, K. Smith, M. Homan, McClellan, Haskell (30), slack (8).

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

The World Day of Prayer service held in the Methodist church, Friday evening, and sponsored by an inter-denominational organization of women, proved to be highly interesting. The missionary program was participated in by members of mission workers in the Methodist, Evangelical, Reformed, Presbyterian and Lutheran churches. Several groups of children also had a part.

The program was conducted by Mrs. Edith Campbell, who acted as general leader. Rev. Seth Russell, pastor of the Methodist church, delivered the message.

The congregational and choir singing was supported by a solo by Mrs. H. W. Potter and a duet by Mrs. Paul Pettehoff and Mrs. W. W. Kerlin.

The same organization that asked the reappointment of Oliver M. Deibler as a State Fish commissioner gave its approval to the bills in the State legislature permitting Sunday fishing. The organization referred to is the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen.
