UNDER NEW ELECTION CODE
POLLS OPEN FROM 7 TO 9

The Earle administration struck at "mushroom" parties in a new election code proposing many other changes in Pennsylvania's century-old laws.

A major change proposed by the code introduced a few days ago in the legislature, would extend the hour for closing the polls from 7 p. m. until 9 p. m. to prevent last-minute rushes.

Another would fix the Fall primary in odd numbered years on the second instead of the third Tuesday in September to give more time to prepare for the municipal election.

The new code has 500 pages and required two years for drafting. Secretary of the Commonwealth David L. Lawrence said the present code and its "patch work supplements" made a "very confusing situation."

The new code would set a fee for candidates of independent parties to be deposited with their nominating petitions. The money would be forfeited if they did not poll a required percentage of the vote. The fee would be graded on the importance of this office.

Another provision, seeking also to remedy a condition of the 1925 election when independent candidates swamped the election bureau and for a time threatened to prevent the use of voting machines, would prohibit a candidate nominated at the primary from becoming the nominee of more than one independent party.

The code did not touch upon registration of voters but Lawrence explained separate bills had been submitted which would make the procedure uniform throughout the state.

The code was introduced in the House by Benjamin L. Long, Philadelphia, and Samuel A. Weiss, Allegheny, both Democrats.

"Stuffing" of pay envelopes with political propaganda, intimidation and coercion of employees by their emitters which would make the procedure uniform throughout the state.

The county commissioners, as the county board of election, would act as a return board for all primaries and elections and expense accounts would be filed with them instead of the clerk of courts as in some cases.

Dates of filing nominating petitions, objections and withdrawals were changed to provide more time for the counties to prepare for the elections.

"The golf course is so near the mill That on a sunny day The laboring children can look out And see the men at play."

Don't forget the fourth number of the local Lyceum Course on Friday evening in the high school auditorium at 8:30 o'clock. The Loring Campbell Company will present a full evening performance of fun, mystery and magic. The admission will be 35c for adults and 25c for children.

On Tuesday Mrs. T. F. Delaney and daughter Miss Agnes moved into the Roma Gingrich house. The structure is being enlarged and remodeled into two apartments.

Deaths

SHUEY—Mrs. Emma Jane Shuey widow of the late Henry P. Shuey, of Walker township, passed away at the Yearick home in Penn township Wednesday morning of last week after an illness with a complication of diseases.

A daughter of Oliver K. and Elizabeth Love, Mrs. Shuey was born near Tusseyville, Potter township, on December 4, 1866, making her age at time of death 70 years, 3 months and 13 days. On June 12, 1888, she was united in marriage with Henry P. Shuey. Surviving are one son, Oliver P. Shuey, of Bellefonte, R. D., and four sisters: Mrs. Charles Whitehill, Oak Hall; Mrs. P. B. Hartman and Mrs. W. W. Tate, both of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Charles Mayes, of Milton.

Funeral services were held on Friday afternoon, and burial made in Zion Hill cemetery, near Tusseyville, Rev. W. K. Hosterman officiating.

Hackenberg store and is in charge of a youth in the employ of the National Youth Administration. Everyone is invited to make use of the books it offers. The service is free.

OPERETTAS BY GRADE SCHOOL PUPILS MOST EXCELLENT

Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the pupils of the town grade schools for their most excellent recital of two operettas—"Mother Goose," by grades one to four, inclusive, and "Hansel and Gretel," by grades five to eight, inclusive, in the new auditorium on Saturday evening. Although weather conditions were adverse, the attendance was large, and the audience showed appreciation of the efforts made by each young artist.

It is possible here to point out a few characters as having excelled in music and acting without reflecting on the ability of their companions, and so the writer from his viewpoint will name them. And first it may be said that Grades 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 largely excelled in stars.

The most outstanding in acting was Beulah Bradford, 5th grade, in Gretel. In singing, William Rees and Ernest Frank, Jr. These are in grades above the fourth.

In presenting "Mother Goose" the work as King Cole, by Taylor Potter stands out most prominent, as does also the precise acting of Betty Johnson, who played the part of the Old Woman Who Lives In a Shoe.

A duet by Bo-Peep, Gloria Brooks and Little Boy Blue, Warren Foust, was a leading feature. Warren was a substitute for Junior McClenahan said to have an exceptionally fine voice, but only recently discovered.

The youth most natural on the stage was the Mayor of Toy Town Edward McCormick. He and his companions, Richard Rocking, Jack-in-the-Box, and Carl Weaver, Tina Solder, also made a hit in singing.

The youngest with the broadest smile and most lit up countenance was Shirley Garbrick in the character Margery Daw.

Two first grade boys—Dick Rankle and Gerald Smith—got applause from the audience for their splendid imitation of battery stars on a baseball field. How they did hurl that imaginary ball!

No better selection could have been made by an expert for these characters: Jack Sprat (Dean Luse), Mrs. Spratt (Geraldine Smeltzer), Humpty Dumpty (Richard Brooks), Old Mother Hubbard (Myra Confer).

Others who sat in the audience may have had a different selection of notable characters and may be as near correct as the writer.

The performance throughout indicated previous preparation and direction.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Edith Campbell recently visited with a brother who has been seriously ill at his home in Braddock.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burkholder visited with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hess, at Winfield, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Rossman spent Tuesday afternoon in Centre Hall. Mr. Rossman called at the Reporter office, while Mrs. Rossman visited with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rossman, at the Luse home.

TUSSEYVILLE

Guy Shunk and family moved recently from the Wm. Lingle home to the Geary property near Potters Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slaterbeck assisted Samuel Horner and family in getting settled in their new home at Shingletown.

Mrs. Anna Runkle's son-in-law, Clarence Decker, was removed to the Centre County hospital following an attack of appendicitis.

Mrs. George Gummo and infant daughter, of Penna. Furnace, are at the home of Mrs. Gummo's grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Rocky.

Miss Marian Isenberg, of Wayne, spent the week-end at the Forney home.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Smith and daughter, of Rebersburg, took dinner Monday at the W. S. Martz home.
