THAT NEW TEACHERS' TENURE LAW—HOW DO YOU LIKE IT!

Centre Hall borough school board and the Potter township directors met last week to article with teachers in the high and grade schools, under the terms of the new contract based on the recent teachers' tenure law, enacted last month. Under the new contracts, teachers now elected may continue to teach until 70 years of age and may not be removed except for cause.

The new law is generally regarded as a piece of astuteness on the part of the State legislators which has no equal. The spirit of competition has been killed, and those "in" have a feeling of security and complacency that can result in nothing but disaster for the efficiency of the school system. What incentive is there for anyone to enter the teaching profession when the only chance offered for a position is for a teacher to reach the age of 70, or die? Visualize the situation, if you can, twenty years hence. Will there be a dearth of good teachers? How can it be otherwise? Without an opportunity for a job, would-be teachers will seek opportunities in other fields of endeavor.

It seems that public opinion must be aroused to amend this law. In its present form it lacks the homely virtue of common sense. What do you think of it? Give your view of the new law to Reporter readers. Our columns are open to one and all.

Does This Mean You?

This is intended only for the eyes of those who know themselves to be indebted to THE REPORTER on subscription.

Our kindness in extending credit beyond the year has been taken advantage of in numerous instances. Where payment is difficult to make, we ask only that some semblance of fairness be shown and part payment be made. That really will be appreciated.

THE REPORTER has been more than fair with you. Don't you think you should be equally fair?

Next week we shall correct our mailing list according to payments received. You want a better showing in your account with the publishers, so send something to our office and have the figures on your label take on a new look. Some of them have a "seedy" appearance.—THE PUBLISHERS.

Deaths

FLUE FIRE AT CRUST FARM HOME, WEDNESDAY

At close to 11:00 a. m., Wednesday, a flue fire was discovered at the farm home of Charles T. Crust, east of town. The damage was slight, the flames doing no damage on the interior. The flue had a fire-place on the first floor, which received the fire as it fell from its sides.

The Centre Hall Volunteer fire company was called, and responded, the boys with the pumper well primed stood by for an emergency.

Mr. Crust presented the company a worthwhile check for their prompt and willing service.

HIGH SCHOOL OPERETTA, FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 21

Practice has been under way for the past four weeks in preparation for the annual high school operetta. This year's musical comedy will be delivered on Friday, May 21, at 8:00 o'clock, and is cleverly entitled "In Old Vienna, or Pickles."

Leading parts will be characterized by Jack Kirkpatrick, Robert Faust, Ralph Arney, Lois Reese, Lois Arney, Wm. Keelin, Donald Faust, Helen Haskel, Anthony Venerick, Dean Bradford, Dean Smith, and Mildred Homan. They will be ably supported by a well-balanced chorus.

The production of the operetta is in charge of Misses Fisher, Beman, and Mr. Myers, of the high school staff.

Admission will be 25c for children and 50c for adults.

A matinee for the kiddies will be presented on Friday afternoon, May 21, for 10 cents.

FULL DAY SPECIAL COURT, THURSDAY, CLEARS CALENDAR

At two sessions of a domestic relations and summary convictions court held on Thursday, a number of cases were heard and disposed of by Judge Fleming.

Frank Ballstrene, of Phillipsburg, charged with having permitted a person not having a license to operate a truck for him, was discharged and the costs placed on the county. Marshall Van Lierde, the operator in question, smashed the truck into the rear of a hay wagon on Route 322 near Boalsburg, resulting in the death of Lott Thompson, 63 years old.

The truck owner claimed Lierde represented he had an operator's license when engaged to make a trip to Baltimore. This statement was denied by Lierde, but that he had agreed to stop in Harrisburg and obtain a license.

Reed Litz, of Marsh Creek near Howard, 62-year-old WPA worker and father of 11 children, who failed to pay a $100 fine for the alleged violation of the game laws, was found guilty following lengthy testimony presented by both sides.

Thomas K. Hosterman, arrested on the charge of reckless driving in the vicinity of Pleasant Gap, was detained in the county jail for three hours. Hosterman is a resident of Aaronsburg, and at the time of the offense was a PWA worker engaged in the court house.

A sentence of ten days in the county jail was given John W. Fetters, of Bellefonte, on the charge of operating a car while intoxicated. He was also given a fine of $25.00 and prosecution costs.

Separated from his wife since April 1 of this year, Stewart Confer of Spring Mills was directed to pay $15 monthly for the support of his wife. The outcome of this case followed lengthy testimony in which six witnesses took the stand.

Cases growing out of the strike at the Titan Metal plant at Bellefonte were ordered continued by the court following requests made, by both the prosecution and the defense. Those involved in the continued cases are as follows: James Davidson, Ray Lucas, Guyer Fisher (2 counts), LeRoy Ridd and George Rider, all disorderly conduct; Hassel Martin, violator of the vehicle code and disorderly conduct (2 counts) and a third charge of resisting an officer.

The case against Harvey Markle, of Pleasant Gap charged by the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry for illegally employing a minor in his cement block factory, was ordered brought before an argument hearing by Judge Fleming following the hearing of part of the testimony. The attorney for Markle asked for the dismissal of the charges on the grounds that the information placed against the defendant had not been properly prepared. Information was placed against the Pleasant Gap man by Benjamin Kofman, a representative of the Dept. of Labor and Industry.

"NEVER HEARD A GRUMBLE!"

"I've been a telephone man for twenty-six years. Sure I like it. This gang of cable-splicers who work for me are a great bunch of fellows. I've worked with them on some pretty tough jobs and they always come through. I've called 'em out of bed to go out in a blizzard for emergency work and never heard a grumble. Most of them just say, 'I'll be there!'"

A modern telephone cable, little larger than a man's wrist, contains as many as 3636 wires! The rapid development of cable lines, replacing open wire, has done much to reduce service interruptions to a minimum. But this is only one of many scientific advancements recently made in telephony. Today, by telephone, you can reach almost anyone—anywhere—at any time—quickly, easily and at moderate cost. Number please?

A New Way To Broil

A complete broiler meal cooked in the roaster—the fruit and vegetables are cooked in a shallow pan in the bottom of the roaster while the chops broil on the rack. With this type of roaster the top of the broiler unit forms a grill which may be used for pancakes, fried eggs, bacon, and so on. A roaster is a grand solution in a small apartment where a range is not available.

By Louise Brown

Broiled Lamb Chop Dinner
6 lamb chops
6 medium sized tomatoes
1 can peas
1 can apricots

Attach the cord to the convenience outlet, set the temperature control to 350° and preheat the roaster. While the roaster is heating, butter the bottom of a shallow pan lightly (one that will fit in the roaster insert pan). Cut tomatoes in halves, dip in melted butter and sprinkle with bread crumbs; arrange in rows at one end of the pan. Put peas next, dot with butter and season with salt. Next place the apricots, cut side down. Place the filled pan on the bottom of the roaster insert pan.

Set broiler rack in place so that it will be 2 inches from broiler unit. Lower the broiler unit into position. Now disconnect the cord from the roaster and connect to the broiler unit. Heat 5 minutes. Then place chops on slightly greased broiler rack. Turn chops at end of 8 to 10 minutes longer depending on how well done you like them. Remove food to hot platter and serve immediately.
