

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

A marriage license was issued to Thomas Wayne Hoover, Mt. Eagle and Alice M. Glasgow, Centre Hall, R. D.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Ross and daughter Miss Jane, and Miss Miriam Moore, of Hershey, on Sunday were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Moore.

John H. Knarr and John Meeker joined a group from State College on a fishing trip to Delaware waters, leaving Sunday morning and returning Tuesday night.

Eugene Burkholder, a local florist, is quite liberal with prize tulips grown by him and is remembering a number of his friends with bouquets, and also made displays in some of the churches on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fetterolf were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Rickert on a motor trip to Kingston, on Sunday, where for the day they were guest of Mrs. Rickert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Hess.

Miss Roberta Smith is continuing to improve in the Williamsport hospital, and since Sunday has been able to take jaunts through the hospital corridors on a wheel chair. The power, however, must be furnished by one of the nurses.

While practicing on the local ball field on Monday evening, a player collided with George Rimmey's good left hand as he was taking a badly thrown ball. The bump was so hard the wrist was jammed and one of the bones fractured. The member was bandaged to afford relief.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wetzel and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bradford attended the graduating exercises of the twenty-five nurses from Geisinger hospital, Danville, Thursday evening of last week. These are in addition to those from Centre Hall named previously as having attended the ceremonies.

While climbing a tree William Daup, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Daup, fell and struck his arm against a snag, cutting a gash in the forearm on the under side close to the elbow. In dressing it several stitches were required to bring the gapping flesh together. The operation made the lad wince, no, not once.

A truck owned by C. J. Schmininger, Altoona, loaded with cases and kegs of beer, and operated by R. E. Gearhart, Altoona, was wrecked on Saturday morning when the man at the wheel fell asleep. The damage to the truck was about $200. The wreck occurred within a hundred feet of the point where a truck belonging to the same company was wrecked several months ago.

Ralph E. Long, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Long, near Centre Hill was treated at the Centre County hospital on Sunday afternoon for injuries received when his motorcycle crashed into a car close to the junction of the Boalsburg road and Route No. 53, at Old Fort. Due to the injuries being light the young man was not detained at the hospital. The cycle collided with a car operated by Paul King, Spring Mills. The damage to the two vehicles is estimated at about $15.00.

THE OPERETTA.

A fair sized crowd of Centre Hall people witnessed a fine performance of 'In Old Vienna, or Pickles,' last Tuesday evening. It is to be regretted that some failed to see one of the outstanding musical presentations of the year. However, the operetta may be repeated in the early fall for those who were unable to attend Tuesday's showing.

It is difficult to choose any one person as being outstanding because all members of the cast did admirable work in making the musical comedy a success. However, the following carried the burden of the operetta:

CORRECT FALSE IMPRESSION

Wrong ideas spread most rapidly. A rumor has been circulating within the past month that the high school operetta, presented Tuesday, excluded the senior class. The operetta was a school project, presented for the benefit of the Athletic Association, and enacted by those individuals who indicated they were interested and co-operative. While the public may not know it, the senior class was given the opportunity to be in the cast but they rejected the offers made. Other senior activities including the class play, were being prepared when the operetta cast was selected, a fact which may account for the seniors' rejection of any part in the show. As far as supporting the operetta as a school project, the underclassmen were enthusiastic and are to be complimented for their support.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR 3-YR.-OLD

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bohn gave a birthday party for their son, who on that day arrived at his third birthday anniversary. The children were all of tender age, but greatly enjoyed the entertainment and refreshments provided.

The guests of the young host, Danny, included: Franklin Goodhart, Beverly Myers, Georgetown Johnson, Ruth Spiker, Drew Fetterolf, Lester Garbrick, Jr., Eleanor Potter, Helen Smith, Marjory Emery, Margaret Smith, Ruth Bohn, Richard Meyers, Josephine Knarr, Eleanor Bohn, Hilda Bohn, Arthur Bohn, State College; Betty Bechdel, Howard; Charles Bechdel, Mrs. Harry Bechdel, Bellefonte; Mrs. Lester Garbrick, Mrs. Clarence Coffey and son Bobby.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Attend Field Day—Put a ring around June 10 on your calendar. That is a real letter date—Farmers' Field Day at the Pennsylvania State College. This is a school-day and a holiday for the whole farm family. Bring your picnic lunch and stay all day.

Clean Woolen Garments—If woolen garments are clean when they are put in storage for the summer, they are less likely to invite moths. Many woolen garments can be washed and thus reduce the spring cleaning bill, say Penn State clothing specialists.

Grow Rape Pasture—As range or pasture for turkeys, hogs, sheep, and lambs during the latter half of the summer and late into the fall, rape is the cheapest and surest crop and is one of the most productive, according to Penn State agronomists. Sow 5 to 8 pounds an acre, broadcast or 4 pounds in close rows 24 to 36 inches apart.

Use Proved Sires—"Like begets like." This has wide application in dairy herd replacement and improvement. Proven sires transmit high producing ability to their daughters and should be used in the herd whenever possible. Penn State dairy specialists emphasize.

Kill Garden Weeds—Weeds are a perennial problem in the garden. They should be killed when small to avoid serious competition with the vegetables. If none goes to seed there will be less trouble in the future, declare Penn State vegetable gardeners.

Select Good Pullets—Since pullets lay more eggs than second-year hens, the aim should be to select pullets with high production prospects, Penn State poultrymen remind.

BIDS FOR JANITOR SERVICE—Bids for 12 months janitor service, beginning July 1, 1937, for the Centre Hall grade school building and the Centre Hall-Potter high school building will be received by the undersigned. Separate bids wanted; bidder may also state price on both buildings. Sealed bids to be in hands of the secretary not later than Wednesday, June 2nd, 1937. Further information from secretary—Centre Hall School Board, D. K. Keller, secretary.

DAD AND SON HAVE ENVIABLE ATHLETIC RECORDS

In the column captioned "Rambling Through Sportdom" in the Centre Daily Times, this reference is made to Walter R. Hosterman and family, former residents here:

The Walter R. Hostermans, of State College, represent an athletic family which rivals the Confers, of Bellefonte, for fame in Centre county sports.

Walter, Sr., was a member of the Power Plant bowling team, and for the past few years ranked with the top-notch bowlers of the community. Seven years ago his son, Woody, played his first game of soccer for the Little Lions and was regular left-halfback for four years. Last season Woody was one of the few sophomores to break into the Penn State undefeated soccer lineup. He played half-back.

Walter, Jr., took up where Woody left off and has been a member of the State High football team for three years. In addition, he captained the Little Lion basketball team and led the Central League scoring. Last spring he was Class A district champion in the 220-yard dash, and this year he is the leading high school sprint man in this section.

And that isn't all. Two younger Hostermans are on their way up. Kenneth is in the seventh grade while Ralph will enter junior high next fall.
