CENTRE HALL "ELIGIBLE" FOR A $75,000 P. O. BUILDING

A new post office building at Centre Hall, to cost $75,000, is among the projects placed on the "eligible" list by the House Appropriations Committee under a proposed federal building program.

The committee approved a deficiency appropriations bill which provides a $23,000,000 lump sum for public buildings.

The authorized projects other than Centre Hall's include Montoursville $30,000; Montgomery, $75,000; Woodrich, $75,000; Mansfield, Canton, $75,000; Athens, $80,000; Galeton, $75,000; Johnsonburg, $75,000; Mifflinburg, $80,000; Port Allegheny, $85,000; Sheffield, $75,000; Troy, $75,000; Westfield, $75,000.

Although these communities are on the "eligible" list for new federal buildings, congressional and treasury sources agree that there is little likelihood that the projects will materialize for several years to come.

They point out that the listing submitted to Congress by the Appropriations Committee in conjunction with the third deficiency bill proposes to finance construction only to the extent of $23,000,000. That amount, they computed, would build only 42 of the major projects which the Postoffice Department considers have been too long deferred; or 200 of the smaller buildings costing about $70,000 each.

Projects large and small, included in the "eligible list" total more than 1,800, and to carry out the entire program would require an appropriation of $208,000,000, or nearly 10 times the amount Congress intends to provide.

When both houses pass the bill and the President affixes his signature the Interdepartmental committee, composed of treasury and postoffice officials, will begin the process of selection and elimination. The committee will pick from the list of 1,800 suggested projects, either 42 major jobs or 200 smaller ones, or a combination of both whose aggregate cost will not exceed $23,000,000. Plans for the others will then be returned to the files to crop up again two years hence as "eligible."

UNJUST CRITICISM.

It is unjust criticism when beetle-brained persons make uncomplimentary remarks whenever the local fire ladders take out the fire truck for "exercise." You would scarcely believe it, but the local firemen are accused of "showing off," and this by the very persons who would again criticize, and sharply so, if the fire-fighting equipment was not in perfect condition in case fire broke out on their own property.

It should be only a matter of routine with any volunteer fire company to take out the equipment at regular intervals and see that it remains in perfect working order.

Centre Hall's volunteer fire company is a credit to the town. Put away all hammers and sing its praises.

The motorist in Pennsylvania who drives at a rate less than thirty miles an hour is likely to hear an order to get to the side of the road. The maximum of the new slogan is fifty miles. The slogan, to eliminate traffic hazards, is, "Not less than 30 nor more than 50."

Deaths

CRAWFORD.—Mrs. Mary M. Crawford, wife of Frank M. Crawford, died at her home in Bellefonte Tuesday morning at 1 o'clock after an illness lasting nearly three years. Death was caused by a heart condition.

Mrs. Crawford was born in Laurelton, May 2, 1873, the daughter of John and Susan Huff. About 46 years ago she was united in marriage to Frank M. Crawford. After making their home in Centre Hall for several years following their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford moved to Bellefonte where they have made their home for the past 37 years. Mrs. Crawford was a faithful member of St. John's Lutheran church, Bellefonte.

Surviving are her husband, a son and daughter, Francis H. and Mrs. Horace Hartranft of Bellefonte and a brother, Dr. S. H. Huff of Bellville, N. J. Five grandchildren also survive. Funeral services will be held from her late home this (Thursday) morning at 11 o'clock, with Rev. Clarence E. Arnold, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be made in the Union cemetery, Bellefonte.

D., on Thursday of last week, was laid to rest in the Georges Valley cemetery on Tuesday afternoon following services at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Confer in Spring Mills. Services were conducted by Rev. Royal A. Babcock, Evangelical pastor at Rebersburg.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Sophia Confer, was a daughter of John and Catharine Breen Confer, and was born in Penn township. She was aged about 80 years, and is the last of her generation. The son of William and Catherine Young Lose, he was born June 5, 1849 in Haines township. At the age of 21 he married Emma J. Meyer, who preceded him in death six years ago.

Three brothers, and one sister died years ago, two of his three brothers being killed in the Civil War. His one brother disappeared at the Battle of the Peach Orchard at Gettysburg. Surviving children are: Katie Martin, of Aronsburg; J. Frank Lose of Fiedler, and Mrs. Frank Bible of near Fiedler. William and James Lose of Middleburg, his brothers, and four grandchildren also survive.

During his active years Mr. Lose engaged in farming in several localities in Penns Valley. For a number of years he lived on the Meyer farm near Centre Hill. He was unusually fond of good horses and took pride in having them in show condition when doing farm work.

CLOSE OF LOCAL B. B. SEASON: CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES NEXT

This (Thursday) evening closes, officially, the Tri Valley Baseball League which ran for two cycles of fifteen games each.

Rebersburg won the first cycle and Pleasant Gap has the second half clinched. Consequently, these two clubs will meet in a series of games to decide the championship of the league.

The games for this (Thursday) evening, which write final to the 1937 season, are as follows: Centre Hall at Pleasant Gap, Spring Mills at Lemont, Rebersburg at Pine Grove Mills.

"Little World's Series" Arranged

The "Little World's Series" will be played according to the following schedule:

- Sept. 4—Pleasant Gap at Rebersburg; 2:30 p. m. Sept. 6—Rebersburg at Pleasant Gap, 2:30 p. m. Sept. 9—Pleasant Gap at Rebersburg, 4:00 p. m. Sept. 11—Rebersburg at Pleasant Gap, 2:30 p. m. Sept. 14—At Centre Hall, 4:00 p. m.

Centre Hall, 4; Lemont, 2.

Centre Hall defeated Lemont in a 7-inning game, Thursday evening, on the local field, by a score of 4 to 2. Both pitchers were stingy with hits, Jamison holding Lemont to 5 bingles, while Homan permitted only 3 and struck out nine. Two of the three hits were collected by youthful George Martz, who also chalked up half of his team mates' runs.

A little "clowning" on the part of the locals' center fielder, Paul Fetterolf, was the cause of Lemont's filing a protest on the game, charging undue delay of the game. "Pooley," feeling the game did not warrant being taken too seriously, jumped a bicycle to ride to his position in center field in the fifth inning. Manager Durst couldn't see the joke, and disciplined his centerfielder. Fetterolf refused to play further, and there being no other regular player on the bench, Ernest Frank was pressed into service. He did not have on the regulation uniform, however, and in order to come up to specifications, Durst peeled off his shirt, and wearing this, Frank became "eligible" as a player.

The box score of the game follows:

Table with columns: Lemont, Centre Hall, R, H, O, A, E. Rows: Williams, Korman, Hoy, Schreck, Whitehill, Grove, Beaver, Coble, Homan, Totals.

Table with columns: Centre Hall, R, H, O, A, E. Rows: Fetterolf, H Bradford, Crawford, Breen, Packer, J Knarr, G Martz, Durst, Runkle, Jamison, E Frank, Totals.

Rebersburg, 6; Centre Hall, 5.

Centre Hall lost to Rebersburg in the last inning of Saturday's game, 6 to 5, at Rebersburg. Centre Hall's four hits were too few and far between to be productive of many runs; indeed how did they score five, with Rebersburg having only one error? Rebersburg found "George" Martz, only a youngster, and Jamison, for nine hits. It was the latter's hard luck to be charged with the defeat after going in at the 8th inning with the score tied at 5-5.

WORK ON NEW ROAD PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Work on the road between Centre Hall and Spring Mills is progressing nicely, smoothly, quietly. The power shovel farthest to the west is on the second-half west of the Penns Cave flag station road. The rough grading between the present operations and the Engard farm are completed.

The shovel to the east is working west from the Zubler farm. This work is on the lower section of the construction project.

The third power shovel, a clam-shell or orange peel, is making excavations for footings for the pony truss bridge over Penns Creek, back of the Spring Mills hotel.

The contractor, M. L. Hutchison, and his efficient superintendent, are making rapid headway in the construction work.

PENN STATE TEACHER WILL AID BOROUGHS

C. J. Rowland, professor of economics at the Pennsylvania State College has been appointed to a committee which will work with the state department of internal affairs in preparing a budgetary form for use in all Pennsylvania boroughs.

Professor Rowland's appointment was announced by T. F. Christwalt of Hanover, president of the Penna. Association of Boroughs.

In the past, borough accounting systems have not been uniform. Prof. Rowland said, the committee and the state department of internal affairs will draft forms which may become standard for uniform borough accounting practices throughout the state.

Prof. Rowland has been auditor for the borough of State College. It was largely because of his work in preparing budgetary and financial forms for the municipality that he was selected as a member of the committee. The committee and the method in which it is to function was outlined by the new Borough Budget Act passed at the last session of the General Assembly.

The annual Centre County Teachers' Institute will be held in the court house, Thursday and Friday, October 21 and 22.

Whether or not a voter not registered at the time he signs a "dry" petition is qualified to do so will be tested in case the dries win in any of the six districts in Union county at the coming primary election. Attorney General Margoli's ruled that a voter not registered when he signed a nomination petition was disqualified. If he was right in that instance it appears petitioners under all circumstances must have all the qualifications of a voter.

The Popular Salad Bowl

What could be more tempting to the appetite on a warm day than a bowl of chill, crisp salad greens with a smooth French dressing.

By LOUISE BROWN

HAVE YOU noticed that the salad bowl is becoming more and more popular? Smart hostesses are including it in their menus—indeed, many of them are building a reputation for their buffet suppers on the strength of the salad bowl, alone. And for simple lunches and Sunday night suppers for the family, the salad bowl makes an excellent main dish.

With the number of fresh, green vegetables one finds in the markets today, there's no limit to the variety of salads. By the way, if there are any foreign markets in your neighborhood a little shopping may help you discover some interesting new greens for your salads.

Any salad greens or vegetables you fancy may go into the salad bowl. Shred the lettuce or cabbage, carrots or green pepper, add quartered tomatoes or cold cooked vegetables. The shredder or slicer attachment to the electric mixer is very handy in preparing vegetables for salad—cutting them quickly, easily and attractively. Of course, it's particularly useful when preparing a large quantity.

The canned salad vegetables one may buy nowadays are another useful aid to the salad bowl. Keep a can of these in your electric refrigerator ready for emergencies and you can toss a salad together in no time at all.

Speaking of the refrigerator, brings us to the point that a salad is only worthy of mention when it is thoroughly chilled and crisp. Keep the green vegetables in the hydrator so that they are at their best. The oiled silk refrigerator bags make splendid containers for extra supplies of lettuce or celery—or you can put the shredded greens in them until you are ready to mix the salad.

If you have no suitable salad bowl, why not invest in one? You can buy a good wooden one (and most people prefer these) complete with fork and spoon for about a dollar. And the individual wooden bowls to match, which are so attractive on a buffet table, are quite inexpensive.

Some people like to rub the bowl lightly, very lightly, with garlic—although that is a matter of taste. Toss the ingredients together with a good French dressing, again with a light hand. (Here's another use for the mixer—it blends a smooth French dressing.) Try adding anchovies or bits of Roquefort cheese to your salad for an added zest.

According to tradition, it takes a man to mix a salad properly. So the next time you are entertaining informally, why not ask your husband to preside at the salad bowl? He'll probably enjoy it and perform very deftly and gracefully (with a little practice in the kitchen) to the amazement of your guests.
