FARMERS MAY SHOOT DEER ON OWN FARMS Pennsylvania's Game Commission acceded to Gov. George H. Earle's request in permitting farmers to shoot antlerless deer on their own lands without a $2 permit during the special doe season Nov. 25-27.

The game code allows landowners the right to kill deer destroying property on their grounds open to public hunting, and since these farmers are not required to obtain regular hunting licenses, the commission found Earle's request "reasonable and fair," Commission President Nicholas Riddie said.

Farmers privileged to shoot deer without permits on their own lands are asked to report kills for statistical purposes.

The Centre County Ministers Union will meet Monday, Dec. 6, at 10:30 a. m. in the Evangelical church, Bellefonte. Rev. Mays, pastor. Theme, "Learning to Know Our County." Subjects to be discussed, conducted by able leaders in each agency, will be: (a) The Work of the County Relief and Pension Agencies; (b) The County W. C. T. U.; (c) The County Council of Christian Education. The "National Teaching Mission" will also be presented and discussed.

Deaths

STOVER.—Miss Byrd Mae Stover, of Rebersburg, died Saturday morning at 6 o'clock after complications following a two weeks illness. Miss Stover, who had not been in the best of health for some time, was admitted to the hospital Sunday prior to her death. Miss Stover was born at Rebersburg, September 15, 1876, making her age 61 years, 1 month and 23 days. Her parents were Cornelius and Christine Stover, both deceased. Two sisters survive. She was a member of the Lutheran church of Rebersburg and was active in the various organizations connected with it.

For a number of years she engaged as a teacher in music—vocal and instrumental—and in that capacity covered a large field—Brush, Penns and Sugar Valleys, and even more distant points. Her pupils gave frequent entertainments and always did themselves credit.

AUMAN.—Hannah S. Auman, relict of the late Fred A. Auman, passed away at her home, Spring Mills, R. D. 2, on Saturday. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Auman was born in Mifflin county, December 15, 1864, and was aged 72 years, 10 months and 21 days. She was a daughter of Joseph and Mary (Snook) Dean.

On Sept. 25, 1881, she was united in marriage to Fred A. Auman, who preceded her in death. Deceased is survived by the following children all of Spring Mills: Ira Auman, Mrs. Clayton Confer, and G. E. Auman, as well as a brother, Amos Dean, of Pennsylvania Furnace.

Funeral services, in charge of Rev. Royal S. Babcock, of the Rebersburg Evangelical church, were held Tuesday of last week in the Sprucetown church. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery.

SCHREFFLER.—Wilbur Aaron Schreffler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. D. Schreffler, of Bellefonte, died on Friday in the University Hospital, Philadelphia, following two cerebral operations. He was nearing his 13th birthday at the time of his death.

The boy was taken to the hospital and the first operation was considered successful. However, he suffered a relapse and the second operation was performed, death occurring several hours later.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by the following brothers: Gerald, Leonard and Carl, all of Bellefonte. Burial was made at Bellefonte on Monday.

BIBLE.—Frank W. Bible, 11, D. died in the Presbyterian hospital, Oak Park, Ill., aged 61 years. He was a son of Frank E. Bible, at one time recorder in Centre county, and was born in Milesburg. For eight years he was a missionary in China. Burial was made in Bellefonte, Wednesday.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Best Storage for Apples — Experiments indicate that well-sprayed carefully handled apples picked at proper maturity keep better at 35 to 36 degrees than at 21 to 32 degrees the temperature range which has been considered ideal for apple storage Penn State fruit specialists report.

Great Teams Measured — Measurements have been taken and the characteristics of great pulling teams studied to determine what points are common to horses and mules possessing greatest draft power. Penn State horse specialists report that weight, great heart girth, correctly set feet and legs, and massive musculing are the visible characteristics.

Clean Up Garden—If the fall clean-up is to be effective in disease control, it should include removing or burning all dead plant parts, plowing under all debris which cannot be raked up and removed, and destroying all weeds in and around vegetable plots, say Penn State plant pathologists.

Grow Christmas Trees — Growing Christmas trees as a regular planted and managed crop started on a few farms in Pennsylvania slightly more than 10 years ago. Last year, about 100,000 locally grown trees were marketed, report Penn State foresters.

Control Chicken Vices — Feather picking and cannibalism in poultry flocks can be controlled by eight different practices, according to Penn State poultry specialists. Ask county agent for this information.

"THE GADABOUT"

To raise enough money to help pay for basketball sweatshirts, the Centre Hall-Potter high school is presenting Friday, November 19, at 8:00 o'clock, the play, "The Gadabout." It is a three-act comedy pertaining to Mr. Hull's home and troubles. ***
