

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Mrs. Ella Westerfield, of Churubusco, Indiana, is a guest of Mrs. Emma Emerick, a cousin. The mothers of the ladies, before marriage, were Magées.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cronister, of Wilkinsburg, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Lizzie Eberts, of Tyrone, were guests during last week of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Benner.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sharer and daughter, Miss Bertha Sharer, on Sunday visited with Mrs. Sharer's brother, Frank Reish, and family, at Oak Hall Station.

Mrs. Edgar Clark, of Centre Hall, and sister, Mrs. Willis Bathgate, of Jacksonville, motored to York during last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Bowman Truett, a friend since youth.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Overdorf, Mrs. Edward Heck and daughter Mary Ann, and Miss Elizabeth Hoffman, all of Jersey Shore, were guests on Tuesday of Mrs. Della Reiber, mother of Mrs. Heck, in Centre Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burkholder and three children, of Milroy, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. William McClenahan. Mr. Burkholder is a brother of John H. Burkholder and is employed in the Bupham works.

Mrs. John Myers of Somerset, and daughters, Mrs. Stetler, of Rochester, and Mrs. Crowe, of Brownsville, on their way to Rebersburg to attend the funeral of the former's sister, Miss Byrd Stover, stopped on Sunday at the Paul Bradford home for a short time.

Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick was in attendance at the Seminar held in the Phillip's hotel, Philipsburg, November 15 and 16, by the Huntingdon Presbytery. Dr. Harold Robinson, Philadelphia, and Maxwell Adams of the same city, led the discussions.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Confer, of Bellefonte, were guests for a few days of Mrs. Confer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradford. The couple are employed in the Bellefonte match factory. Mrs. Confer returned to work while Mr. Confer is lingering here due to a heart condition that recently developed.

Two public sales of farm stock and implements held beginning of last week by Waldo Homan, Oak Hall Station, and Harry E. Fye, in upper Brush Valley, were well patronized by active bidders. The gross sum of the Homan sale is said to have been over $11,000, and that of the Fye sale a bit over $2100.

Mrs. George Condo, son Charles, of Greensburg, Mrs. Mary Rand, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Isabel Snyder, of Port Matilda, were brief callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Durst Centre Hall, on Sunday. The group were on their way home after a trip to Millburg where they visited with Mrs. Ida Snyder, who is critically ill.

"Jack" Coldron, who will graduate from Penn State next year in the School of Education, is now engaged in his practice teaching and is located in Johnstown, where until the close of the first semester, about January 30, next, he will be instructing in the Central high school in the Flood City.

Miss Anna Stover, R. N., who took up Army nursing service during the World War, recently returned from a pleasure trip to England, France, Italy and other European countries. She is now nursing in the Aspinwall hospital, in the Pittsburgh region. Miss Stover is a sister of Mrs. Wm. McClenahan. Mrs. J. H. Durst and Mrs. Orvis Weaver, of town.

The Father-Son banquet scheduled to be held in the social room of the local Reformed church this (Thursday) evening, bids fair to be an entire success, due largely to the untiring efforts of the small committee in charge of arrangements. It is the first venture in this particular line of work, but not likely to be the last. The Ladies' Bible class and the Friendship class of young women will not only serve the banquet but also finance it. This is contrary to a previous arrangement which provided for a voluntary contribution on the part of the banqueters.

On Saturday, while Miss Elizabeth Bartholomew was taking her father, C. D. Bartholomew, to Huntingdon for X-ray treatment by Dr. Keichline, they came nearly being mixed up with four does that rushed across the road, and in their attempt to climb a steep embankment all four of them fell, landing on their backs close to the Bartholomew car, the driver of which had stopped the car to watch what might happen. The does, all large, became frightened at the approach of a car coming in the opposite direction. The incident occurred on the other side of McAlevy's Fort.

Very close to two inches of rain fell Friday afternoon, night and Saturday morning.

On Tuesday evening the second session of the 1937 term of the Centre Hall Community Leadership Training School was held in the local high school building. The enrollment is 29, divided among the five courses offered. These courses are as follows: First series, "The Life and Work of Paul," No. 123A, taught by Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick; Second Series, "The Christian Message for Our Present Day World," No. 112B, taught by Prof. J. F. Wetzel; Second Series, "Jesus and His Teachings," No. 124B, taught by Rev. A. L. Wagner; Second Series, "Understanding Ourselves," No. 312B, taught by Rev. S. W. Russell; Second Series, "Guidance in Christian Home Making," No. 420B, taught by Rev. W. K. Hosterman. Rev. D. R. Keener is dean of the school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Smith, of Bellefonte, were Sunday guests at the F. P. Geary home in town.

Miss Martha Boal is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. E. A. Auman, and husband, in Rebersburg.

Mrs. Wm. Carson, who makes her home with a daughter, Mrs. John Breen, in Bellefonte, is a guest at the G. W. Sharer home at this time.

E. C. Myers, of State College, while hunting in Columbia county, killed a bear on the first day of the season, said to have weighed 170 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dasher were motor guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harbharger, of Altoona, on Sunday, to Blairsville, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stover. The ladies are cousins of Mrs. Stover.

The Chester A. Spyer family, beginning of this week, moved into the home recently acquired from Max Herr, the same being the former Cyrus Brungart home, a brick structure, in Centre Hall.

A group of sixty-one persons, a Homan clan, sat about a well-laden table on Sunday noon at Woodward Cave. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Homan and their daughters, Mrs. Mary Cass and Mrs. Mabel Davis, are residents of Scotland, S. D., and are nephew and grand-nieces, respectively, of Solomon Homan, of Centre Hall. The S. Dakotan Mr. Homan is engaged in conducting a lumber yard while the husbands of his daughters till the soil. From Centre Hall there were present at the gathering Solomon Homan, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Homan, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Homan, and Miss Mildred Homan.

Tramping through the wilds of Potter county during the first two days of the bear season by a group of hunters from this section resulted in having captured no game. At Cross Forks the hunters saw six bears that had been slaughtered in the section. They were scouring, which added to the disappointment of their anticipation to bring back with them at least one punctured bear skin and carcass. The hunters the first evening and the others on Tuesday evening were: W. H. Homan, Claude Dutrow, James From, Fred Slack, George Long, C. P. Ramer, Ralph Homan, Ernest Homan, Miles Decker.

JUDGE SMITH OF CLEARFIELD RULES ON CONSTABLE PAY

An opinion handed down recently by Judge W. Wallace Smith of Clearfield on the question of whether constables of Clearfield county must serve in their official capacities at the primary and general elections without compensation, as provided by the 1937 election code, was a clear cut official ruling that should definitely clear up this matter.

In brief, the opinion was that constables elected prior to the present act must serve at the general elections and are entitled to the compensation formerly provided, $5 a day. However, as to the primaries there is no duty compelling them to be at the polls then and neither are they entitled to any compensation for past services at primary elections.

Judge Smith's findings, it was stated in the opinion, were based on constitutional law as it applied to depriving an elected official of compensation and adding new duties to him during his term of office. Prior to the 1937 act, it was stated, the law did compel constables to attend general elections and provided that they receive $5 for their services.

However, there never was a law compelling them to attend the primaries. It was found then that constables who were elected to office prior to 1937 must attend the general elections and be paid for their services while they could not be saddled with the additional duties of attending the primaries, nor was there any provision for payment of what they were not compelled to do.

Constables who will be elected after the passing of the 1937 act will be compelled to attend both the primary and general elections without compensation. The law is unconstitutional as it applies to constables elected before the act was passed, but is valid in respect to constables elected afterward.
