Officers to be elected by districts are all thirty-four members of Congress, State Senators in the twenty-five even-numbered districts, including the Centre-Clearfield District which is No. 24, and the entire list of 299 Representatives in the Lower House at Harrisburg.

FARM CALENDAR.

Timely Reminders from Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Why Egg Slumps Occur—When slumps in egg production occur there is a reason. Penn State poultry specialists say that irregular feeding and lack of a constant supply of drinking water, irregular use of artificial light, and sudden changes in rations are management factors causing egg laying slumps.

Manure Is Valuable—Manure is a valuable farm by-product even though not sold for cash. In terms of crop value it should be worth at least $2 a ton, say Penn State agronomists. Twenty head of stock will produce 200 tons of manure a year worth $400.

Warm Clothes Essential—Children going to school need warm clothing if they are to keep in good health. Penn State clothing specialists assert. This is especially important if children may have to wait on windy, snow-covered roads for cold buses. Sometimes there are cold drafts in the school houses too.

Prune Grapes Correctly — In cane pruning of grape vines the end is cut off a few of the best canes which are saved leaving them about 3 to 4 feet long with about 8 to 12 buds. The poorer canes may be left for renewal the next year, explain Penn State fruit specialists.

Exercise Is Needed—Ewes need plenty of exercise in order to produce a good lamb crop. The flock may run on pasture or fields where the ewes can gather grass or roughage, say Penn State livestock specialists.

A preliminary mental examination will be held at Tyrone, Saturday, Feb. 5, for the designation of a candidate for appointment to the U. S. Military Academy, as announced by Congressman Don Gingery.
