

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

John F. Reish and family, of Rebersburg were in town on Saturday. Mr. Reish is a Rawleigh Products salesman and covers his district regularly and completely.

Miss Isabel Musser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Musser, of State College, visited with the Potter children—Barbara and Eleanor—in Centre Hall.

John Rimmey and George Lohr attended the Britcher auction sale at Mifflintown, on Wednesday of last week. A large number of horses, cows, young cattle and hogs were sold at fair prices.

Mr. and Mrs. James Foust motored to Sunbury on Saturday to be with friends for the day. Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Wagner and sons were also in that city on business on the same day.

Prof. and Mrs. J. F. Wetzel and Mr. and Mrs. George H. McCormick, on Saturday, motored to Reading to visit the latter couple's son, W. E. McCormick, and family. Rev. Wetzel, relative of Prof. Wetzel, was also paid a visit.

A. L. Slaterbeck, tenant for many years on the Hosterman farm at Tusseyville, was a caller at this office on Tuesday arranging for the sale of his farm stock and equipment during March. Mr. Slaterbeck contemplates retiring and will live at Tusseyville.

Miss Ida Frazier, head clerk in the Clover Farms store conducted by T. A. Hosterman, on Monday cut a gash in the left leg midway between the knee and the ankle. She was trimming a box with a knife when she made a misstroke. It required several metal clasps to close the wound.

John Wells, who at present lives on the former Henry Homan farm and is employed by farmer John Rimmey, will begin farming in Buffalo Run Valley next spring on the Edward R. Owens farm, close to the Myers cemetery. Mr. Wells and Mr. Owens will join forces on the 50-50 plan.

Mark Jordan, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Jordan, of Colyer, a freshman in Centre Hall-Potter high school, resumed his studies on Monday morning after a three weeks' illness due to mumps. The youth's recent sickness broke a record for perfect school attendance up to that time.

David George Meek, State College, although obliged to use crutches, is beginning to leave his home for short periods. Mr. Meek suffered injuries in a motor accident last July. He resigned later as cashier of the Milroy bank which was robbed during his administration, and a second time a year later.

Paul Smith, a freshman in the local high school, had the muscles in one of his arms injured on Wednesday of last week while in play with a companion. The lad, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Smith, Pottery Mills, was taken to the local physician where it was discovered the injury was not at all serious.

Mrs. Leroy Confer was called back to work in the Bellefonte match factory on a three-day-a-week turn. Mr. Confer employed at the factory for a number of years, has not yet been called to work. In the meantime he and Mrs. Confer are living with Mrs. Confer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradford, in Centre Hall.

James Wert, of Aaronsburg, and Mrs. Kissler, of Woodward, on Thursday were guests of the former's granddaughter, Mrs. Breen, and great-grandsons, Ronald and Donald, for a part of the day. The couple came by motor car operated by Mr. Wert who is an unusually well preserved and alert man for one of his age.

John W. Decker, member of the Legislature and supervisor of agriculture in the Gregg Township Vocational school, was in Centre Hall on business other than politics on Saturday. Mr. Decker, twice elected to the Legislature from Centre county, is not giving out what is in his mind as to his candidacy in the coming campaign. The prediction is that he will submit to his party's call for continued service.

Mrs. Albert Smith, who had been in delicate health for several months, was taken to the Centre County hospital for observation, on Saturday. Mrs. Smith is a daughter of F. P. Floray, Potter township, but is living in one of the Odenkirk apartments. Mr. Smith is a substitute clerk in liquor stores in Centre county and at this time is employed in the Bellefonte store.

Teddy, young son of Dr. and Mrs. H. R. White is afflicted with measles at this time. The disease has not become epidemic about here but every precaution against its spread is urged. Health Secretary Edith MacBride-Dexter advises that parents keep their children in their own back yards until the force of one of the worst measles epidemics on record is broken. Vigilant supervision of children after school hours is a preferred method of combating the spread of the disease.

The Rebersburg lodge of Odd Fellows is still talking about the splendid performance of the degree team of the Trevorton (Northumberland county) lodge, which conferred the second degree on a class of candidates in the Rebersburg lodge Friday evening. The Trevorton degree team was attired in immaculate costumes, and did the degree work in a manner to put the stamp of "perfection" on it. About thirty members of the Trevorton lodge were present most of whom took part in the ceremony. Besides this lodge there was representation from Centre Hall, Millheim and Port Matilda.

STUDENTS SEE TALKIES ON VARIED USES OF TELEPHONES

To show how convenient and useful the telephone is Mr. Earl Miller, representing the Bell Telephone Company, showed several movies to the pupils of Centre Hall-Potter high school on Friday morning, January 21. The movies were with sound effects and included six different reels. The first one, Getting Together, showed in a humorous way how telephones are put together. Voices in the Air, showed how one can talk across the water to foreign countries. The Sea-Going Telephone reel showed how telephones are used in ship and Net-work Broadcasting explained the use of telephone communication in radio.

Flying Telephone showed how convenient telephonic devices are in airplanes, and Voices in the City gave a dramatic picture of the function of telephones in New York City.

DR. WEBER SPEAKS TO P.T.A.

"The Call of the Child" was the subject of an address by Dr. Harry F. Weber, of Lock Haven State Teachers' College at a parent-teacher meeting, January 31 in the high school auditorium. Dr. Weber is teacher of social studies at the Lock Haven institution. Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick had charge of the devotional services.

New Dinnerware Designs in the American Tradition

—Courtesy DuPont Style News Service.

Interesting trends in dinnerware are the new patterns that reflect the spirit of our primitive Western culture. This design shows Indian corn done in realistic colors.

By Louise Brown

If you are shopping for new dishes to give your table settings a lift, you'll be interested in the dinnerware in a series of original designs by Simon Slobodkin. The series is called "Ranchero" and is inspired by our primitive western culture. Mexican handicraft, Indian corn and other natural forms are reproduced in three dimensional effect with American Ceramic colors giving an unusual depth of tone.

You can imagine the verve and spirit the "Indian corn" pattern pictured above would give to a table. The decoration is ears of dried corn, the husks braided and the kernels true to life in realistic colors. It would be particularly appropriate in an Early American setting, with a pine or maple table

Pupils of C. H.-P. Get Free Tuberculosis Test

As a check-up on tuberculosis in the Centre Hall-Potter high school by the State Department of Health on Friday, January 17, a skin test was administered to the teachers, the freshmen and athletes, who had the consent of their parents or guardians. This test has been state-wide and will give the individuals a chance to check on this dreaded disease.

This tuberculosis test which was conducted by the State Doctor and Nurse was similar to the Schick test and shows a positive reaction if inflammation occurs around the point of infection.

The results were not made known to the public but individuals will receive notification of any possible infection.

These cases must be confirmed by an X-ray of the chest, a free service offered by the Centre County Hospital in its tuberculosis clinic.

Medical authorities claim that this disease can almost invariably be cured if discovered in the early stages by this skin test.

Alumni Group Makes Gift to Library Fund

The Centre Hall-Potter Alumni at a meeting Thursday evening, January 27, began a series of plans for benefiting the school, by contributing thirty-five dollars to buy new books for the library. The association's last major contribution was the two hundred and fifty dollar curtain presented in the fall of 1936.

A committee was also appointed by the president, Robert Bradford, to investigate the possibilities of installing a telephone in the principal's office.

Late in February a dance is planned as a high school benefit.

Since the Centre Hall high school no longer exists, the alumni voted to change the name of the organization to Centre Hall-Potter Alumni Association.

JUNIORS VISIT TIMES OFFICE AS LAST JOURNALISM PROJECT

To see how newspapers are printed the juniors studying journalism visited the Centre Daily Times printing office at State College on Friday, January 14. They were taken through the building by Mr. Donald Sanders, who explained the mechanism of the press which was printing Friday evening's paper at the time.

The class seemed especially interested in the linotype machine which sets the type for the printing and in the teletype, which is a combination of a typewriter and telegraph, over which news is sent from the Associated Press.

The pupils made the trip as a conclusion to their semester course in journalism.

EDITORIAL

IN KEEPING WITH its stated purpose, "to create a better school spirit in the community and to promote school activities," the Alumni Association recently donated thirty-five dollars to the high school library for new books.

This association, organized in 1927, has given its aid and support to the school at all times, and on several previous occasions has given money for books. Its major undertaking was the presentation of the stage curtain to the high school for the new auditorium, a project demanding generosity of time and money on the part of many alumni.

The Tiger staff makes this appeal to the high school students to join the organization as soon as they graduate. The two-fold activities of the group, social and beneficial, make the work of the alumni entertaining as well as philanthropic.

The membership fee of twenty-five cents a year is amazingly small in comparison to benefit received from a spirited and loyal alumni group.

SURPRISE TESTS, rising in popularity, will probably completely replace semester examinations.

The old-time review, in which the pupil is told a week ahead of time what to expect, makes the pupil cram volumes of facts, just so he can remember them long enough to pass the test, and forget them immediately afterward.

We advocate shorter, more frequent, and unannounced quizzes.

JOINT BOARD PUTS BLEACHERS ON SOUTH SIDE OF GYMNASIUM

Inconvenience of seating facilities at basket ball games on the home floor has induced the Centre Hall-Potter school board to buy bleachers which will seat 220 persons.

The gray extended portable bleachers will be placed on the south side of the gymnasium and will allow a margin of three feet six inches south of the foul line.

The Universal Bleachers Company of Champaign, Illinois, is furnishing the bleachers at an approximate cost of $275.

Mr. and Mrs. John Forster of Aaronsburg were Sunday guests of Miss Grace Smith and Mrs. Lavan Smith. On Tuesday, Mrs. John S. Dale of State College, in town on business, was entertained at the same home.
