

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

The plowman felt the cold severely on Monday.

Considerable planting has been done in a number of gardens in Centre Hall.

"Paradise," the trout fisherman's dream stream, will be opened May 10. The protected waters will be closed July 9th.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Homan and Mr. and Mrs. Dan S. Daup motored to Milton and Berwick where they spent the day with friends, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of State College and the former's mother, Mrs. Sallie Smith of town, dined at the Benner Inn, at Woodward, on Sunday.

Miss Sarah Odenkirk, a student in Ithaca College, Ithaca, N. Y., is at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. A. Odenkirk, for a two weeks Easter vacation.

The Harry F. Confer residence in Madisonburg changed hands, the property having been sold to George Long, farmer, west of Madisonburg, for a reported $1800.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Keller motored to Johnstown on Tuesday morning. The former returned home Wednesday, leaving Mrs. Keller with a sister, Mrs. S. M. Goodhart, for a more prolonged visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mastellar of Dewart, came to the Lee-Breen home on Saturday, where Mrs. Mastellar remained for a few days. It was her first visit here since undergoing an operation in the Danville hospital some time ago. She has pretty well recovered from the effects of the operation.

Among the families to locate in Centre Hall permanently is that of Mrs. Lettie Glasgow and daughters, Misses Mary and Dorothy. They are occupying a home owned by Mrs. Glasgow for some time on Hoffer street. Their former residence was the Glasgow farm on the Old Fort-Bouldsburg road.

At a dinner on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hagan, Centre Hall, had as guests Miss Irene Zerby, Home Economics Extension worker in Clearfield Co. with headquarters in Clearfield, Andrew Rose, a stockman in a garage in Clearfield, Misses Miriam Zerby and Frances Zerby, and Adam Condo, all of Spring Mills, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Luse, Centre Hall. The ladies are sisters of Mrs. Hagan.

Mrs. E. Roy Corman and Miss Vera Elkins, of Wilkensburg, were guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Fisher, over the week-end. Mrs. Corman reports Rev. Corman is regularly filling his preaching engagements, although having only partially recovered from a recent illness. Mrs. Corman's companion on the motor trip here is engaged as a high school teacher in Wilkensburg.

On Sunday the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Ripka assembled at the parental home to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Ripka. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy McClintic, Stanley and Margaret McClintic and Paul Ripka, of State College; Mr. and Mrs. James Royer, Wendell and Kenneth Royer, of Centre Hall; Luella Ripka, of Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, Bruce and Francis Wallace, of Julian; Dean Ripka and Wava Ripka, at home. The very good dinner was enjoyed by everyone.

The Reporter extends hearty felicitations to Mrs. Lucy Henney, who on Wednesday of last week reached her 85th year. Coming to Centre Hall from Millheim with her parents at one year of age, she has lived here continuously, and conducted a millinery store for more than three score years. Mrs. Henney is beyond question the most remarkable woman of her age to be found in a day's travel. Her skillful plying of the needle at her advanced age has evoked the admiration of her many friends and customers, who sincerely hope her good health may continue for many years to come.

Mrs. William Ashley, her sister, Mrs. (Rev.) F. W. Barry, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mitterling, their mother, motored to Centre Hall on Saturday from Highspire, the home of Mrs. Barry. Mrs. Mitterling had the misfortune to break an arm in a fall during last week, which accounted for the trip to Centre Hall at this particular time. Mrs. Ashley lives in Chattanooga, Tenn. Mrs. Barry, who had not been in her home town for four years, reports Rev. Barry and the Barry children in fine fettle. St. Peter's, one of the congregations served by Rev. Barry, on the Sunday following Easter, will celebrate its 45th organization anniversary with appropriate ceremonies.

The Reporter was much pleased to have a call in Saturday afternoon from John W. Vonada, one of the progressive farmers in George's Valley. In referring to him as being progressive is included the fact that he is able to use the spirit to an advantage to himself and family. His home, rather isolated, and the farm referred to by him as altogether ordinary, is modernly equipped. When the subject of politics was mentioned, Mr. Vonada stated he was not much interested, but in further conversation without intention of doing so he presented a most telling argument why the farmer was more prosperous than during the pre-Roosevelt Administration. Just prior to that time his milk checks for a year totaled $900; last year that total was $1700, and for the first three months of the present year, including veal calves, was $1000. Mr. Vonada keeps books. Accompanying him on Saturday was George F. Breen, a neighbor, whose chief business is keeping poultry.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Charles Noll, a guide at the State capitol, was in Centre Hall on Tuesday.

B. H. Emerick made minor improvements to his home during last week. P. H. Luse was the carpenter employed.

Mrs. W. W. Kerlin, Mrs. Fred Priest and Mrs. C. H. Homan motored to Williamsport on Friday on a shopping mission.

Mrs. Roy Garbrick, in place of the first of the present year, is at this time able to be out of bed short periods each day.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Spzyke were in Marklesburg on Sunday, called there on account of the illness of Mrs. Spzyke's mother, Mrs. Donelson.

The Centre County Bee-Keepers Association will meet this (Thursday) evening in the office of the Centre County Farm Agent, Bellefonte.

Mrs. Daniel Bloom, who sustained a serious injury to one of her eyes, is improving nicely, with every prospect of the eye and sight again becoming normal.

Harry Yearick, of Lock Haven, and Edward Yearick, of Nittany, recently were guests of their sister, Mrs. M. C. Delaney, and family, near Centre Hall.

Melvin Showers, turnkey at the county jail, was hit by a car operated in Bellefonte by M. R. Hockenberry, Bellefonte, R. D., and was injured to some extent, but not seriously.

Edgar Rimmey is now located on the Corman (the former Rhone) farm, and Mrs. Annie Brooks and son-in-law, Mrs. and Mrs. Ernest Wagner, are living in the Brooks home in Centre Hall.

The children of the late Mrs. Margaret Thomas desire in this manner to express thanks for the kindnesses shown and assistance given during her last illness and again at the time of her death.

Cars operated in Lock Haven Saturday evening by Anthony Pelleso, of Jersey Shore, and Mattie E. Smith, of Centre Hall, R. D., collided as the latter was turning from Main to Jay street. The damage was slight and no one was injured.

Nelson Robb, of the Bellefonte Trust Company, is in a Philadelphia hospital for treatment, and expects to remain there for at least a month. From the latest reports received by relatives, Mr. Robb's case has not been completely diagnosed.

The Emerick heirs in Centre county on Saturday night met in the local I. O. O. F. hall to hear a report made by F. E. Johnsonbaugh, president, on the outcome of a meeting held in Rochester, on March 27. The meeting was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Whitman motored to Lewistown on Sunday and brought back with them Mrs. Ella Whitman of Oak Hall, mother of the former, who had been a week-end guest of a daughter, Miss Frances Whitman, in Lewistown.

The improvement of the Wills road over Jacks Mountain will give Kishacoquillas Valley a shorter route south by way of Bellefonte and Vesttown. The road building will be a combined State and WPA project. Work has already been begun.

Wednesday was the 21st anniversary of the U. S. entry into the World War. I. C. McClenahan, local news agent, has vivid recollections of the interest Penna Valley people had in the war news at the time, for Sunday papers in the Millheim district were sold for 25c a copy. He made the trip down the valley in an old Ford, backing snow drifts on the way.

Harold Rossman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Rossman, formerly of Potter township, now of Millifburg, expects to leave April 26 for Chicago, Ill., where he is enrolled in the Moody Bible Institute. The course Mr. Rossman will pursue will require more than three years' training. He was graduated in 1925 from the Millifburg high school and also attended Bucknell University.

On reliable information the Reporter is able to say that John M. Book, former sheriff of Centre county, expects to be released from the Lewistown City hospital in the near future. While the conditions have by no means been cleared up, he has improved to such an extent that treatment at the home will be sufficiently effective to bring back normal health.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Kerlin, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beck and son William, of New Cumberland, were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hosterman, Mr. Kerlin's visit was in the interest of his farm at Colver, known as the P. B. Jordan place, and vacated on Saturday by J. E. Jordan. The old homestead will be known in the future as the Kerlins' summer home.

The Clinton County Times, Lock Haven, in announcing the establishment of a life and accident insurance office in that city. In its news column presented a splendid likeness of Vinton G. McClellan, who recently completed a study at the home office of The Travelers' Insurance Company in Hartford, Conn. The Reporter is pleased to state the young man is a product of Centre Hall.

L. E. Stover, member of the hardware firm of Hosterman & Stover, Millheim, who has been in the Centre county hospital for several weeks, is improving nicely and is able to walk to the sun parlor daily, and has every prospect of complete recovery from a prostate gland operation. His son informed the Reporter that while he would not be discharged from the hospital this week, the expected discharge would not be delayed but for a short time.

FREEMAN MADE ASSISTANT TO STATE WPA ADMINISTRATOR

Promotion of Charles E. Freeman to the title and duties of administrative assistant in the Works Progress Administration was announced this week by J. Bank Hudson, State administrator.

Freeman had the title of field representative prior to the change.

The promotion was made, Hudson said, in recognition of Freeman's outstanding record. He started with the WPA as director in the 8-county area of which DuBois is the headquarters and filled the office so capably that in the summer of 1937 he was promoted to field representative.

Under his new duties Freeman will serve in a liaison capacity as personal representative of the administrators in six of the sixteen areas of the State, comprising 31 counties.

The Carpeneto store, Bellefonte, has been sold to Morris Goldman, of Brooklyn, N. Y.
