FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Feed Chicks Right—Proper feeding is important in successful rearing of chicks. It is not advisable to hold chicks more than 72 hours without feeding, say poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State College. Placing a small amount of scratch grain on the mash will start them eating. Later, mash and scratch grain may be supplied in separate hoppers.

Start Flowers Growing—April is a busy month for the home flower gardener. Jobs that should be done seem almost endless. Pansy plants started last fall should be transplanted. The last week in April is a good time for planting dahlia tubers, particularly where there is little danger of frost, according to Penn State floriculturists.

Pasture Affects Milk—During the first few weeks that cows are on pasture the percentage of fat generally increases. This is due to the watery nature of the grass. The cows are unable to secure sufficient nutrients to meet the needs of production, say dairy specialists of the Pennsylvania State College. Because of the under-feeding, the fat percentage rises at the expense of the cow's body.

Drain the Wet Spots—Many Pennsylvania fields cannot be brought into a uniformly high state of cultivation because of wet spots. Such wet spots can be drained by means of a tile line running through the surrounding rise of ground to a lower outlet, Penn State agricultural engineers declare.

Turkeys Need Vitamin—Turkeys have a high vitamin A requirement during the laying season, report Penn State poultry specialists. They should experience no vitamin A deficiency if fed a ration containing yellow corn, alfalfa meal, and fish oil, or if they have access to greens.

Do you want to SAVE MONEY?

The Standard Coupe

The Standard Ford V-8, with 60-horsepower engine, gives you a lot of car for a little money.

300,000 new owners acclaimed the "thrifty 60" last year. Hundreds a day are buying it in 1938. Why?

Because it is priced low—includes essential equipment without extra charge—and goes farther between filling stations than any Ford car ever built. Owners all over the country report averages of 22 to 27 miles on a single gallon of gasoline.

But economy isn't all the story by any means. The Standard "60" is built with the same precision as the De Luxe "85," and has the same 112-inch wheelbase chassis. It is easy to look at and ride in—as well as easy to buy and run. There's a Ford dealer near you.
