CORRIGAN TO BE AT CLEVELAND AIR RACES

Upon the definite announcement by Douglas "Non-Stop" Corrigan that he would attend the National Air Races at Cleveland, Saturday, September 3, has been officially set as "Corrigan Day." The world's most famous wrong way flyer is expected to arrive at Cleveland Airport to participate in the impressive ceremonies opening the 1933 program.

September 3 has been designated as "Corrigan Day" because it is uncertain that he will be able to remain through the three-day program, due to the many other demands on his time. At Cleveland, Corrigan will receive the most spectacular welcome yet accorded him. Not only will he be welcomed by the vast crowd of air race fans, but will be immediately and completely surrounded by the thing he loves—aviation.

If Corrigan flies his own plane, to Cleveland he will be met some distance from the airport by an aerial advance guard of planes which will escort him to his landing. He will then be formally welcomed at the airport by officials, representatives of civic and social organizations, and many famous pilots who made aviation history previous to Corrigan's Trans-Atlantic flight.

Something Hot . . . Something Cold for a Summer Luncheon

A hot and cold luncheon for a summer day—cold baked ham, potato spirals, timbale case filled with creamed beans and celery, cherry garnish, fresh vegetable salad.

By LOUISE BROWN

WHEN you are planning a summer luncheon, don't be led astray, no matter how hot the weather, into serving an all-cold meal. Food tastes much better, and it's better for you, to have a nice balance between cold and hot.

VEGETABLE SALAD

Wash and clean vegetables. Using the attachment of the mixer, grate the radishes, carrots and cabbage. Toss together in a large bowl with French dressing, and serve in individual lettuce cups.

POTATO SPIRALS

Pare, wash, and cut a sufficient number of potatoes with a spiral cutter. This is actually quite simple to do, although it makes the potatoes look very tricky.

CREAMED CELERY AND STRING BEANS

2 cups cooked green beans cut into short thin strips. 2 cups cooked celery cut into short thin strips.

FRUIT GARNISH

Combine ingredients in order given and fill timbale cases or patty shells.
