

Uncle Phil Says:

Too Few Map Out

If a young man maps out a career he generally achieves it. An ounce of persuasion is better than a pound of compulsion.

Money talks pretty conclusively at times, but occasionally it gets rattled.

Because He Fails to Marry

From a bachelor's viewpoint marriage is a failure.

Contentment has one advantage over wealth; people don't try to borrow it from you.

Gossip is a deadly gas that is often fatal to friendship.

Leaders That Follow

Fashion leaders are so called because they follow the fashion.

We should strive to forgive and forget, but it always seems so much easier to forget our friends than our enemies.

Were you ever alone in a strange city?

• If you were you know the true value of this newspaper. Alone in a strange city. It is pretty dull. Even the newspapers don't seem to print many of the things that interest you. Headline stories are all right, but there is something lacking. That something is local news.

For—all good newspapers are edited especially for their local readers. News of your friends and neighbors is needed along with that of far off places. That is why a newspaper in a strange city is so uninteresting. And that is why this newspaper is so important to you. NOW is a good time to get to...

WAS HER FACE RED?

The woman church editor of a Pacific Coast daily was having trouble hearing over a poor phone connection.

"Say it again," the spinster editor asked on failing to understand the sermon title selected by a bachelor pastor.

"Say that again, please," she pleaded a second time as static once more stifled the message.

Her embarrassment was intense as the message finally came through: "Beloved, let us love one another."

Perhaps Overstuffed

Tourists spending a few days in London dined one evening at an expensive restaurant. As soon as they were seated, a large tray of olives was placed on the table.

One of the men eyed them curiously a few minutes then beckoned the waiter.

"I don't want to give you any trouble," he said, "but I'd like to see the pods those green peas grew in."—Tit-Bits magazine.

THAT'S SYSTEM

Jim—Why do you prefer to take your vacation before the boss does?
Jenny—Because I always feel like I'm on a second vacation when he's away.

Maybe, But—

"My sister Beatrice is awfully lucky," said little Mary.

"Why?"

"She went to a party last night where they played a game in which the man either had to kiss the girl or pay a forfeit of a box of chocolates."

"Well, how was Beatrice lucky?"
"She came home with 13 boxes of chocolates."—Stray Stories magazine.

Answer

The prim spinster was dining out, and while the waiter was standing by the table, she asked him to find out the title of the piece the orchestra was playing.

Other duties claimed the waiter for a time, and when he returned the spinster had forgotten her request. To her confusion the waiter bent towards her and whispered: "What can I do to make you love me?"—Answers magazine.

Dish-Ring Invention of

The Irish Silversmiths

The dish-ring, often spoken of as the potato-ring, was invented by the Irish silversmiths in the last half of the Eighteenth and early part of the Nineteenth centuries. These dish-rings were ornamental stands for circular wooden bowls, and their use was to prevent the hot bowl from injuring the polished mahogany table.

Tradition says they were used exclusively for holding bowls filled with potatoes, but it was the custom to place them in the middle of the table to remain during the entire meal, where they served as a receptacle for holding the various dishes. The bowls were usually made of bog-oak and with or without a silver rim.

Dish-rings originated in Ireland, first coming into use in Irish homes. No contemporary English examples are known except the copies in Sheffield plate, writes Alice R. Rollins in the Los Angeles Times. The dish-ring, if we include its general use, corresponds to the dish-cross used in England at the same period, which consisted of adjustable crossed bars. The mark for beauty, however, must go to the creation of the Irish silversmiths.

The Irish dish-rings are always circular and from two to three and one-quarter inches in height and from six and one-half to eight inches in diameter. They have the appearance of a large napkin ring with a contracted waist. Most of them, however, are larger on one rim than the other, so that one ring was adaptable to more than one sized bowl. The genuine old Sheffield-plated copies are sometimes oval in shape and so could be used as stands for oval-shaped dishes. Potato-rings are not earlier than 1740 and the fashion declined at the beginning of the next century.

Queen of Two Nations

Eleanor of Aquitaine (d. 1204) was first a queen of France, as wife of Louis VII, who divorced her. She then became queen of England, as wife of Henry II, first of the House of Plantagenet, and was the mother of Richard the Lion Hearted. During the 250 years that the Plantagenets ruled England Eleanor was considered a royal name and only by royal consent could the highest born nobles give it to their daughters. Edward I and Henry III of that house both had wives named Eleanor, the latter becoming a nun after her husband's death.

Anything for Fetish

Anything will do to make a fetish in native Africa, literally anything—a collection of chicken bones, or dried leaves, or twigs, or a little bunch of grass, smeared over with clay and daubed with the blood of a sacrifice. These fetishes may be only an inch or so long. The priest, who usually makes such a fetish, performs a ceremony and offers sacrifice over it, and thus brings a spirit into it, great or small, according as he is paid by the person desiring it.

Whales Cannot Be Mounted

The whale is the only common mammal not found in natural-history museums. Owing to a peculiarity of the skin, says Collier's Weekly, it cannot be mounted successfully, like that of other animals, and models of whales have to be made for exhibition purposes.

Rabbits Are Vermin to Many

Almost everywhere in Europe, except England, the rabbit is considered vermin and treated consistently as such.

Few Europeans realize the immense size of the American Great Lakes; but few Americans know that Lake Ladoga, lying between Finland and Russia, is the largest body of fresh water in Europe, being 130 miles long and 80 miles wide.

IT'S THE BEST LIGHT

FOR LIGHT READING

Reading in bed isn't harmful at all—if your posture is right and you have good light. The above picture shows the correct posture. An I.E.S. lamp which distributes lots of good even light all over the page makes a seemingly difficult reading task very easy. The lamp pictured gives you an idea of the individuality of the new styles now available.

626 WOMEN* WERE ASKED: "What Does It Cost to Cook Electrically?" GUESSES AVERAGED $3.04 A MONTH BUT THE ACTUAL COST AVERAGES LESS THAN $2.00 A MONTH!

★ WEST PENN representatives, in all parts of the territory the company serves, recently called on 626 women who do NOT have an electric range and asked: "What does it cost to cook electrically?" Some of the women knew the correct answer—for friends had told them about the low operating cost and they intend to purchase electric ranges soon. But most of them guessed high—not realizing that electric rate reductions have lowered the cost—and that the new ranges also use less electricity.

The 626 answers resulted in an average "guess" of $3.04 a month. Actually the average monthly cost is LESS THAN $2.00!
