ROOSEVELT'S DEFINITION OF THE NEW DEAL "To try to increase the security and happiness of a larger number of people in all occupations of life and in all parts of the country; to give them more of the good things of life; to give them a greater distribution of wealth in the narrow terms, but of wealth in the wider terms; to give them places to go in the summertime—recreation; to give them assurance that they are not going to starve in their old age; to give honest business a chance to go ahead and make a reasonable profit, and to give everyone a chance to earn a living."

CHAIN STORES AND TAXES. Chain stores purchase and distribute about twenty-five per cent of everything produced by farms and factories. It is also claimed by the chain store organization that the stores purchase $250,000,000 worth of goods from Pennsylvania manufacturers and producers annually. They pay $59,000,000 in wages to Pennsylvania employees, and $5,400,000 in state and local taxes. They pay in Pennsylvania $21,000,000 a year in rent and nearly $11,000,000 in freight, transportation and maintenance charges and a little over $5,000,000 a year in advertising.

FALSE FACES TRUE TO FORM LAST HALLOWE'EN Children who are generally supposed to do no harm to property or disturb the neighborhood, took a new turn during the past Halloween period. Locally, good-natured housewives invited, or rather permitted, children to enter their homes and in many instances gave them tidbits, etc., and attempted to enjoy their innocent sport. Many who received the children with open arms discovered later that they had been tricked. At an opportune time, usually when the lady of the house was preparing a treat for them, windows were soaped on the inside, mirrors likewise treated, furniture defaced and carpets and rugs littered, and in some cases rough-housed until they were fired. This we take it is an indictment against parents who leave their children roam around almost every night in the year and give special privilege to do as they please on the evening of All Saints' Day, October 31st.

You will have one last use for your fly swatter before laying it away for the season: use it on the guy who tells you today, "I told you so."

Henry W. Glasgow of Coburn was issued a permit to transport school children in Penn township by the Public Utility Commission.

THREE LOCAL HUNTERS GET WILD TURKEYS

Richard Luse, George L. Goodhart and Harold Bohn each killed a fine wild turkey. Bohn and Goodhart found their birds in the Seven Mountains where they were well acquainted with the territory. Bohn made the first kill, a gobbler, and a second gobbler with it soon got in range of a shot by Goodhart. Although neither hunter knew the other was in the mountain.

Richard Luse killed his thirteen-pound gobbler back of Pine Grove Mills. Bohn's bird weighed eighteen pounds while the weight of Goodhart's find was not ascertained, but the fact that almost two dozen guests sat at the table on which the bird was served indicates it was not a small one.

WORLD'S POULTRY SHOW, CLEVELAND, JULY 27-AUG. 7

The seventh World's Poultry Congress will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, July 28-August 7. The total amount of money necessary to stage this gigantic agricultural affair has been pro-rated in the forty-eight states, and Pennsylvania's share is $30,000.

In Pennsylvania there are over 165,000 farms producing poultry and eggs as well as nearly 900 hatcheries. The five cooperative egg and poultry auctions, whose membership is over 2,500 producers, market more than 100,000 cases of eggs annually. These are a few of the interesting facts describing Pennsylvania's Poultry Industry.

REVISED POSTAGE RATE FOR BOOK MAILING

The postage on books has been revised by lowering it to a great extent to stimulate circulation of good literature. The new rate is 1-1/2 cents per pound or fraction thereof, irrespective of zone or destination. President Roosevelt announces in a bulletin to all Post Offices that the new rate will apply from Nov. 1 to June 30, 1939, an eight-month period. The low rate will apply only on books consisting wholly of reading matter and not advertising, other than incidental announcements of books. Books must be at least 24 pages or more in size.

BASIL MALONE, OF COBURN, FOUND DEAD UNDER CAR

On Saturday morning about eight o'clock, several forest workers on their way to work in Havice Valley, found Basil Malone, a well-known young garageman of Coburn, cold in death, with a rear wheel of his car tight against his neck,—so tight that his head was twisted into an unnatural position. The indications are that death was due to choking and a possible broken neck.

It is presumed the gas line on the car had become clogged, for it had been detached, the garageman having a wrench and other tools lying within arm's length; that the car brake gave way, letting the vehicle drift backward on the steep hill on which it was parked, resulting in a wheel passing over an arm close to the shoulder and over a portion of the chest to the neck.

Mr. Malone went to Sunbury on Friday morning for auto parts, and on returning turned off Route No. 45 at the Joyce Kilmer camp to hunt, as he informed his wife he expected to do. When he failed to return at dusk, Mrs. Malone became alarmed and asked friends and relatives to make a search. The search throughout the night was unsuccessful, but the morning hours brought a solution.

The unfortunate man was a son of Fred Malone of Coburn, and was aged twenty-six years. He leaves a wife, formerly Miss Winkleblich, and two children, a daughter aged three years and a son, aged five months. Brothers and sisters surviving are Blaine, of Millheim; Roy, of Fayette county; Fred of Aaronsburg; Mrs. Robert Zerby, of Penns Cave; Misses Sarah, R. N., Isabel, Joyce and Morine all at home.

Funeral services were held on Monday.
