

THE ELECTIONS

[Editorial, Philad. Record, Nov. 10] The pendulum swing is one of the most familiar of political phenomena.

No movement goes forward in a straight line. Despite eight years of steady Democratic gains, the New Deal as the 1938 elections show, is no exception to this rule.

A reaction comparable to that recorded at the polls Tuesday was expected as far back as 1934. Certainly the electoral vote of 1938-523 to 8- was unwholesomely one-sided.

The Record pointed out then that liberals believed in the two-party system just as strongly as we believe in the New Deal and we expressed the hope that the Republican party nationally would strengthen its position.

That it has now done so will clarify the position of the Democratic party as the champion of Liberalism. It also returns the Republican party in a number of States to positions of responsibility.

This should have a salutary effect on that party as a whole. Had Republican helplessness continued there was grave danger that anti-New Deal money and sentiment would find their way into such un-American channels as the Silver Shirts and other Fascist-minded organizations.

That was the way Hitler and Mussolini got their start. As it is, the Republicans will be forced to drop the role of purely demagogic, destructive critics and to show what they can do in a number of key States.

Their performance will be a test for 1940. Since the reaction had to come, it is far better that it came in 1938 than in a Presidential year.

The anti-New Deal forces normally have far greater facilities in the form of press control, etc., for reaching voters. In Presidential years this is somewhat offset by the fact that the New Deal Presidential candidate himself can reach the voters over the radio.

The President does not make a campaign for his party in the midterm election, thus leaving in a very definite preponderance of publicity outlets in the hands of the opposition.

Under the circumstances, the Democratic check is by no means surprising, nor is it by any stretch of the imagination a national defeat for the Democrats.

On the basis of States carried, the 1938 election shows an equivalent in electoral votes of 321 Democratic to 219 Republican, a landslide ratio.

All members of the House of Representatives were up for re-election. The Democrats are certain of 248, the Republicans of 160. Twenty-five are still in doubt. Of 32 Senate seats up, the Republicans won 11, the Democrats 18, and 3 are still in doubt.

Since when has it been considered a Republican victory when the Democrats carry the Solid South, plus the border States, plus New York and Illinois, plus the Mountain States and California, not to mention a few others?

BUSINESS GAINS SHOWN IN SURVEY BY PENN STATE

The number of building permits and building contracts and the volume of postal receipts in Pennsylvania during September showed encouraging gains over the same month of last year, a publication of the division of economics at the Pennsylvania State College, reports.

Building contracts amounting to $19,895,000 were awarded during the month, representing a gain of 17 per cent over those reported for September, 1937.

"Contracts in the western part of the state were up four per cent while those in the eastern part of the state gained 26 per cent, the survey commented.

"The amount of the building permits, $5,051,876, was a substantial gain of 28 per cent over the amount of the permits issued in September of last year and represents the first month in 1938 in which building permits exceeded those issued at the same time last year.

Thirteen of 22 cities reported higher permits than in September, 1937. From August to September permits rose more than 22 per cent."

Business indices which showed gains in September over August are anthracite coal production, electric power sales, factory employment, factory payrolls, newspaper advertising, postal receipts, telephones in service, and retail trade.

The survey predicted a continued rise in Pennsylvania business.

WASHABAUGH MUST PAY COSTS, SAYS JUDGE

Samuel M. Washabaugh of Williamsport, assistant superintendent at the Huntingdon Industrial School for Boys from 1935 until the time of his dismissal last Christmas following the fatal gassing of Daniel LaMurr, Philadelphia Negro youth, was ordered to pay the costs of prosecution in the case by Judge Chester D. Fetterhoff, of Huntingdon county, in a special court session at Huntingdon on Saturday morning.

NITTANY VALLEY NATIVE BURNED TO DEATH

Trapped by an explosion of coal gas from her furnace, Mrs. Minnie A. Johnson, 57, was burned to death shortly after 8 o'clock Sunday morning in the cellar of her home in Lock Haven. Her body, burned to a crisp with only her stockings remaining of her clothing, was found by her son, Dean I. Stevenson, at about 10:30 o'clock, two hours after her daughter, Gladys Peters, had heard her descend to the cellar to fix the fire as was her wont. No sound was heard from the cellar or from Mrs. Johnson in the meantime, the daughter and son reported.

Dr. W. J. Shoemaker, Clinton county coroner, investigated and declared that an inquest would not be held. The woman's body was found in a corner opposite the stairs. The poker was still in the open furnace door. From these circumstances Dr. Shoemaker concluded that the woman was surprised by the explosion and had run in the wrong direction, missing the stairs and running into the corner, where the rest of her clothing burned from her body.

A native of Nittany Valley, Mrs. Johnson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Beck. She had lived at Nittany and had moved to Lock Haven from Bellefonte five years ago.

Surviving are the son and daughter who resided with her; three sisters, Mrs. William King, Clintondale; Mrs. George Fahringer, Jersey Shore; Mrs. Thomas Greninger, Lock Haven; and two brothers, Albert and Clair Beck, Mill Hall, R. D.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Paul J. Keller, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Nittany, of which she was a member, officiated. Burial was made in the Cedar Hill cemetery.

GUFFEY WILL SEEK FUNDS FOR STATE SCHOOL PROJECTS

Colonel Augustine S. Janeway, executive director of the General State Authority, on Friday said Senator Joseph F. Guffey had assured him a bill would be introduced in the next Congress to provide an additional P. W. A. appropriation, should the Authority fail to obtain approval of its two proposed building programs in the present allotment.

Janeway said up to now the Authority had not been able to sell bonds to provide its 55 percent share in either the $93,000,000 school building program, or the $56,000,000 supplementary State Institutional program.

Approval of the various Pennsylvania projects submitted to the P. W. A. under each program depends on the Authority being able to finance its share of the costs. The deadline for obtaining funds, and starting actual construction on the projects is January 1, 1939.

"I think we ought to have a consultation with the directors of the various school districts, and with the Administration leaders, to find out what we're going to do," said Janeway.

He said the Authority is glomering with a group of New York and Philadelphia financiers who indicated they would be willing to purchase up to $55,000,000 of the Authority's bonds on the school program providing their attorneys give a favorable opinion on the constitutionality of the issue.

Howard Reed, a native of Elk county, is directing a small party of local hunters in search of bear in Elk county, a section with which the young man is very familiar. His companion hunters are Dewey Confer, Albert L. Emery, George L. Goodhart, and "Duck" Henry, the latter of Spring Mills.

MILK PRICE PAID FOR OCTOBER MILK IS $1.75

Farmers in this area who sold milk during October to the New York Area received $2.45 for Class I milk; $1.75 for Class IIA, for 3.5 per cent milk, with the usual deductions. For each quart above the 3.5 the producer will receive four cents per hundredweight, or $1.95 for 4 per cent milk.

One of the advantages in producing milk with a high butterfat content is that the deductions for local hauling and freight are no more than for the lowest grade.

CHILD, 2, FALLS THROUGH OPENING FOR HEATER PIPE

A most peculiar accident occurred last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mark, who live on the former Tibbens farm in the Penns Cave area, owned by Mr. Mark's father, Albert Mark. A two-year-old daughter, Miriam, was on the second floor, went to the opening through the floor for a heater pipe, called to her mother to "look!" and in an instant fell through the opening head first. Below was stretched a clothes line, and this possibly prevented a clothes neck, for in striking it the force of the fall was checked and at the same time the direction changed to prevent the child's landing on her head.

Although not seriously injured Miriam suffered body bruises and was thoroughly frightened.

BRADFORDS-CONFERS DINE ON MARRIAGE ANNIVERSARIES

Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Bradford and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Confer married on the same day, but different years, have made it a custom to rotate wedding anniversary dinners, this year the event falling to the Confers to furnish the feast. The marriages took place on Armistice Day (November 11th). The Bradfords celebrated their fifth and the Confers their second anniversary. The dinner was served at the home of Mrs. Confer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradford.

Mr. Bradford and Mrs. Confer are cousins, but the close tie between them is due to the fact that Harold, when a small boy, lived with Mrs. Confer's parents for several years.

BUILDING OF HOMES SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED

Probably if the town council could see its way clear to omit the borough tax on new properties for a period of, say five years, it might induce the construction of houses much needed now and in the future. The town population is increasing, its voting strength being over 425, indicates a population of not less than 725. Assuming that the remitting of the borough tax would be productive a net gain would be made; if not productive, nothing would be lost.

Such a bait for additional homes would be an everlasting credit to any councilman who voted for it.

LEMONT MAN KILLED ON ROAD NEAR PLEASANT GAP

Pleasant Gap was again the scene of a killing by a motor car, but this time the unfortunate man was loaded with more booze than he could gracefully carry, and in one of his sways was struck by a car operated by John X. Mong of Pleasant Gap.

The man to lose his life was John N. Hall, 60, of Lemont. A fractured skull resulted fatally. The testimony of witnesses bore out the fact that Hall was intoxicated, and that the operator of the car that struck him was blameless.

Hall was a native of Hubersburg, but lived with Reuben Witherite, a son-in-law, at Lemont.

Mrs. Witherite, Audrey Hall of Hubersburg, and Mary Hall of Williamsport, are surviving children, Mrs. Hall is deceased.

Improving Farm Buildings

Clarence Blazer, who recently purchased the Benner farm, has about completed the foundation on a new site, closer to the dwelling house, on which a practically new barn will be built. The present barn will be razed and some of the material used in the new structure, which will be much larger and more conveniently arranged.

The farm house was painted during the summer. Later other outbuildings will be erected and the water system improved.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The annual Union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Centre Hall Lutheran church, Wednesday evening, November 23, at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. D. R. Keener will preach the sermon.

"Gone With the Wind."

Democratic headquarters in Bellefonte, which for months preceding the election had been a beehive of activity, had a dark, funereal appearance Saturday night. Added to this was a sign on the front door, placed by a practical joker, which read, "Gone With the Wind."

However, the wind has a way of turning. In looking over the table of the vote cast in Centre county, Tuesday of last week, it is refreshing to note that Potter township, west precinct, refused to be taken over by Republican propaganda and stood its ground for good old Democracy as it has always done in the past. While polling the least number of votes—111—of any precinct in the township (since it is the smallest precinct) it scored a 3 to 2 Democratic victory, while its neighbors, including Centre Hall borough, were "way off the mark" reflected in their registration of voters. Bully for Potter township, West precinct.

The Sinking Creek road between Centre Hill and Spring Mills is being improved by widening and draining. Warren Slack is the foreman of a group of State highway workmen doing the work. The improving was begun at Centre Hill and has reached near to the Kerr farm.

OUT FOR BEAR ON BURNS RUN

Members of the Burns Run Hunting Club left for their camp on Burns Run, west of Renovo, in Clinton county, on Saturday, expecting to remain until today (Thursday), devoting four days of the season to the sport. The club members include W. S. Walker, W. H. Homan, W. Ernest Homan, Frank White, John Dutrow, Ralph Luse, Geo. W. Long, Norman Walker, Ralph G. Homan, Willard Smith, Morris Homan, Clyde Dutrow, George Luse, C. P. Ramer, Mr. Zimmerman and son.

Tuesday evening the hunters reported Frank White having killed a bear.

Tuesday afternoon the Burns Run hunters were reinforced by C. B. Smith, Claude Dutrow and Ray Decker joining them.

Reports from Clinton, Lycoming, Elk, Potter and adjoining county hunting fields indicate much success in killing bear.

Lewis Ream of near Tusseyville joined a party of hunters from Aaronsburg who are camping in Potter county in quest of bear.

Donald Barger, Harry Brown, and two sons of Earl Smith are hunting bear in Elk county.

Hunters in the Seven Mountains report five bears seen on Detwiler Mt. One of them was killed but the name of the lucky hunter is not known here.

Two bears were seen entering the Rockview game preserve.

GOOD NEIGHBORS JOIN IN HUSKING BEE FOR SICK

Mrs. Charles Wert, of Madisonburg, is surely the champion corn husker for she and her father-in-law, John Wert, husked seven hundred bushels on the share for their own use, husked two days for which they were paid and one day with a group for charity. In this group were Mrs. Minnie Duck, Mrs. Henry Duck, Mrs. Rebecca Rauhau, Mrs. Blanche Rishel, Mrs. Mabel Wert, William Lambert and Tom Wise.

The Alva Ducks, living on a rented farm near Madisonburg, have had ill luck. Mrs. Duck had been home from the hospital for only a short time when her husband was taken ill with appendicitis and operated on in the Centre County hospital, so their "Good Neighbors" turned in to help them husk their corn and get it into the barn. While the women husked, the men, with their own teams, hauled in the corn and father Henry Duck, Clarence Miller, Raymond and Evans Long were the good Samaritans. While most of the workers carried lunches, Mrs. Duck insisted that they be her guests for dinner, so they made a merry picnic meal of it, returning home in the evening, tired but happy in the consciousness of having exemplified the true spirit of the "Good Neighbor" who didn't pass by on the other side.

PA. FURNACE HUNTER HELD FOR SHOOTING MAN

After at first denying that he had fired the shot that seriously wounded Mervyn E. Boyle, of Gibsonia, last week, Clark Harpster, 32, of Pennsylvania Furnace, has confessed, claiming that he had fired at what he thought to be a turkey. Harpster is being held under $500 bail for his appearance in the Huntingdon county court. Game Protector Thomas F. Bell reports that Harpster fled the scene of the accident after discovering his mistake.

Boyle, who was hunting with Fred Bechtel, Pittsburgh, was struck in the face and head with a number of shot. Boyle's description and other incriminating circumstances are reported to have led to Harpster's arrest and confession.

FARMERS STUDYING CANNING FACTORY PROPOSITION

A meeting held in Belleville at which about fifty farmers and business men from Kishacoquillas Valley attended heard a representative of Saulsbury Canning factory make a proposition to establish such a factory in the vicinity of Belleville.

Among the conditions were that at least 200 acres of tomatoes and 200 acres of peas would have to be grown locally before a cannery could be profitably erected.

The Canning Company proposed to erect a building and have the farmers take the first mortgage bonds for $10,000 on the building, twelve per cent of the bonds to be retired each year after the first two years.

The Canning Company will furnish all the machinery and equipment if the farmers erect the building.

This plan seemed to be favorable to all of those present, but to be certain that the plan would be satisfactory to all, a second meeting was arranged to be held.

HAD 1938 BEEN PRESIDENTIAL YEAR!

Democratic candidates carried the country on November 8th in terms of Presidential electoral college votes 321 to 210.

Had this been a Presidential year, the Republicans, given every State in which they elected a Governor or a Senator, would have run behind the Democrats by 111 votes.

In 1938 the electoral vote was 523 to 8.

LOCAL HIGH STUDENTS MADE HEAVY GAME KILL

Twenty of the boys of the local high school were anxious for the opening of the hunting season, on which day they had splendid success as the following will prove: The total amount of game killed was sixty cottontails, twelve squirrels and four ringneck pheasants.

While it is not humanly possible to change the inquisitive nature of children, parents should use some practical means of keeping them from falling into tubs of boiling water or getting their hands between the rolls of a wringer on wash day.
