

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

The fifth child, a daughter, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lair in Centre Hall on Friday.

Mrs. R. D. Schlegel of Fleetwood, mother of Mrs. D. R. Keener, is visiting at the Reformed parsonage at this time.

Monday, a very fine day—bright and clear—following a cold blustery night with mercury hovering within six degrees of the zero mark.

On Thursday night of last week the temperature dropped to six degrees above zero.

Mr. and Mrs. David Graybill spent Sunday with the former's brother-in-law and sister, Prof. and Mrs. Sherman Good, at McClure.

Will you give aid in the fight against infantile paralysis and at the same time participate in an enjoyable evening in the Centre Hall-Potter high school, this Thursday evening, January 26?

Retail deliveries of Pontiac cars during the first ten days in January were 3,374, while during the same period of last year the delivery was 1,831. The delivery increase was 81 per cent.

The Senior Service class in the Lutheran Sunday school was entertained by Mrs. Paul Fetterolf, one of its members, on Thursday evening. The program of the evening was confined to the routine items, including the elegant refreshments.

Miss Margaret Jacobs and brother, W. L. Jacobs, on Tuesday of last week visited Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Gilliland, formerly of State College, at their home at 419 North Second Street, Harrisburg, and there met their brother, Guy W. Jacobs, who stopped off at Harrisburg on his way from New York to the South.

Rev. Earl Kline, aged about forty years, died Monday morning at the Hahnemann hospital, Philadelphia. Rev. Kline was pastor of the Reformed church in Sellersgrove. He was a native of Jonestown, Lebanon county, and a chum of Rev. D. R. Keener in College and Seminary in Lancaster. Rev. Keener will deliver the sermon at the funeral of his close friend.

Buck deer continue to disport themselves along the base of Nittany Mountain east of Centre Hall, the Rachau and Delaney fields and orchards appearing to be especially attractive feeding places. Bucks with wide spread of racks and well-nourished bodies are frequently sighted in the territory named and sections farther to the east along Old Nittany.

Out-of-town relatives of the late William B. Fiedler who attended his funeral were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Saxton of Millburg; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Leitzel, of Williamsport; Mrs. Katherine Mark and son Frank of Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mark and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mark and daughter Miriam of Spring Mills; Mr. and Mrs. Charley Carter of Aaronsburg; Mr. and Mrs. George Long and daughter Freda of Madisonburg; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Limbert of Rebersburg; Mrs. John Luse, Edna and Irwin Luse of State College.

James Foust, head mechanic in the Hagan garage, is nursing the index finger on each hand. On Friday forenoon the finger on the left hand was caught by a spring which ripped the flesh, and in the afternoon while pounding a piece of hard steel a spawl from it entered near the second joint, requiring a surgeon to remove it. The portion of steel was but the size of a grain of wheat, but required a lot of probing on the part of the surgeon and gritting of teeth by the garage mechanic before it was dislodged.

John J. Moser, Jr., and Mrs. Moser of Buffalo, N. Y., were in town on Friday and Saturday, guests at the Jacobs home. The couple stopped on their way to Cedar Springs cemetery, where the ashes of the former's father, John J. Moser, Sr., who died recently in Sacramento, Calif., were buried beside the resting place of his wife formerly Ada Mauck. Mr. Moser for more than twenty-five years has been employed with Swift & Co., at various places—the South, the west coast states, and mid-west. He is an interesting character, capable of relating his experiences in an instructive manner. Mrs. Moser, delicate in health, is a Wilkes-Barre lady.

The Clover Club, at its meeting on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. F. V. Goodhart, was almost a ringer for attendance, all members being present except Mrs. Carrie Lieb, who has been in Merchantville, N. J., since the middle of December. The prior meeting of the club held at the home of Mrs. W. Frank Bradford was also well attended. The organization has no project it is working on at this time, but is building up its finances by the collection of dues to be prepared for emergencies in the future. The serving of delicious refreshments at the meeting noted were in keeping with the record established since the organization was formed.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. John Hockman of Zion were guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Gardner Grove, Sunday.

Mrs. Laura Lee has been kept indoors and in bed much of the time during the past two weeks due to a severe cold.

Rev. and Mrs. W. K. Hosterman attended the Williamsport district Ministerium meeting held in Lock Haven on Tuesday, in the First Evangelical church.

Mrs. Russell Mark and small daughter Miriam, of Penns Cave, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mark and Mrs. Emma Emmerick.

Sunday's storm toppled the chimney on the I. O. O. F. building and left the Weis store without heat until Monday afternoon when the chimney was rebuilt.

John Gruenwald sold a carload of South Dakota horses on Tuesday at Vicksburg while his brother, William, held sale of a carload of horses at Centre Hall.

Roy M. Garbrick and son, Vern Garbrick, motored to Danville the latter part of last week where they visited with the latter's wife who is undergoing treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snook during the beginning of the week entertained Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hoffman and Mrs. Gerald Sprague of Johnsonburg. The former is a brother to Mrs. Snook.

Mrs. Annie Brooks, practical nurse, is taking care of Mrs. Ada Bloom, who has a broken arm, and is also giving attention to Miss Jennie Bartholomew, the charge Mrs. Bloom was interested in when she suffered the mishap.

The alumni association of the Centre Hall-Potter high school announce a dance in the high school building gymnasium for the evening of Friday, February 10. Detailed arrangements are not yet perfected, except to say there will be both round and square dancing.

W. Frank Bradford, David W. Bradford, Philip C. Bradford and Clyde E. Bradford will attend the funeral of their brother, Charles H. Bradford, in Pittsburgh, this Thursday afternoon. An account of the death appears in this issue under a proper head.

Guests of Miss Sallie Koehler, a member of the local high school faculty, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Homan, Mrs. James Muthers-Evelyn Koehler Mrs. James Muthers-Hugh, Mrs. Raymond Piper and Miss Harriet Koehler, all of Petersburg, and Miss Charlotte Hart of State College. The ladies attended the play given Saturday evening, directed by Miss Koehler.

Mrs. Orvis Smeltzer, living west of town in the McClenahan home, entertained the Helping Hand class in the Lutheran Sunday school on last Thursday evening, the time being the regular monthly meeting night. Mrs. Mary Stahl is the teacher. She is at present staying with her sons and daughter in Altoona, which has been her custom for the past few years during the winter months, consequently was not at the gathering.

A miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Paul Martz was given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brown Hackett, at their home along Sinking Creek, east of Centre Hill, on Thursday evening. The affair was largely attended and gifts presented were useful and in a number of instances expensive. The evening closed with the serving of refreshments. The bride was the former Etta Hackett. The couple are living in Centre Hall in an apartment in the James Fetterolf building.

Samuel Klinefelter of the Colyer district is recovering nicely following the removal of a large cyst on the scalp above the right ear. Mr. Klinefelter was in town on Monday, but wore a neatly constructed head bandage to protect the necessary incision.

In coming to the Gruenwald horse sale on Monday afternoon, a car operated by Jacob Sharer, Jr., with Charles Durst as a companion, skidded and turned over. None of the occupants was injured, and no great damage was done to the car.

Mrs. Tressie McClellan, on completing her visit with her sister, Mrs. Frank Long, in Washington, D. C., will resume her role as housekeeper for her father, D. Geiss Wagner, in Centre Hall. While she has not fully regained her physical strength following a major operation in the Lewistown hospital, she will be able to do light housework.

PHILANTHROPISTS GAVE

$79,866,100 IN YEAR 1938
Philanthropists in six of the nation's leading cities were not as free with their money last year as they were in 1937, but the total was still an impressive one—$79,866,209. This was $23,749,490 less than the 1937 total of $103,615,699. The John Price Jones Corporation, which keeps track of such things, said that New York City's philanthropists gave or bequeathed $25,124,066 less in publicly announced gifts to charitable purposes and were largely responsible for the decline. The records of Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, and Baltimore were generally favorable, despite small declines in Philadelphia and Baltimore. Total gifts in 1938 were $49,943,714 as against $67,581,236 in 1937, and bequests amounted to $29,922,495 compared with $36,034,463 in 1937.

FREE SCHOLARSHIPS AT WILSON COLLEGE FOR 1939

Establishment of five Wilson College Competitive Scholarships for freshmen entering Wilson in September, 1939, was announced by President Paul Swain Havens.

The scholarships will have a yearly value of $300 each and a potential value of $2,000 each, since they will be renewed throughout the four years of the college course if conduct and academic work are satisfactory. They are open to girls who without such assistance could not receive a college education, in any of the states in the Union.

Wilson will also continue to offer other scholarships of varying amounts, a number of them endowed by friends of the College, to entering students and to those already enrolled. They will be assigned on the basis of high scholastic standing and of need.

To-night (Thursday) the Celebration for the President's Birthday will be observed at Centre Hall at a party which promises to measure up to successful affairs of its kind in the past. The feature musical attraction is the Penn State Campus Owls, a highly touted group of musicians.

Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Park, former Centre Hall residents, now of Ashville, North Carolina, left late in December on the S. S. Amsterdam for Venezuela, South America. A card to that effect was received by relatives here. The doctor and Mrs. Park will be gone for nearly six months.
