Mrs. G. H. McCormick served a dinner on Sunday in honor of her husband's birthday. Those present were A. E. Mingle and family of Coburn, E. G. Mingle, Seymour Winkleblich of Aaronsburg, Robert McCormick of State College, Miss Isabel Bradford, Miss Laura Bele McCormick, Charles Jodon of Bellefonte, Miss Alberta Foust, Kenneth Mowery, James Burd, Mr. and Mrs. McCormick.

Miss Geraldine Hoover visited at the home of her parents in Altoona over the week-end.

The Ladies Aid is quilting at the Mrs. G. H. McCormick home this week.

The Kleckner Springs Rod and Gun Club below Woodward was one of seven cabins in Union county robbed during last week.

Deaths

J. W. MAYES, FORMER FARMER AND BUSINESS MAN

Following an operation three weeks ago for ulcers in the stomach at the Centre County hospital, J. Will Mayes, a prominent Howard township citizen, died on Tuesday afternoon.

While at his home Mr. Mayes became suddenly violently ill and in less than three hours was on the operating table. His condition continued serious except at occasional periods when hope was entertained for his recovery.

During the last week of his life hope for recovery was practically abandoned.

Mr. Mayes was engaged in farming during his early life and engaged in breeding and growing high grade cattle. He was also a business man of superior judgment and was personally popular with a large circle of acquaintances.

He is survived by a granddaughter, Susan Mayes Hoffman, eleven years old; also, by three sisters and four brothers.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at 2:00 p. m., and burial made at Howard. He was aged 67 years.

HECKMAN.—Clayton H. Heckman of Bellefonte, retired farmer, died on Sunday afternoon in the Centre County hospital of complications caused by a heart and kidney condition. Mr. Heckman, who lived all his life in Centre county, had not been well since five years ago, when he was struck by a car.

Mr. Heckman was born in Penna Valley February 19, 1873, a son of Daniel and Susan Reese Heckman. His wife, the former Elizabeth Handerson, survives with three children: F. O. Heckman of near Bellefonte; Mrs. Thomas Geary of Upper Darby; and Mrs. Wm. Howard of Bellefonte.

Mrs. J. F. Jones of Bellefonte; Mrs. Mattie Beezer of Bellefonte; and Mrs. C. G. Spicher of Wilkensburg are surviving sisters.

Interment was made in the Union cemetery, Bellefonte, Wednesday.

FREDERICKS.—Mrs. Edward Fredericks died at her home in Williamsport on Friday following a second stroke, the first occurring a year ago since which time she began failing. Her maiden name was Nellie Brown and she was born in Penna Valley.

Mrs. C. A. Reed, Mrs. R. E. Frey, and N. P. Brown, all of Williamsport, and Miss Elsie Brown of Newark, N. J., are surviving brothers and sisters. No children survive.

Burial was made in Wildwood cemetery Monday afternoon.

FUNK.—Daniel F. Funk, former highway foreman of Port Matilda, died suddenly Saturday night at his home of a heart attack suffered a short time before.

Mr. Funk was born at Port Matilda June 23, 1884, a son of Martin and Rachel Frantz Funk. May 29, 1913, he married Magie Crain, who survives with two children, Mrs. Mabel Fry of Port Matilda and Miss Dorothy, at home.

Mrs. Mary Miller, Mrs. Elsie Williams, John and Zee Funk, all of Tyrone, are surviving brothers and sisters.

Burial was made on Tuesday at Port Matilda.

NEFF.—Mrs. Alma M. Neff, 72, for 44 years a resident of Tyrone, removing there from Howard, where she was born and reared, died at Tyrone Sunday afternoon after a long illness. Prior to her marriage she was Alma M. Daughenbaugh. Surviving her are her husband, Robert Neff, and two sons, Wm. Neff, of Akron, Ohio, and Ernest Neff of Altoona.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Tyrone, and burial made in the Methodist cemetery at Howard. She was a member of the P. O. of A. and of the United Brethren church of Tyrone.

HUGHES.—George R. Hughes of Axemann, following an illness of several months' duration, died in the Centre County hospital on Thursday morning, following the amputation of a leg Friday previous.

Mr. Hughes had been employed in the Mann Axe works, Valentine iron furnace and stone quarries during his active days. He had attained his 54th year on March 3rd.

His parents were James and Mary Jane Rhoads Hughes. Three children, Mrs. Wm. Nighthart, Bellefonte; Mrs. Jacob Miller and Charles Hughes, both of Yeagertown, survive. One brother, and one sister, Harry Hughes of Yeagertown, and Mrs. William Hoover of Mingo, also survive.

CONFER.—A. Lincoln Confer, 78, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lee Rishel, at Loganton. He was a native and lifelong resident of Sugar Valley and for many years was a lumberman. When CCC camps were first established, he acted as foreman of the Loganton camp.

The sons and daughters surviving are Mrs. Ida Stables, Jersey Shore; Edward Confer, Auburn, N. Y.; John and Mrs. Edna Lowmiller, Williamsport, R. D.; Clayton, Loganton, R. D.; Mrs. Esther Kleser, Lock Haven, and Mrs. Rishel; also 43 grandchildren and more than 50 great-grandchildren. Three brothers and two sisters also survive the deceased.

STOVER.—Thomas A. Stover, former Centre county resident, died Sunday, 5th inst., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Stanley Conrad of Hollidaysburg of complications following a three months' illness. He was a retired employe of the P. R. R. of Altoona. Mr. Stover was born at Pine Grove Mills, May, 1867, a son of Jonah and Harriet Stover. His wife, the former Annie E. Lhne, died in October 1937. The following children survive: Harry R., Trenton, N. J.; Luther H. and Ralph B., Auburn, N. Y.; Louis J., New Bethlehem; Mrs. Roscoe Helman, Roaring Springs; Mrs. Clinton McLain, Mrs. Stanley Conrad, Mrs. Wilmer Delozier, Hollidaysburg, and Mrs. Margaret Crissman, at home. One brother, Frank Stover, of Altoona, and 13 grandchildren also survive.

STAMBACH.—Charles A. Stambach, a former resident of Aaronsburg, died at York, aged 73 years. He was a son of Rev. Elias Stambach, an Evangelical minister who filled the Aaronsburg charge. When a youth he became a cigar maker, and later upon going to York became a builder and contractor. Burial was made at York.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, five sons and three daughters. Also, one brother, Albert Stambach, of Lock Haven.

GHARET.—William Harvey Gharet, 82, died at his home at Greenburr, Sugar Valley, on Friday morning after an illness of complications.

A native and lifelong resident of Sugar Valley, he had been engaged in farming there until his retirement. He was a member of the Greenburr Evangelical church.

Surviving are three sons and one daughter: Samuel M., of Logan Mills; Robert L., of Millfinburg; Frederick W., of State College, and Mrs. Thomas W. Weber, of Altoona; five grandchildren, two brothers and one sister, Milford, of Signet, O.; Charles of Sallona, and Mrs. Michael Miller of Charlton. Interment was made at Greenburr.

MATTERN.—Miss Isabel Gray Matern of Half Moon township died in the Centre County hospital on Sunday afternoon. She was the daughter of Mrs. Bella M. Matern whose death occurred within the past ten days.

She was a teacher by profession and was among the women to early enter Penn State College.

Two brothers, Eugen, at home, and Harold, New York City, survive her. Funeral services will be held and burial made in Gray's cemetery today (Thursday) at 2:30 o'clock.

HOUTZ.—Mrs. Sarah A. Houtz, 65 years of age, died on Sunday in the Centre County hospital of complications. She was a daughter of Ira and Anna Wertz Lytle and was born at Houseville. Her husband, George J. Houtz, of Lemont, survives, as do also these brothers and sisters: John and Alfred Lytle of State College; Emanuel Lytle of the state of Washington; Mrs. Russell Schreffler of Lemont, and Mrs. Annie Rosenberger of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon and burial made at Houseville.

57 I. O. O. F. MEMBERS SIT AT ANNUAL BANQUET

The local lodge of Odd Fellows held their annual banquet in Grange Arcadia on Friday evening, and around the table were seated fifty-seven banqueters, who to the utmost enjoyed the roast pork dinner served by the ladies of Progress Grange. V. A. Auman acted as master of ceremonies. The evening was spent in playing games, mostly 500. Music was furnished by Prof. Albert Hobbs, which included several vocal selections. Mr. Hobbs will be remembered as the leader of the band who furnished music for last year's Memorial Day exercises and festival.

The local Odd Fellows organization, having its beginning early in the seventies, is prosperous, and is careful to follow the precepts taught by it.

A registered Holstein from the herd of A. C. Silfer, of Lewisburg, R. D., will be one of two cows from Pennsylvania among 30 which have been selected in the Eastern States for display in the dairy building at the New York World's Fair this summer.

Centre county's representative in the State Legislature has made request for $36,000 with which to carry on the Centre County hospital for the 1939-41 biennium. This sum is $6,300 more than that granted by the Earle Administration for the past two years. How much will be realized on this request of $36,000 is of course much of a question at this time.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College

No Sleeping Sickness—Although no cases of sleeping sickness in horses have been reported in Pennsylvania, extension specialists at the Pennsylvania State College recommend that farmers be on their guard. Good care, adequate feeding, protection against bloodsucking insects, have helped reduce the number of cases where the disease existed.

Growing Christmas Trees—Before a farmer decides to grow Christmas trees as a crop, he should carefully study the marketing and cultural practices involved, recommend Penn State forestry specialists.

Proper Culture Pays—When farm land is kept in a high state of fertility by following proper cultural practices, losses of rice, top-soil from erosion are lessened, say Penn State extension specialists in agronomy. Strip farming affords further protection.

Name the Farm—A farm without a name is a farm without identity, claim Penn State specialists. Names aid in distinguishing farms as surely as they serve in recognizing individuals. Giving a farm a well-chosen name is one of the first steps in placing it on a business basis.

Rhubarb Is Improved—Since 1915, plant breeders at the Pennsylvania State College have been working on the development of several improved varieties of rhubarb. Crowns of their best varieties will be made available to the public this spring.

Bee wax Aids Beauty—According to bee specialists at Penn State, more than a million pounds of beeswax are used annually in the manufacture of beauty aids, making it a much larger industry than is commonly realized.

A. E. Barges of Millheim, Ill for a few months, is not improving.

DEATHS.

J. M. Ward, 70, in Bellefonte, a former manager of the Haines shoe store in that place. He came to Centre county from North Carolina.
