STATE COMPENSATION ACT REVISED DOWNWARD

The revised State Compensation Act as passed by the 1939 legislature became a law with the signature of the governor a few days ago.

In every instance where a change of rates was made it was made in favor of the employer and to the detriment of the men employed.

The Act will: 1. Reduce benefits available for injuries and accidental deaths to workmen and their dependents, scaling down the 1937 amendments to the original workmen's compensation act.

2. Give Pennsylvania workmen a new occupational disease compensation law, repealing the existing benefit law which has been in operation since its enactment in 1947.

3. Exempt volunteer firemen from the benefits of workmen's compensation.

4. Exempt domestic and agricultural employees from the benefits of workmen's compensation.

The Act retains the $18 minimum weekly compensation for total disability which the previous legislature boosted to $2. The $12 minimum was cut to $9, but an "absolute

Former Field Worker, State Bureau of Markets, Now Associated with Kerlin Poultry Farm

Homer J. Bickler, a native of Lebanon County, Pa., has assumed peculiar duties with the Kerlin Poultry Farm as Supervisor of flocks and breeder selection work.

Mr. Bickler has wide poultry experience, having selected close to a quarter million breeders for Pennsylvania poultrymen who connected with the Bureau of Markets, Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, Pa., is a graduate of the Pennsylvania State College with the degree of Bachelor of Science and during his four years' training at "Penn. State" he has studied courses in Poultry Breeding, Marketing, Judging and Genetics, Farm Management, Diseases and Nutrition, also Agronomy, Dairy Husbandry, Agricultural Engineering, Botany, Zoology, Genetics and Agricultural Chemistry.

In addition to his duties on the Kerlin Farm in supervising the breeding, trap-netting, pregnancy testing, etc., Mr. Bickler will at all times be at the service of the farmers and poultry raisers in this section of the County.

In securing the services of this man it is the desire of Mr. Kerlin that he be given every opportunity on the farms to assist in developing better Leghorns—better layers of bigger and better eggs—resulting in GREATER PROFITS to each poultry raiser.

To all poultry raisers supplying the Kerlin Farm with eggs during the hatching season Mr. Bickler's services are absolutely FREE! This same free service likewise applies to any poultry raisers who wish, within the next year, to arrange to supply Leghorn eggs to the Kerlin Farm. Mr. Bickler hopes to call upon each farmer as quickly as possible but if you have a poultry problem, request his service NOW. Just phone "62 Centre Hall."

The jury of eleven Republicans and one Democrat returned a verdict of guilty on two counts against Roy E. Brownmiller, former State Highway Secretary. The specific charges were malfeasance and nonfeasance in office in the "misuse and waste" of more than $600,000 of highway funds. An appeal will be made for a new trial and if that is denied the verdict will be appealed.

Philadelphia politicians are aiming to capture the two major political party conventions booked for 1940.

Several attractive and convenient over-night cabins were recently erected on the brow of Nittany mountain, close to the Koffe shoppe conducted by M. E. Coldron.

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College

Look Out for Rose "Slugs"—Slugs or sawflies should not be confused with small slugs, remind extension entomologists with the Pennsylvania State College. Small slugs are not insects. Rose "slugs" may cause considerable damage to plants and can be controlled by spraying the bushes with arsenate of lead.

Mange Cuts Swine Profits—Mange bugs usually make unsatisfactory growth, and if they do reach marketable size, buyers will discount them because they produce undesirable carcasses, claim Penn State's livestock extension specialists. Mange is caused by a mite which burrows into the skin. The mites can be controlled.

Thinning Improves Peaches—Quality of the peach crop can be improved by thinning the fruit at the time of the June drop, extension fruit specialists at Penn State have found. Four-inch spacing between fruits is desirable.

Treatment Lessens Smut Damage—Penn State extension agronomists have found that the use of treated seed practically eliminates covered smut in barley. During the period that the test was made, infection in comparable fields ranged from 10 to 40 per cent.

Roosts Important for Poultry—For growing strong healthy pullets, ample roosting space is an essential, extension poultrymen at Penn State claim. Birds not trained to use roosts tend to crowd in corners at night, a condition conducive to the spread of disease.

Woodlot Responds to Care—The farm woodlot is a crop capable of reproducing itself indefinitely, Penn State extension foresters maintain. To be profitable, it requires regular treatment similar to that required for the production of corn.

(Continued from previous column) minimum of $5 a week was fixed for injured workmen whose earnings under the compensation formula were less than $9 weekly.

LANDSCAPING PICTURES FOR SAT. EV'G GRANGE MEETING

County Agent Blaney, during the lecture hour of Progress Grange on Saturday evening will show pictures of landscaping and beautifying of the home, and many views of special interest to those living in rural homes. It is urged the meeting be attended by as many as can possibly do so.

The large barn on the William Weiser farm, west of Port Matilda, was burned Saturday evening at 9:00 o'clock. A team of horses, bull, calf, 50 chickens were included in the loss. The origin of the fire is unknown.
