P. G. M. PLAYS SNAPPY GAME; TAKE US OVER, 4-1

Our personal nomination for the best baseball club in the Tri-Valley League is Pine Grove Mills. We make this statement not that we love our home team less, but that we love the truth more.

Anyone who saw the Pine Grove Mills team trounce our local lad, on Saturday afternoon on the high school field must admit their superiority. This superiority lies in a masterful pitching staff and youth fired with the ambition to win. In Foster and Harpster, Pine Grove has two of the speediest and classiest curve artists in the league.

Saturday's game was lost by Centre Hall strictly through their inability to solve Foster's pitching. The locals' best batsmen looked foolish going after "Ham's" outshoots as they zipped over the corners of the plate.

Foster permitted only three hits, while Peter Martz permitted nine safe blows. The score: Pine Grove Mills, 4; Centre Hall, 1.

FAIR AND COOLER Weather at Home. A new type of portable air conditioner that fits easily into a room window and cools and conditions the air, wrings the moisture out of it, filters out dust and dirt, gives even ventilation and shuts out disturbing noises. One of these would make your living room a haven of rest on a hot summer day.

By Louise Brown THE weather is something we always have with us—and until the comparatively recent advancements in air conditioning there wasn't much we could do about it. On hot, sultry days folks used to languidly wave palm leaf fans and drink lemonade, and if they were lucky they went to the mountains for the summer. The mountains won't come to us, but nowadays we can have pure invigorating mountain air brought right into our homes by means of air conditioning equipment. New Room Coolers If complete air conditioning for the whole house is out of the question, there are a number of types of portable summer air conditioners on the market, some of which are as simple to install as a radio and cost surprisingly little. These are easy to operate—you just press a button and there's your conditioned air. Portable room coolers are quiet and use very little electric current to operate—not any more than it would take to run a toaster. If you are spending most of the summer at home, why not look into the possibilities of summer conditioning? By the way, if you visit the World's Fair this summer, you may be comfortable no matter how the thermometer soars. Many of the major buildings will be air conditioned to give a pleasant climate indoors no matter what the weather is outside.
