SUMMER

You may talk about the autumn, the winter and the spring. We know these seasons all are very fine; But the luscious fruit, the grain and the flowers in bloom Come mostly in the good old summer time. It is then that birds as they chirp at early dawn And flit so gayly on the grass so green, To gather food for hungry mouths that patiently await, Plucked from the earth, their young have never seen. It is summer, the children try to crowd in one short day The fascinating games so long withheld; For while in school their little heads with learning must be filled While childish pleasures from their thoughts dispelled. So cast your eyes at yonder plain, at fields of waving grain, And rows of corn, like sentinels they stand, With their green, full-grown stalks and their silky tasseled ears What more beauty could be seen in our land. So make the most of every day, as each one shorter grows, For we're drifting toward the Autumn of our lives, When nothing counts but kindly deeds wrought in these hearts of ours Be it winter, spring or glamorous summer time. —Mrs. W. J. Hackenberg, Rebersburg, Pa.

WHEN DAY IS DONE

The sun is setting and I'm so glad I've worked so hard today Keeping the cattle and tilling the soil With hardly, if any, pay. I want to see those welcoming lights Shining from the windows at home, The little family I love so well From whom I'll never roam. We'll all play games together Or may be we'll even sing; I guess I haven't much money, But in happiness I'm rich as a king. And then we'll kneel before our beds And thank our God for the things Like helpful guidance in all we do That only God can bring. —Mildred White, Axemann, Pa.

POTTERS MILLS

Burton Fetterolf of near Bellefonte visited on Sunday at the J. M. Carlson home. Chal Vroman and lady friend, Miss Amelia Copenhaver of Philadelphia visited over the week-end at the H. E. Faust home. Charles Bible, youngest son of J. R. Bible former resident of this locality, now employed at Louisville, Ky., called at the G. H. McCormick home on Friday. J. M. Blausner and wife, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Palmer, visited their son, Henry and family, in York county, on Sunday. Mrs. Jesse McClenahan, who is employed at State College, took supper Sunday evening at the E. B. Palmer home. John Gahoe, wife (nee Maude Parkes) of Altoona called on friends Sunday afternoon. The Sprucetown M. E. Sunday school picnic held at Woodard Cave on Saturday was a decided success. One hundred surrounded the heavily laden table at the noon hour.

Deaths

KRISE.—Perry Krise died Wednesday afternoon at the home of his son-in-law, Harvey Decker, at Pleasant Gap, after a long illness. During the latter years of his active life he was employed at Whitecroft quarries. Earlier in life he engaged in farming in Krise Valley, Seven Mountains, and later conducted the Spring Mills hotel. Mr. Krise was born 79 years ago last October 8 at the Old Krise home on Nittany Mountain, a son of Jonathan and Lydia Wingard Krise. His wife, the former Rosetta Kennelly, died a number of years ago. One daughter, Mrs. Harvey Decker of Pleasant Gap, and nine grandchildren survive. Mr. Krise, the last member of his family, belonged to the Pleasant Gap Methodist church. Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon from the Decker home and later at the Methodist church. Interment was made at Pleasant Gap.

WEAVER.—Miss Ella Belle Weaver died at her home in Bellefonte Monday morning, just 15 days after the death of her sister, Miss Carrie Weaver. In her late 70's, she has been bedfast for the past two years and under the care of a nurse for the past ten months. Both she and her sister, Miss Ida, sightless for some years, were dependent on their sister, Miss Carrie, veteran Bellefonte school teacher, who died recently while sitting by the bedside of Miss Ella Belle. Miss Weaver was the daughter of the late David and Susanna Bridge Weaver, and was born at the Weaver homestead about three miles east of Bellefonte on the Jacksonville road. Surviving are a sister, Miss Ida, a brother, Henry, of Pittsburgh, and a niece, Mrs. Emory Wolf, Pittsburgh. For more than 40 years Miss Weaver acted as stenographer to the late Judge Ellis L. Orvis of Bellefonte.

GRAMLEY.—Mrs. Almira Gramley, relict of Levi Clair Gramley, died at the home of her son, Henry, Aaronsburg, R. D., following an extended illness of a complication of diseases. Deceased was a daughter of Henry W. and Amanda (Wolf) Wolf and was born in Miles township, August 15, 1872, hence was aged 66 years, 11 months and 21 days. She was married in 1894 to L. Clair Gramley, who passed to his reward a number of years ago. Surviving, however, are a son, Henry of Aaronsburg, and three daughters: Mrs. Chester Summers of Tyrone; Miss Mildred Gramley of Reading; and Mrs. Elizabeth Logerot of Denver, Colo. Also surviving is a brother, Adam Wolfe, of Rebersburg. Burial was made in the Evangelical cemetery, Rebersburg, Wednesday of last week. Rev. Houseal officiating.

WILLIAMS.—Horatio S. "Rash" Williams, a Bellefonte paper-hanger, died Sunday night. Mr. Williams, who had been suffering from asthma for a number of years, was the son of the late Samuel H. Williams, former Bellefonte postmaster, who conducted a paper hanging and painting business in Bellefonte since 1865. Brothers and sister surviving are J. Harry, Mrs. A. L. McGinley of Bellefonte, and Willis of State College.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL The descendants of Henry and Mary Ann Moyer Smith held at reunion at Locust Park, Seven Mountains, on Wednesday. Mrs. Ray Sharer, who underwent a surgical operation in the Centre County hospital, is improving nicely and expects to leave the hospital in a few days. Mrs. Charles E. Saunders of Juniata was a week-end guest at the home of her cousin, Mrs. John Treaster. Mrs. Saunders is a daughter of the late W. W. Royer of Centre Hill. The second death resulted from the wrecked truck stranded with twenty-six persons from the Ocoala section, when Walter Sokolowsky, 24, died in the Phillipsburg hospital on Monday. Wilbur H. Henney has been in ill health for the past several weeks. He is suffering from hemorrhages at the nose and requires frequent attention at hands of a physician. Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wert, Jr., on Wednesday of last week left here on a motor pleasure trip that took them to Niagara Falls, from there into Canada and back to Cleveland. They returned home Sunday very much delighted with the outing. A daughter, Ruth Annette, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Taylor, near Ashbury Park, N. J. The mother was Susan Anna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Heckman, formerly of Potter township and Centre Hall. She is the first grandchild of the Heckmans. Mrs. Joe Slenker was chaperon for a small company of children for a few days at the Slack hunting camp, Seven Mountains. The children were Chickie Goodhart, Ruth Spyster, Isabel Emery, Marjorie Emery, Martha Spyster, Frances June Slenker, Mary Ann Slenker, Patricia Bressler. Malcolm D. Fleming, reared in Centre Hall, now a merchant tailor in Spokane, Washington, sent The Reporter a section of the Spokane Daily Chronicle, illustrating the method of harvesting wheat in the Inland Empire. Giant combines are used. An occasional one is driven by horsepower—20 horses to a machine—but the tractor is becoming almost universal. The combine in the Washington wheat field would make the combine used in Penna Valley appear like an Austin.

C. H. AND P. G. M. TIE 6-6 IN NIP-AND-TUCK GAME

Centre Hall and Pine Grove Mills battled through seven hectic innings last Thursday, on the local baseball diamond, and all for naught. The game ended in a 6-6 tie, and local fans were thankful for that, since the opening frame of the battle had all the earmarks of a dog-gone good pickling, what with P. G. M. slugging Harold Durst around like an old shoe in the initial inning and piling up five runs before we could catch our breath. Filling the bases, on three hits from the scratch to the legitimate variety of bingles, Wrigley steps up and socks one to deep center to clean the sacks. The bombarding did not stop there, and after another tally, pitcher Durst figured the sun, and not he, was to shine, so retired in favor of George Martz, whose pitching, in light of the final score, would indicate that the game would have been put away in the old bag by the home team had George started. Boots Knarr and Chick Goodhart's hitting helped to save the day and end the game in a stalemate.

LOCALS KNOCK FOSTER FROM BOX—WIN GAME 6 TO 1

The play-off game between Pine Grove Mills and Centre Hall on Tuesday evening, on the local field, was one worthy of champions, and the home team put on its best show, defeating the classy Pine Grove team 6 to 1 in seven innings. Needing the game badly to remain in the lead, Foster, who had only a few days previous turned back the strong Pleasant Gap team, was sent in to do the trick again. But like in the table, the pitcher went to the well once too often, and was broken, for Foster's offerings were duck soup to the local batters, who by scoring four times in the second inning on heavy clouting by Knarr, Rimney, Bradford, Peter Martz and Fetterolf, knocked "Ham" from the box. Harpster, in relief role, fared some better. The locals collected eleven hits, while Peter Martz had the Indian sign on the visitors, especially Wrigley, and four hits was they best they could gather in the game. Three-base hits by Bruce Knarr and Peter Martz did heavy damage, and on the defense, the palm goes to young George Martz, at short stop, who picked em up and threw 'em out in veteran style. Some of his assists were spectacular.

Centre Hall 17; Lemont, 4

Centre Hall administered a crushing defeat to Lemont, on Saturday, by a 17-4 score. The big inning was the 7th, when Lemont collapsed and permitted the locals to cross the plate for 12 runs. Centre Hall had 16 hits off Whitehill and Korman; Durst allowed 12, well scattered.
