A COLLECTION OF NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND PERSONALS FROM GREGG TWP.'S METROPOLIS.

Gregg Vocational Booths Attractive - The various booths at the Grange Encampment and Fair erected by students in Gregg Vocational, were attractive and elicited much favorable comment.

The exhibits in the "Education" building were much less cluttered up this year than in former years. The booths and exhibits of the greater importance were allotted sufficient space to make them attractive and bring out their superiority.

Local Girls in "Milkmaid" Contest - While neither the first nor second prize in the Sheffield Farms Co. "Milkmaid" contest at the Grange Fair were won by Spring Mills girls, they nevertheless made valuable contributions to the exhibit.

Wagner Reunion at Unionville - The descendants of John and Phoebe (Arday) Wagner, deceased, of Martha, held their fourteenth annual reunion at Reservoir Park, Tyrone, Byron Richards was re-elected president and Ethel Richards, secretary-treasurer. Three letters written prior to and during the Civil War were read. One was by Mrs. Mary Shreffler Wagner to her son, John D. Wagner, the head of the reunion family, to come home to Martha and establish a home for her. This he did, opening a wagon-maker's shop. Mr. Wagner was a Civil War veteran. Attending the reunion from Spring Mills were Mrs. Annie Smith, a daughter of John D. Wagner, and her daughter, Mrs. Guy Corman.
