CONDEMN NEW WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

The Pennsylvania Medical Society during the week of October 2nd condemned the Workmen's Compensation Act passed this year. Excerpts from their statement follow:

"We now return to the place where a broken finger is entitled to the same amount of medical care as a broken back."

"Under the act at present the physicians of the Commonwealth are deprived of things for which we have striven for years; the workers are deprived of certain rights which the interests of simple justice demand and which an enlightened commonwealth has the right to expect."

"The act as it now stands returns Pennsylvania to the place where its compensation laws compare, and not too favorably, with the most backward of the so-called backward states."

TELEPHONE SAVES BURNING BARN

"My barn caught on fire last week. It was late at night, nobody was around, and I had to get help quick. So I grabbed my 'phone and inside of a few minutes I had all my neighbors here, working like beavers. We soon had the fire out and the barn was saved. Lucky for me that I had a telephone or it would have been good-bye barn."
