Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Goodhart visited Sunday with their parents in Johnstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Potter and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Elder in Tyrone.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Rickert spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Weaver in Lemont.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Benner spent several days the past week with the J. Walter McKinney family in Tyrone.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Breen of Centre Hall in the Centre County hospital, Tuesday morning. The mother is the former Roberta Smith.

In fairness to the youth of Centre Hall it must be said they conducted themselves like gentlemen on the night of Halloween. Only innocent pranks were engaged in.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McCormick, accompanied by Prof. and Mrs. J. F. Wetzel attended the dedication exercises of the new high school building at Philipsburg, Thursday evening.

Gate receipts at the Women's Club dance Friday night approximated $70 and although some of the bills are not yet paid, the profits will likely exceed $50.00.

Lois Arney and Jane Spyer are captains and Mary Neff, general manager, in the Crowell Publishing Co. magazine campaign conducted by the senior class of the C. H. P. H. S.

The bungalow in the hotel block recently remodeled by William Luse will be occupied after Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wetzel and Shirley Wetzel.

The Ministerial Male Chorus of the Central Penna. Conference of the Evangelical Church sang at the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the church in Bellefonte.

John Miller of Howard was the victim of a motorcycle accident Sunday. He was taken to the Centre County hospital with a fractured ankle but was discharged after the fracture was reduced.

After the rat extermination project at the Bradford mill over the weekend, thirty or more rats were found dead in the building and more were believed to be asphyxiated in the walls and beneath the floors.

Approximately $175 was cleared at hospital rummage sale in Bellefonte last Thursday. Mrs. Mary Fauble of the Women's Auxiliary expressed appreciation for the numerous contributions from the valley.

John Noll and Miss Virginia Thomas, both of Bellefonte, were injured when their car hit a fence post on the Jacksonville road, Saturday night. Mr. Noll has an eye injury and Miss Thomas, brush burns and scalp lacerations.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kittleberger and daughter Louise spent Sunday at the Bartholomew home. A son, William W. Kittleberger, wife and two small children, from Palmerton, were visitors here for a few hours in the afternoon.

The condition of S. W. Smith of Centre Hall, surgical patient in the Lewistown hospital, has been rather encouraging during the past week. On Tuesday, dressing of the incision weakened him greatly, but several days prior he was cheerful.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Taylor of Yoe, York county, stopped in Centre Hall on Sunday to visit friends. They had been to their hunting camp in Sullivan county and on coming here went to the Slack hunting camp. Mr. Taylor is a member of the local hunting club.

Members of Robert Bradford's Sunday school class of the Reformed church entertained guests at a Halloween party in the social room of the church Monday evening. Twenty young people attended. Fernie Hanna and Betty Lou Sweeney won the prize for the best dressed; Billy Rees, for the funniest costume; and Donald Ross for the one guessed last.

Betty Lou Sweeney was hostess to her grade school and Sunday school classmates and other friends at a Halloween party at her home Saturday night. The guests were: Jean Bartholomew, Betty Bowersox, Beulah Bradford, Gloria Brooks, Ruth and Thelma Burris, Bernadine Coble, Dorothy Crader, Wilma Emerick, Marjorie Emery, Miriam Foust, Shirley Garbrick, Fern Hanna, Betty Johnson, Marlan Michael, Eleanor Potter, Janet Runkle, Mary and Geraldine Smeltzer, Margaret and Helen Smith, Margaret Spotts, Ruth Spyer, Clara Lou Wetzel, and Teddy White. FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from The Penn'a State College School of Agriculture

Watch Out for Cannibalism—By giving their birds access to a hopper of oats, picking and feather pulling largely can be prevented, claim poultry specialists at the Pennsylvania State College. In severe cases, it may be necessary to attach an anti-picking device.

Tomatoes for 1940—It is best not to grow tomatoes on the same ground successive years, vegetable experts at Penn State have found. Rotation reduces disease and insect problems and makes possible the growth of crops for soil improvement.

Ventilating the Laying House—Crowding and inadequate ventilation frequently are the cause of colds in newlyhoused birds, remind Penn State poultry experts. Training them to use roots will eliminate many future problems that would result from crowding.

Growing Hyacinths Indoors—To grow hyacinths successfully, fill the bowls with water one inch below the bulb, suggest flower specialists at Penn State. The water must be changed weekly. Keep the bulbs shaded until the root systems have developed.

Feeding Bees in Fall—Penn State's bee specialists remind that bees in a one-story hive will consume over winter approximately ten pounds of sugar in the form of a thick syrup. Well fed bees will go through the winter in a healthier condition than poorly fed colonies.

Late Grazing Injures Pastures—Pastures grazed closely so late in the season that they have no chance to recover may suffer severely during the winter, warn Penn State extension agronomists. Just as alfalfa and clover suffer from too late clipping so do pasture grasses and clovers suffer from too late grazing.

RE-ELECT BOND C. WHITE AS PROTHONOTARY

Records Warrant Confidence of All Voters

Your present Prothonotary should be re-elected to a second term, not only because of precedent but because he has kept his promise made four years ago to "conduct the office in a honest, efficient, courteous, impartial and business-like manner, applying the same rigid economy that has made him the rugged individual that his record shows him to be."

BOND C. WHITE

The records show that Mr. White is the first Prothonotary of Centre county who ever shared the fees earned by the office with the taxpayers of the county. He has paid into the County Treasury for use by the county the sum of $281.87. In 1937-1938 he was elected vice-president of the state organization of Prothonotaries, and in 1938-1939 he was their President. That action by the Prothonotaries of the sixty-seven counties of Pennsylvania attests to the fact that Mr. White is recognized throughout the entire state of Pennsylvania by people who are thoroughly competent to appraise him on his merits, as an outstanding Prothonotary.

The voters of Centre County will make no mistake in re-electing Bond C. White their Prothonotary.

NEW COUNTY HOME AND TAX MILLAGE

The following figures show the increase of millage in the Penna Valley section effective when the present Board of Commissioners took over the Poor Districts. In addition there was added to the bonded indebtedness of the county the sum of $127,000 for the construction of the County Home.

Centre Hall boro—1936-37, 3 mills; 1937-38, 5 mills.

STATE COLLEGE BOROUGH HAS SERIOUS WATER TROUBLE

Branding the State College borough water supply as not fit to drink since the serious water shortage resulting from the summer and fall drought, Wilbur E. Leitzell, Burgess of State College, has named a committee to study the college town water problem.

The State College water situation has become so acute there that the town has been forced to purchase water from the Pennsylvania State College's water sources. Last week State College borough purchased over 600,000 gallons from the college. This week so far over 400,000 gallons of water have been pumped from the college supply into the town's mains.

The water situation in the college town became more acute last week when the water company there was able to meet only one-third of the town's water demands.

Burgess Leitzell has recommended that a new well be drilled. Scouting wells be investigated for a source of water and the town's reservoir and water shed be improved.

Constipated?

"For years I had occasional constipation, awful gas-bloating, headaches and back pains. Adlerika always helped right away. Now, I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want. Never felt better." Mrs. Mabel Schott.
