year but for several years,—the corn on that most vigorous, to suffer the least from cutworm and insect pests, and by a combination of these and other favorable circumstances, will yield the best crop and least unsound corn. ploughing carefully plough a small amount of their "corn-stalk" ground after the corn is off, and after throwing it into high narrow ridges leave it undisturbed all winter, and in the spring re-plough it or simply harrow down the ridges, -and after ploughing a like amount of the undisturbed ground -alongside plant both with potatoes, and carefully and accurately note the result;having a pair of Fairbank's coal-scales convenient, I find they obivate the necessity for the usual plan of guessing at such results.

Nor is the increase in the crop all the advantage gained—for the farm teams are usually in good order for work in the fall, and All will be said at the lowest living profits. Buyers, from town and country, are invited to call and though the days are short, yet they are cool; and I have found that I can accomplish as much as when the days are longer and When done in the fall we get entirely clear of the usual "rush" of spring work, and are able to give more attention to preparing the ground and planting the crop. As the question of the relative Advantages of fall and spring ploughing for our vince of the Experimental Farm, I hope we will hear of its trial there and have a definite result, which will have more weight than if from a private individual who is on-PRACTICAL FARMER.

BRAN FOR HORSES, -Bran for horses find an excellent antidote to the constipating effects of corn meal. It is a regulator, Horses fed through the winter upon fine feed are liable to sickness in the spring .-feed are liable to sickness in the spring.— ment which he is setting chang. He also manufact this I avoid by feeding bran with meal, as it loosens the bowels. When the bowels are too loose, I feed upon meal alone to correct it. Suiphur is given by some, to cleanse out the system in the spring; but not approving the use of drugs—considering them more or less as poisons—1 contrive to avoid them, believing no horse the better for taking them.-Practical Farmer.

[Answering the same purpose as bran, referred to by our correspondent above, we would also recommend for horses the occasional use of carrots. They keep the coat in fine condition through the winter, and aid digestion of other food.-Editor of OATS. - Oats are, of course, a most important article in stable management; and GENTLEMEN, LADIES & CHILthese, as everything a horse cats, ought to be of the finest quality. It may be thought that the weight of oats is not a matter of Consisting of Calf & Kip Boots great consequence, nor, in fact, is it to cart or common horse; but it is quite the reverse to such as we are particular about as to stamina, wind and condition. Horses are generally fed by measure, not by weight; of BOOLS AND SHOES, the work being made up of best materials and by first class workmen. The senior partner has been in the business for over 16 meal, giving him husks instead; and if we mean the principle of the principle of the principle of the principle and the principle of the principle and the principle and the principle of the principle and that a pound of feathers and a pound of lead are both a pound, the principle would the a very bad one as regards oats; for in that case, though the horse gets his pound weight, if he gets an undue portion of it in husks he is only filled with that which is no use to him; so in every way light oats are had for choice horses.

Early Rose Potatoga.—There is a gen-gral agreement in all sections about the challess and productiveness of this potato. John Palmer, in this vicinity and not far from Media, Delaware county, planted eleven pounds and gathered ten bushels of fur. potatoes, some of them carra. Two specimens weighs 14 line and adversaria pecimens weighs 11 lbs. each, and several We have seen nowhere else so large over, and then ploughed, the sets being drisped in furroughs three feet apart and eighteen inches in the row. So extraordinary sykid as this, without any appearance of so of disease, speaks well for the Early Hose, and is a confirmation of accounts elso where.
