THE FATAL ARROW.

BY ALICE CARY.

My father had a fair-haired boy named Ned, who was a favorite of mine. He was a handsome, lively fellow, and was very popular among the boys of the town.

One day he was out for a walk, and he saw a large crowd of people gathered around a building. He went to see what was the matter, and he found that a man had been killed.

The man was a stranger to the town, and he had been shot by an arrow. The arrow was found in his back, and it was a fatal wound.
