GETTYSBURG, PA., FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1869.:

THE SPIRIT QUENCHED. BY REV. DR. J. W. ALEXANDER, N. Y. There is a time, we know not when, A point, we know not where. That marks the destiny of men

To glory or despair. There is a line, by us unseen That crosses every path : The hidden boundary between God's patience and his wrath. To pass that limit is to die,-

To die as if by stealth: It does not quench the beaming eye, Or pale the glow of health. The conscience may be still at ease. The spirit light and gay; That which is pleasing still may please,

And care be thrust away. But on that forehead God has set Indelibly a mark, Unseen by man-for man as yet Is blind and in the dark

And yet the doomed man's path below May bloom, as Eden bloomed : He dld not, does not, will not know. Or feel that he is doomed. He knows, he feels, that all is well, And every fear is calmed;

He lives, he dies-he wakes in hell.

Not only doomed, but damned.

O. where is this mysterious bourn. By which our path is crossed? Beyond which, God bimself beah sworn, That he who goes is lost. How far may we go on in sin? How long will God forbear?

Where does hope end, and where begin The confines of despair? An answer from the skies is sent: "Ye that from God depart, While it is called to-day, repent And harden not your heart."
