But, O Lord, remember that all our hearts yet bleed for them. Remember those whose homes are poorer since they died. May they be cheered in recollecting that their whole land is richer. O Lord, bless those fathers whose sons lie buried here, and mothers into whose hearts the sword entered more deeply than into theirs who were Blain thereby. Remember the orphan children of those that are silent here; and we be seech of Thee that wherever they are, and under whatsoever circumstances surrounded, they may feel not only the sympathy and good-will of their fellow-citizens, but in an eminent degree may Thy providence smile upon them. May the soldiers' children never prove unworthy of their fathers' fame : may they grow up into true heroism and love of their native land, and, as did their fathers, let them be willing to shed their blood, to lay down their lives, for the sake of their country. Let Thy blessing, O Lord, rest upon Thy servant who comcivilized countries it is the usage to bury courage to assault, and to resist.
