GROWTH OF LIBERTY IN ENGLAND. The American Revolution was also English revolution. The struggle for liber ty here reacted moon England, has gone brward there continuelly, and is supage io day than ever. One reform has spicceed d another. The basis of suffrage has been widened from time to time, and has always been followed by an extension of the rights privileges, and prosperity of the people.-The institutions of England have become more liberal, just, and beneficent as the reer number of men admitted to a voice in the government. Recently we have seen a new extension of the franchise followed almost immediately by a movement for the disestablishment of the Irish Church. The Irish Church establishment, though profes sedly in the interests of Protestantiam, is not sustained or justified by the Protestant world, and the Protestant masses of Eng land are demanding its repeal. The dises tablishment bill has passed the House of Commons, but the Lords threaten to reject it or destroy it by modifications. It may sacrifice itself, but it cannot thereby preserve the Irish establishment. The House of Lords is tolerated only upon the condition that it will ratify the action of the Commons, and will give its formal assent to all political power, and will not be permitted obstruct the wishes of the people. Should it be rash enough to reject the disestablishment bill, it will at once inaugurate Such a movement cannot, perhaps, be long deferred anyhow. Another reform bill will soon be demanded, making suffrage the destruction of hereditary privileges. universal, or nearly so, to be followed by the disestablishment of the English Church the abolition of the laws of primogeniture and the final destruction of the kingly office. The mass of the English people are substantially, though not professedly, republican in sentiment. They accept the great doctrine of human rights upon which our government is founded; and, while they yet retain the throne and the House of Lords, any attempt on the part of either to exercise positive power, or resist the popular will, would be instantly met by threats of resistance, and, if not abandoned, by revolution. The throne and the Upper House remain much like the fendal castles that yet distinguish the English landscape, emblems of departed power, curious to the view, full of historic interest, but no longer dangerous to the peace of the surrounding country. English retorms, heretofore slow, are becoming more rapid, and the English peo ple are marching with accelerated speed to a republican government. Universal suffrage and hereditary privilege cannot exist long and slavery, though girt about by the mountogether. They are essentially hostile elements. The progress of suffrage in England has been resisted at every step by the aristocratic classes; but after many years of struggle it has arrived at that point where its further progress cannot be long delayed. Universal suffrage lies at the very summit of the hill of Difficulty, the ascent of which is rugged, slow, and toilsome, but when achieved the people will be masters of the situation... America is avenging herself upon England by gradually but surely over turning her aristocratic and heirarchic in stitutions by the force of her teachings and example. The principles of civil and religious liberty, crude and imperfect when liberal statesmen, are proclaiming the doctrines of the Declaration of Independence, and verifying the saying of a celebrated Englishman that the American Revolution guaranteed the free institutions of England. We may not live to see England a republic, in which they perished. Their achievebut I believe our children will. DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT has been tested by the first Horsemen in this country, and proved to be superior to any other. The late Hiram Woodraff, of "trotting fame," was never without a bettle in his stable. It is also used by Col. Bush, of the Jerome Park Course, at Fordham, N. Y., who has over twenty running horses under his care, among which rank some of the finest stock in America. It is warranted to cure Lameness, Sprains, Scratches, Bruises, Galls, Cuts, Wind Galls, Colic, Sore Throat, Nail in the Foot, and Over Heating, when used according to the directions.
