Littlestown, a man named Finley, voluntarily appeared before Justice McIlvaine, and made a confession of having been concerned in a robbery at Wrightsville, last September. He implicates two other persons in the robbery. Justice McIlvaine committed him to Jail, to await a requisition for York county.

The Wrightsville Star says that it was James Cook's residence which was robbed, a quantity of silver ware being taken, and Emanuel Rinehart and William Spangler are given as the names of Finley's accomplices. The shoe store of Mr. Jacobs, in Wrightsville, was also robbed the same night.
