The general use of "waiver" notes, by which the beneficial aims of the $300 Exemption act are frustrated, in attracting the attention of the Legislature, and will probably result in the passage of an act taking away from the debtor the right to waive the provisions of the exemption law. That law was not originally designed for the sole benefit of the debtor, but was intended to protect the wife and family of the improvident debtor from the sweeping demands of creditors. Like the $300 provision in decedent's estate, it is aimed to prevent the breaking up of the home, to maintain inviolate the debtor's home by exempting a certain amount of property necessary to the comfort of his family. Hence a waiver by the debtor practically defeats the beneficial aims of the act. If the prejudicial construction of this waiving of the provisions of the exemption act fell upon the improvident debtor himself, there would be no great wrong; but the trouble is that the creditor, by the waiving of the exemption law, is enabled to take the property of the debtor, and to sell it to satisfy his claims. A bill to make it illegal in future to waive the exemption laws has been reported to the House, and the approval of the Judiciary Committee, and we hope it may become a law.

MR. CRESSA, the member of this district, is after his predecessor, Hon. A. H. Coffey, on Monday, in the House, he introduced a resolution, directing the Military Committee to investigate the appointment of a young man from Boston to the West Point Academy, and another from the same place to the Naval Academy, from the student Pennsylvania district. The object of the resolution is to investigate two appointments made by Mr. Coffey when he represented the district in the House. It is alleged that these appointments were made for monetary considerations. The resolution provided that the parties implicated should be permitted to defend themselves. As this was in direct conflict with the order of the House, adopted a few days ago, instructing the committee not to investigate charges against persons named in the resolution, the House, it met with considerable opposition, and finally went over with the expiration of the morning hour. It is the intention of Mr. Cressa to bring it up again and press it to a vote.

The Methodist Episcopal Church South needs a little re-construction. The Baltimore Conference of the Church North, in session at Baltimore, on Monday, next, the fraternal greetings of that body to the Conference of the Church South, in session at Baltimore, and delegated Rev. Henry Slicer and Rev. Mr. Best to attend the proceedings. The latter body, however, after gravely deliberating over the matter, unanimously declined to recognize the body in session at Frederick, ordering that Messrs. Slicer and Best be notified officially, but as Christian men and ministers—whereupon the latter picked up their hats and left for Frederick, declining to accept personally a courtesy which was tendered to them by the representatives. The Church South went off on its usual course, and has not yet learned to dispense with the credit habits then contracted. These repeated conciliatory efforts are made by the Church North, as their rule regulates are discreditable to the Church South.

The New Hampshire Election on Tuesday resulted in another signal Republican triumph. There were four tickets in the field, Republican, Democratic, Labor Reform and Temperance. The Republican ticket, headed by a majority over the combined votes of the other three candidates. Returns from 222 towns give Stearns 32,987, Beland 22,894, Flint 6,886, and Barrows 1,156. Both branches of the Legislature will be largely Republican.

SECRETARY BOUTWELL is reported as opposed to a repeal or reduction of the income tax. Notwithstanding which we hope that Congress will wipe out the tax. At an officers' meeting, a quinquennial system of taxation, leading to perjury and fraud, and unequal in that honest men make honest returns and pay full taxes, while the dishonest can evade the law and evade taxation with a war measure; it was justifiable; with the return of peace it should be discontinued, or so modified as to make the exemption at least $2,000.

A BILL to repeal the act of the last session of the Legislature, combining the spring and fall elections, passed to third reading in the House, last week. We see no reason for its repeal. The law worked well at the last election, and its provisions will be better understood in future. It is a great saving of election officers' fees, and insures a better class of township officers than we have had heretofore. We hope this retrograde movement will be stopped in the Senate.

DISPATCHES from Washington represent that in view of the rapid decline in gold, a number of banks have announced their willingness to resume specie payments on their circulation, but not on deposits. The Government, however, has determined to let matters take their course, while continuing the policy under which the national currency has been steadily rising and gold falling.

GOLD is still "tumbling," under President Grant's prudent and economical Administration. On Wednesday last, March 10, when the gold market was touched 110, being a new low point, it fell to 107 1/2, and then went into a decline. On the same day Government Bonds brought a higher premium than gold, the rates of 1861 selling for $114.80. So much for Republican Administration. The excitement in the Gold Room and on Wall Street is said by the New York papers to have been unprecedented since the great gold conspiracy of last September. The friends of the Government are doing all in their power to prevent the present decline, and are accepted as evidence of a coming crash, consequent on a further decline.

THE Congressional Committee, through Gen. Garfield, Chairman, has made an elaborate report of the investigations into the great gold conspiracy of the late September. The report, which is published in the Star and Sentinel, is a masterpiece of logic and eloquence. It not only exposes the President and members of his family, as well as his Cabinet, from all complicity in the operations of the gold gamblers. The conspiracy was engineered by Gould & Dick of New York, and was designed to bring to a large amount of gold, create a "corner" in the market, force up the premium, and then sell out at a profit. To carry out this scheme it was essential that the Comptroller should know the financial purposes of the Administration, and prevent, if possible, the Government from throwing any surplus gold into the market, pending the operations of the gamblers. Gould & Dick admit to having intended to do this, and to have done so.
