Vice-President—Samuel R. Rusself. Having for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably had case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most import, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose in writer, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more Northmend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicine, were getting well.

One hundred miles further down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even and the air day and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are learted there. I should give a declied preference to Mellonville. It is two miles from liver or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take coid there.—The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite, and when this is the case they generally increase in fesh, and the lungs must beal.
