Third proposition. By establishing a model school, or a school of an advanced grade in each district, superior advantages will be presented, and the general interests of education advanced, without adding expense to the

A model school implies—in our use of the term-a school under a teacher who is well qualified for his profession; and one that is furnished with suitable conveniences, such as maps, charts, and blackboards, a uniformity of text books; and aided by the generous. efforts of the patrons where he is to operate. A teacher well qualified for the work, could not fail to interest his community and gain their support: and I have come to the conclusion that wherever there are teachers able and willing to teach, there will be found scholars willing to learn. The conveniences reby the patrons or community who were about to be favored with these advantages.

The first advantage arising from it, is, that it will secure a good primary education at home, and prepare the student for a better their first appliance is anti-slavery and advancement when he enters the higher institutions of learning. His primary educa- presses teem, every day, with unwearied tion will be more practical and a foundation be laid for after usefulness. A second advantage is, that, it will create a general interest | ate a universal prejudice in the North against where a total indifference is now manifested, which is a chief hinderance to the progress of our school system. Such a school would stimulate all other schools of the district, and our ablest teachers would seek employment where this generous emulation existed. This model school would be, not only an advantage, but an example to all.

By a school of a higher grade, we mean something different from the model school.

Suppose that in a central position in each district, a school with all the conveniences before mentioned, be opened, and that it be designed for the advanced scholars of the district, and that certain qualifications be required before the scholar can be admitted into this school. Then the higher branches of an English education can be thoroughly attended to, and the student that is now compelled to seek an academy without due preparation, would be able to mingle science and art, with the operations of the farm and the work shop,—the development of the intellect with the development of physical strengththe habit of reflection and the love of study, with the love of domestic virtues. Then we would have the work of education systematized. Who can look at the form of the hand,

It is a general complaint that we have not a supply of well qualified teachers, but surely one can be found for each district; and one good educator in each district will do with hoards of money. This one step however is but a single item in the great work before us. When all our efforts have been put forth, and every effort in the most available manner, then the work of general education will be in its beginning; and the lover of learning, the teacher, and the philanthropist, will endure years of patient labour, before,

NOTHING IS LOST. Nothing is lost; the drop of dew Which trembles on the leaf or flower, Is but exhaled, to fall anew

In summer's thunder shower,
Perchance to shine within the bow
That fronts the sun at fall of day; Perchance to sparkle in the flow Of fountain far away. Nothing is lost; the tiniest seed

By wild birds borne; or breezes blown, Finds something suited to its need, Wherein 'tis sown and grown. The language of some household song, The perfume of some cherished flower. Though gone from outward sense, belong To memory's after hour.

So with our words: or harsh or kind, Uttered they are not all forgot,
They leave their influence on the mind,
Pass on, but perish not!
So with our deeds for good or ill, They have their power scarce understood; Then let us use our better will

Political.

The Mystery of Iniquity.

All the outward indications go to prove that the bosses of the Pseudo-Republicans are engaged in a cool, deliberate, and gigantic scheme of humbug, demagogueism and fraud. They have gone to work systematiferred to, would, and ought to be furnished cally to take advantage of all the antislavery excitement, all the anti-democratic sentiment, and all the loose, floating, vague political elements of the North. They are perfectly aware that they can hope for no Southern electoral vote. So they are using every possible means to carry all the North. Kansas excitement. Accordingly, all their abuse of Southern character, and with constant misrepresentations of Southern feelings and intentions. These leaders want to crethe South-to arouse a fierce spirit of defiance and resentment—to sink the fraternal love of Union in a dark and angry Northern pride. Let any calm man read the daily diatribes of the New York Tribune, filled with such provocations to strife, to the exclusion of its former vanity. Mark the bit-ter, threatening tone of all the Black Republican speeches and documents.

These denunciations are seconded, and attempted to be sustained, by a continually flowing stream of false and unfounded reports from Kansas. For months past the Abolition Press has been groaning and growing horrified over the accounts of murders, bloodshed, rapine, civil war and tyranny in that Territory—all of which have been invariably modified or contradicted afterwards. These exaggerations are fortunately, however, beginning to cure themselves. Sensible people no longer think of believing the first telegraphic reports from Kansas. Still the Free Soil Managers keep at these telegraphic falsehoods. Many of them are manufactured and sent on by Abolition Reporters, maintained in Kansas by the Tribune, New York Times, and kindred presses, in the West. These men make up their distorted accounts, send them on to Chicago—a headquarters for the Kansas Aid Agitators—and there, by telegraph, they are dispatched all

But the pseudo-Republican leaders are command millions of money. In proportions himself has the reputation of fabulous wealth The establishment of such a school in each in his Mariposa estate. There is every reason to believe that all these vast means are Every body knows that the Herold is most shamelessly mercenary, and that all its anteeverything savoring of Free Soil or Abolition. This paper is now loud-mouthed for Fremont. No man of sense doubts how this change was effected. Nor can any fail to see what cause has induced several German papers to haul down the name of Buchanan for Fremont. Nothing but gold could work a change otherwise so unaccountable.

In fact, all the operations of the Black Republican party evince that they are backed to elect; Fremont by the bold experiment of combined humbug, agitation and bribery. The calm, good sense of the American people will foil their impudent efforts.—Even-
