THE RETURN HOME.

BY GEORGE F. MORRIS.

I'm with you once again my friends, No more my footsteps roam, Where it began my journey ends, Amid the scenes of home.

Since last, with spirits light and free, I pressed my native land, I've wandered many miles at sea, And miles on land;

In distant countries when I heard The music of my own O! how my echoing heart was stirred! It bounded at the tone!

My native land I come to you With blessing and with prayer, Where men are brave and woman true, And free as mountain air.

Political and Miscellaneous.

JAMES BUCHANAN.

Was Born On the 23d of April, 1791, at STONY RIDGE.

Entered Dickinson College, in 1805. He graduated with Distinguished Honor in 1809.

He commenced the study of Law, and was Admitted to the Bar, November 17, 1812.

His career in the PROFESSION was a series of successive TRIUMPHS.

In 1814, He made a powerful speech in favor of a VIGOROUS PROSECUTION OF THE WAR WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

And volunteered AS A COMMON SOLDIER. In the ranks of THE AMERICAN ARMY!!!

He was elected a member of the PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE, Where he declared "That the Invading Enemy must be driven from our shores," and Proclaimed himself in favor of THE RIGHTS OF THE NATURALIZED CITIZEN.

And opposed to The Disposition of POWERS.

He was again elected TO THE LEGISLATURE, and in 1820, was sent to Congress; was re-elected for five successive terms.

And during these ten years in Congress, he immortalized himself for eloquence, and made the world acknowledge him to be a statesman; and in 1821, he spoke in

MILITARY APPROPRIATIONS; Against the Bankrupt Bill; In support of the TARIFF;

And proclaimed himself opposed to SECTIONALISM and a representative neither of the East, nor West, the North nor South, BUT FOR THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

In 1824, He spoke in favor of the Niagara Sufferers in the War of 1812, and for the Presidency pronounced himself emphatically, FOR ANDREW JACKSON.

In 1825, He analyzed the Judiciary System and spoke in favor of the Independence of the South American States. In 1826, he declared, in Congress, that Spain should cede to no government but that of the UNITED STATES the ISLAND OF CUBA, and made a triumphant speech in support of pensions for Revolutionary Soldiers.

In 1828, he took a strong position in favor of retrenchment in national expenses. In 1830, he made his profound speech on the impeachment of Judge Peck, and vindicated the rights of the Public Press. In 1831, he voluntarily retired from Congress. In 1832, President Jackson appointed him MINISTER TO RUSSIA, where

He succeeded in making a most important Commercial Treaty.

In 1833, he was elected to the UNITED STATES SENATE.

In 1834, He took his seat, and in a masterly speech on French Reprisals, declared that we must not only assert our rights but maintain them.

In 1835-6, he attacked incendiary publications. He became at the same time the exponent of national sympathy for TEXAN INDEPENDENCE.

In 1837, he took strong ground in favor of the Expunging Resolutions declaring

ANDREW JACKSON to be the Savior of the Liberty of our Country; and in speaking upon our relations with Mexico, uttered that sentence which will be immortal as our own glorious history: "MILLIONS TO DEFEND OUR RIGHTS; BUT NOT A CENT FOR TRIBUTE." HE IS TO BE PRESIDENT OF OUR UNION.

The Cause of Prairies.

In a recent number of Life Illustrated, over the signature of "Bluff," in notes and queries, occurs the following question: "What is the cause of prairies without timber, or the best theory on the subject?"

Having resided for a number of years in the prairie country of the West, the same inquiries have often arisen in my mind, and I would here in answer, state the conclusion on which I have arrived on the subject.

It is an opinion held by many, that the prairie region of the West was once covered by the waters of a great inland sea or lake, and that in process of time, by geographical causes, it was elevated to its present level. The theory is also supported by the fact, that in various places there have been found at various depths beneath the surface, remains of different kinds, but especially leaves of trees, bark, andanders, etc.

There appears to be two principal causes for the existence of prairies in their present state. These are the close sod of the prairie grass, which tends to prevent the germination and the growth of the seed of trees; and the fires, which in uninhabited parts, so frequently sweep over the country and destroy the young trees which have succeeded in establishing themselves in the soil.

These views are sustained by various sources. The soil of the woodlands that skirt the prairies is mostly of a different quality from the prairie soil, and thus more favorable to the growth of trees than of grass. Lying along the bluffs which follow the course of streams, it is more broken and hilly. It is of a poorer quality, being more exposed to the washings of the rains. Again, where the country is settled, and the fires excluded, we frequently observe a growth of briars and hazel. These are soon choked out by the hard plum and crab-apple, which later in time give place to the still more flourishing forest trees. Sometimes the birch or hazel comes to the strip next the open prairie; anterior of this and nearer the timber, the plum, black haw and crab-apple are found; then come the young forest trees, and finally the full grown timber. We have seen quite extensive tracts undergoing this process of transformation. The facts here given are sufficient to convince our own mind, although we do not claim that the opinions expressed would stand the test of a more scientific investigation.

Elephantine Wrestlers in Japan.

"The attention of all was suddenly riveted upon a body of monstrous fellows, who trumped down the beach like so many huge elephants. They were professional wrestlers, and formed part of the routine of the prince, who kept them for their private amusement, and for the public entertainment."

They were twenty-five in number, and were enormously tall in stature, and immense in weight of flesh. * * * They were all so immense in flesh that they appeared to have lost their distinctive features, and seemed to be only twenty-five masses of fat. Their eyes were barely visible through a long perspicacious socket, the prominence of their noses was lost in the puffiness of the bloated cheeks, and their heads were almost set directly on their bodies, with merely folds of flesh where their neck and chin are usually found. Their great size, however, was more owing to the development of muscle than to the deposition of fat; for, although they were evidently well fed, they were not less well exercised and capable of great feats of strength. As a preliminary exhibition of the power of these men, the prince set them to removing the sacks of rice to a more convenient place on the shore for shipping. Each of the sacks weighed not less than one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and there were only a couple of the wrestlers who did not carry each two sacks at a time. Having hoisted the sacks on the right shoulder, lifting the first from the ground, and adjusting it with one hand, he obtained aid for raising the second. One man carried a sack suspended by his teeth, and another taking one in his arms, turned repeated somersaults as he held it, and apparently with as much ease as if his tons of flesh had been so much gossamer, and his head a feather."—Dr. Hauck's Narrative of Japan Exped.

Right and Left.—The Glasgow, (Wis.) Free Press, a rank Abolition paper, with Freedom at its mast head, discourses in this style of his candidate. Hear him:

"His explorations in the West attest his perseverance and courage. Aside from these, IN WHAT HAS HE DISTINGUISHED HIMSELF? True, he was a member of the California Legislature, and served for part of a term in the United States Senate. He was LONG ENOUGH IN BOTH TO SATISFY THE OBSERVING THAT HIS FIELD OF GLORY IS ON THE PRAIRIES AND IN THE MOUNTAINS OF THE WEST, AND NOT IN THE SENATE CHAMBER OR EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT OF THE NATION."

And again growing eloquent and romantic over the hero of the "ride of the one hundred," he comes down on his Black Republican Presidential representatives in the following meat-axe style:

"But the adventures of the path-finder will arouse no enthusiasm among the people. They may admire his daring, but settle down in conviction that SOMETHING MORE THAN THE SAGACITY OF A HUNTER OR AN INDIAN GUIDE IS NEEDED IN A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE. THE PEOPLE ARE SICK OF PUPPETS SET UP FOR THEIR HOMAGE BY POLITICIANS. The times demand a Statesman at the helm of the ship of State—a Statesman who has been tried and found true."

LIGHTNING RODS! AMBITZE'S PATENT OF SUPERIOR ELECTRIC MAGNET LIGHTNING RODS, is now admitted on all hands, that every building to be erected from this date, should be provided with the best and most perfect Lightning Rod.

The large number of worthless rods that are put up makes it necessary for purchasers to examine the merits of the different brands offered for sale. The public need not to examine Ambitze's rods to be convinced that they are constructed upon not only the best, but the only safe principle. Over 60000 of these rods have already been put up without the loss of a dollar, worth of property by lightning in any building which they have protected. They are the best evidence that they are perfectly secure. I have a few on hand which I will sell for less than half of the retail price named on the catalogue. Call on at Colton's Book Store, Huntingdon, Pa., where they can be had of W. M. WILLIAMS & CO., Huntingdon, July 16, 1856.
