Enthusiastic Democratic Rally at Saulsburg.

The Democracy of West, Barree and Jackson townships, made a glorious demonstration at Saulsburg, on Thursday the 18th inst. In company with a small delegation from Huntingdon, we arrived there at 11 o'clock, in time to assist in raising a beautiful hickory pole.

At 12 o'clock, a delegation arrived from Jackson township, drawn by three eight-horse and several two-horse teams, composed of la-

The Allies of Black Republicanism. its London correspondent, published on Monday, contains the following startling extract:

"The almost exclusive topic of discussion, from the Ministerial "Bureau" of Downing street to the humblest Ale-house in England, is whether the Republic of America shall stand in its unity with Buchanan, or fall in its dissolution with Fremont-the former issue of your struggle being the hope of the Democracy and the dread of the Aristocracy of Europe. I trust that your Black Republican party are not so modestly blind to the merits of their cause as to imagine its partizans exist only in their native land; if so, perhaps they may be agreeably surprised to learn they may be agreeably surprised to learn that they may safely calculate on the firm sup-port and alliance of Francis Joseph of Aus-tria, of Frederick William of Prussia, of Queen Isabella of Spain, of Louis Napoleon of France, of every petty despot in Italy and Germany, and above all, of Lord Palmerston and the British Oligarchy.

The deep interest felt in the present great struggle by the enemies of Republican Governments abroad, and their intense desire to see our grand experiment of self-government utterly wrecked by the continuance of sectional agitation, and the triumph of the foes of the Union and the Constitution, under the leadership of FREMONT, becomes each day more clearly apparent. Their presses and organs cannot refrain from giving vent to their feelings, and applauding Fremont to the echo, because they consider him a fitting instrument to effect the end they have so long but vainly wished for, the dissolution of our Union and destruction of our national power and greatness. They know that united we are impregnable against all their assaults, that so long as the Union survives all their malice is impotent, that under a flag of thirtyone States we can defend curselves against a world in arms. But if the foundations of and jarring passions weaken and divide us, if our now proud Confederacy comes a mere loose aggregation of petty warring States, we will be utterly at their mercy .--Hence their sympathy with the FREMONT movement. As the Republicans of America hail with delight a successful revolution against the aristocrats of Europe, and if necessary, not only sympathize, but contribute their means to sustain such a movement, so at this moment the tyrants and aristocrats of Europe are regarding with illy-concealed exultation, the Black Republican crusade against the Constitution and the Union, and doubtless contributing their means to sustain and encourage it. It is really astonishing what a lavish expenditure of money the Fre-MONT men are constantly resorting to. Docaments are distributed by millions, presses are bought up by hundreds, and we are informed that a well-known gentleman of Philadelphia was offered by them recently $2000

if he would spend a few weeks in canvassing certain districts whore his efforts, it was thought, would prove particularly effective for FREMONT-an offer which, to his honor be it said, he indignantly declined. It has been a mystery to almost every one where these immense sums of money they are expending were obtained from. After making all due allowance for the prostitution of the Kansas fund to electioneering purposes, and the band of peculators and politicians who surround FREMONT, the conclusion seems forced upon us that the gold of aristocratic foreign enemies of the Republic has swelled their

His co-laborers, though less renowned, to say, it is treated almost as a fable in this degenerate age. The proof is broadcast throughout the land. We have it in the guilty, criminal sectionalism that is dividing our brotherhood and tearing our Union asunder with unholy hands and for unrighteous pur-poses. Patriotism is banished in the reign of licentiousness; treason is stalking abroad unmasked; fratricidal blood is staining the land; fanaticism is strewing its baneful influence; the pulpit is desecrating its divine office by embracing the worst elements of political heresy; and these combined powers are pulling down the pillars of our great national temple, erected by Washington and his associates. This is the sad spectacle of the day ! If it should fall from its tottering base, who will survive the ruin? Some historians will look over the vast desolation, and will record the names of the traitors who conceived the fatal conspiracy, and the party that ruined the last home of civil and religious liberty. We have but a short time left us to cure this impending calamity. We must not shut our eyes to our true condition, but realize it by looking at it, and tracing its consequen-

If we are capable of being true to ourselves, and rightly comprehending our all-important interests; if we have enough of virtue to choose discreetly between the principles of the great and good men that toiled for our rich inheritance, and the base heresies that are supplanting them; if we would have our Union permanent and our govern-ment prosperous, we must come promptly to the conclusion that we have departed widely from our duty, and that our only safety is in a speedy return to the paths and examples of those who had virtue and patriotism beyond the reach of faction and the temptations of unholv ambition.

We are aware that the agitations that surround us make this not an auspicious moment to proclaim danger. But duty constrains us our government be broken up, if discordant to repeat the warning that we have often giv-

> Address of the Convention to George Washington, President of Congress.

The following is the Address of the Convention which framed the Constitution of the United States to GEORGE WASHINGTON, the President of Congress. It is a document which cannot be too deeply reflected upon .--It shows most clearly and conclusively with what a spirit of amity, mutual deference and concession, this sacred bond of our Union was formed:

SIR :-- We have now the honor to submit for the consideration of the United States, in Congress assembled, that Constitution which has appeared to us most desirable.

The friends of our country have long scen, and desired, that the power of making war, peace, and treaties; that of levying money and regulating commerce, and the correspondent executive and judicial authorities, should be fully and effectually vested in the general government of the Union; but the impropriety of delegating such extensive trust to one body of men is evident. Hence results the necessity of a different re-organization. It is obviously impracticable in the federal government of these States, to secure all rights of independent sovereignty to each, and yet provide for the interest and safety of all .--- when Seward and Greeley and their Abolition compeers had him nominated as the emshared his virtues and his immortality. Their bodiment of Black Republicanism! And this great example is before us, and, lamentable is the man whom the Negro Worshippers of the North and East give to the freemen of Pennsylvania, and ask for their suffrages! This is the man, without the first claim or qualification for the Presidency, that the people of Pennsylvania are asked to support in preference to their own distinguished Statesman, JAMES BUCHANAN.

This was the first step; the next was to form a government to carry out the great principles for which they fought.

The same men sheathed the sword and took up the pen in peaceful, solemn council to frame a government for the people by the people. It was a great task imposed upon wisdom and virtue to conquer the conflicting interests and opinions that were inseparable from the work. These were to be reconciled and harmonized as necessary to the consummation of the great end and object.

They accomplished it, to their everlasting honor, by cherishing a holy brotherhood, by subordinating everything to the one great purpose, and by laying covenant, concessions, and compromises on the altar of their infant country.

The work was not yet fully accomplished. The next and last step in this labor of love was to bring this delicate and complex conception into practicable operation,

The same pure master mind that led their armies to victory, and counselled them in all other questions, and has always been their polity, was called to the civil adminis- found battling against the unboly schemes tration of the government. Individuals entering into society, must give up a share of liberty to preserve the rest.— The magnitude of the sacrifice must depend as well on situation and circumstance, as on the object to be obtained. It is at all times difficult to draw with precision the line between those rights which must be surrendered, and those which may be reserved; and on the present occasion this difficulty was increased by a difference among the several States as to their situation, extent, habits and particular interests.

In all our deliberations on this subject we have kept steadily in our view, that which appears to us the greatest interest of every true American, THE CONSOLIDATION OF OUR UNION, in which is involved our prosperity, felicity, safety, and perhaps our national exis-This important consideration, serioustence. ly and deeply impressed on our minds, lod each State in the Convention to be less rigid on points of inferior magnitude, than might have been otherwise expected; and thus the Constitution, which we now present, is the result of a spirit of amity, and of that mutual deference and concession which the peculiarity of our political situation rendered indis-

Your Excellency's most obedient and humble servants. BY UNANIMOUS ORDER OF THE CONVENTION. His Excellency, the President of Congress, Facts to be Remembered.

Who nominated Mr. BUCHANAN? Let it be borne in mind, says the Steuben Farmer's Advocate, that it was the North! On the first ballot in the Cincinnati Convention he received one hundred and one votes from the Free States, and but THIRTY FOUR votes from the Slave States. The Southern States, with but two or three exceptions, voted against him in a body up to the last ballot, when they yielded to the force of public opinion. Yet, on every hand, you hear the Abolition orators and papers crying out that he is the Southern candidate—in favor of the extension of Slavery, &c., &c. JAMES BUCHANAN has been in public life for over thirty years, and we challenge any man to produce the first word or act to prove these base assertions of an unscrupulous opposition. He was born they yielded to the force of public opinion. an unscrupulous opposition. He was born and educated, and has always lived in a Free State-and his public life gives the lie to the charge that he ever favored the extension of Slavery. Heshas always been faithful to the Constitution of his country, and has taken that as his guide on the slavery, as well as
