The Shakers.

Among the many forms, for good or evil, which the natural religious sentiment in man has taken, there is none more calculated to excite astonishment than that of the "Shakers," or "Shaking Quakers," as they are in-differently and vulgarly called. The rise of Shakerism is a marvel that dispassionate their own marriage ceremony. minds yet fail fully to comprehend. Its progress excites unaffected pity by the persecutions it at first encountered, and its present state challenges sorrowful inquisition by the persevering self-abnegation it enjoins, the simplicity, so worthy of a better source, it secures, and the mysterious economy upon his bed, Dr. Sayre and other eminent physisimplicity, so worthy of a better source, it which it is conducted.

The Shakers have still several prosperous communities in the United States. The first of these was formed in 1776 by Mother Ann Lee, at Watervleit, about seven miles from Albany, New York. The influence of Mother Lee was secured upon her earliest followers by the belief in her divine mission, and the claim that the second offering of Christ had been fulfilled in her. With the shocking delusion of this belief we have nothing to do. The perversion of a supposed prophecy is manifest in the expression, and its appropriation to the purpose indicated only shows how closely border the confines of delusion and blasphemy.

Since the Shakers were first organized in New York, three other societies have been established in other parts of that State, two in Connecticut, four in Massachusetts, two in New Hampshire, four in Ohio, and two in Kentucky.

The Shaker Society in Mercer county, Ky., was established in 1807, shortly after or during the "Kentucky revival." It now embraces five families and between three and four hundred members. Two of these families are termed receiving families, into which persons who propose to join the society pass a probationary season. The three other families have passed to a higher order, at the head of which there are two members, who hold the property in perpetual trust, and manage the business of the society. There are also two male and two female members denominated the ministry, who are consulted in all important spiritual and temporal matters. They claim authority from the Scriptures for their peculiar mode of worship, which is chiefly by singing and dancing.—
They are spiritualists according to the modern acceptance of the term, and profess to be guided in many of their affairs by special revelation from the spirit worll. To judge them according to the Scripture standard by their fruits," there are no people living more strictly honest, upright and virtuous, and who live in greater love and harmony one with auother; and we believe they constitute the only organized body that has been long sustained, when the property is held in common ness, appears to be entirely subdued.

The Shakers neither marry nor are given in marriage. Their numbers are increased by the addition of orphan children from the country and the various cities around. These children are brought up with the greatest tenderness and care, and are educated in all the branches usually taught in common schools.

Of the peculiarities of religious tenets held by the Shakers, little is absolutely known.-They have, it is stated, what is called a Bible, but whether it is a single book generally received by them, or each community has a special collection of revelation, we cannot say. A Lowell (Mass.) paper speaks of a Bible recently examined, belonging to one of their communities, a book not often allowed to be seen by the world's people. It is entitled, "A Holy, Sacred and Divine Roll from the Lord God of Heaven to the Inhabitants of Earth-Revealed in the Society at New Lebanon, Columbia County, State of New York, U. S. of America." It pretends to be a revelation, and the testimony of eleven mighty angels is given, who attended the writing of the roll. One of the angels is named Con-sole-teac Jao-mons-hue, and another Preline-ves-ten-varen-veine. It is bound in yellow according to the order from on high. The book appears to contain passages from Scripture, altered, amended, enlarged, or curtailed, with original additions or improvements, as they are probably deemed, to suit the peculiar notions of the disciples of Ann Lec. It is a very curious volume—even more remarkable, though of less pretended antiquity, than the Mormon Bible. A copy is ordered to be sent to every King or Potentate in Christendom, and one sent to the Governor of Canada, some time since, was returned or refused .- Baltimore American.

On the former instance, the death of his brother's child rendered a postponement of the day of their contemplated marriage necessary, and both the Doctor and his affianced bride attended his funeral. On the second occasion fixed for their union, Miss Hamilton's sister lost a child, and again they both attended a funeral service instead of

On Monday of last week Dr. Bogardus came to the city and put up at the Girard House in Chambers street, and on retiring, complained to Mr. Davis, with whom he was well acquainted, that he was quite unwell.cians were called in and consulted. After several days' attendance, they came to the conclusion that there was something more than disease of the body in the case of their patient, and they intimated to him the fact, whereupon Dr. Bogardus frankly informed his medical advisers that he was deeply attached to a young lady, to whom he was to be married on Tuesday (yesterday,) that their marriage had been twice frustrated by death, and he now feared that his own illness would prove a third interposition of his happiness.

Dr. Sayre perceiving the sad effects which the fear of another disappointment had upon his mind, suggested the propriety of sending a telegraph despatch to Miss Hamilton to come to New York without delay, for the purpose of carrying out the wishes of Dr. Bogardus. The despatch was accordingly sent, and Miss Hamilton arrived about 4 o'clock on Sunday morning, and as early as possible some of their friends, residing in Newark, were sent for to attend the marriage ceremo-At I o'clock the same day Dr. Sayre visited his patient, and found him so much better that he considered that it would be unnecessary for him to attend again. At halfpast 2 o'clock the parties were united, and Dr. Bogardus expressed his thankfulness in being enabled to carry out his intentions of marriage to the lady in question. The friends then retired for a few moments for the purpose of partaking of some refreshments.— He then remarked that he felt so much better that he would get up, and at once proceeded to raise himself in bed; his bride percriving his efforts to rise, went to assist him, only to discover that he was expiring in her arms. She instantly sprang to the bell and rang for assistance; but before their friends could reach the room he was a corpse, and yesterday afternoon his remains were taken to Kingston on board the steamer North America, for interment. The deceased was a member of the Kingston Lodge of Free Masons, and was very much esteemed by his brother members, and in accordance with his previously expressed wish, he will be attended by the Order to his resting place.

A Whale Attacking a Ship.

The ship Cuban, of this port, Capt. Galloway, which arrived here from Demarara on Wednesday met with a most extraordinary adventure on her homeward voyage. About 9.20 P. M. of the 16th instant, (nautical time,) when in lat. 43° 49' N., lon. 29° 50' W., the ship, running before the wind at the rate of knots an hour, received such a severe shock that she keeled over several strakes, and her way was completely stopped while the men, who were sleeping on the starboard berths of the topgallant forecastle, were thrown out upon their chests. Shortly after the shock an immense whale rose at a short distance from the ship's quarter, and after laying motionless for a short time, as if stunned by the blow, swam toward the vessel as if with the intention of repeating the attack. It was a moment of intense anxiety on board, but, fortunately, when close to the stern, the monster wheeled round in the opposite direction and dived, throwing with his tail, as he did so, a quantity of blood and water on board. It was a moonlight night, and the bulk of the huge animal could be seen distinctly towering to a considerable height above the surface. When he dived, his tail appeared to those on board to be from 30 to 40 feet out of the water. The pumps were sounded, but the ship was found to be making no water. From the force of the blow and the fact that the second mate thought he heard a whale blowing a short time before the shock occurred, it is supposed that the fish made a regular attack upon the ship, and was not come in contact with while asleep. An estimate of its immense size and power may be formed from the fact of its bringing to a stand still a deeply laden ship of 500 tons, sailing at the rate of nearly 10 knots an hour. - Greenoch Advertiser.

lawyer of this place, convicted at our last | The Kansas Funds---Value of Property. A Kansas correspondent of the New York be fully confirmed, and we are already consoling ourselves. We shall not leave Kansas any sooner than if Fremont were elected, nor sell what we possess here any lower.

Thaddeus Hyatt, of New York, President of the National Committee, arrived on Saturday. He gives a very flattering report of the financial condition of the National Committee, with an assurance that the best part of it all is still future. He, with all friends of Kansas, feels to lament that hypocrisy, duplicity, blasphemy, and sacrilege, (for it will bear all those epithets,) are traced in the conduct of some of the professed friends of our cause. It seems like paning the altars-almost like robbing the dead—to find any person educated in the free air of the North, who is disposed to speculate with or defraud the suffering and destitute in our midst.

Another correspondent of the same paper savs:

From the New York Evening Post. The Marriage of Senator Douglas. The Bride and her Appearance—Judge Douglas, de., de., de.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Our Thanksgiving to-day was signalized, at 2 o'clock, by the marriage of Senator Douglas, of Illinois, to Miss Ada Cutts, of Washington, after which the married couple took the cars for their future residence, in Chicago.

The bride was accompanied to the altar by several bridesmaids; but the Senator, being a widower, went alone. Only a few of his personal friends, including Gen. Shields and Senator Slidell, were present. The mar-riage ceremony was performed by Father Byrne, of the Roman Catholic Church, in the religion of which the bride was educated, at Georgetown Nunnery. Senator Douglas himself is not known to have decided feelings towards any religious faith, though some of his friends draw a favorable inference from his recent land donation to a Baptist College in Chicago.

Three months ago, the Judge, as Mr. Douglas is familiarly called, called at the house of his friend Senator Bright, who lives just opposite Mr. Cutts, and it so happened that Miss Cutts was there also. Immediately after she left, Senator Bright remarked to his compeer, "Douglas its really a shame you're not married. You ought to find a wife at once, and there's the lady for you.' The suggestion seemed to strike Douglas with the force of novelty. Accordingly, pro-curing an introduction from Mr. Bright to the house over the way, he soon found the recommendation more than borne out by the actual reality, in the personal and mental charms of Miss Cutts. He became a frequent visitor, and the engagement was made in the latter part of the summer, though it did not transpire until a few weeks ago. Miss Cutts may be twenty-two years of age. She is a cotemporary and member of the circle of belles, all now married off, including Adelaide Smith, Florence Greenhow, and others who once formed a great attraction at the reception and balls at Washington. Her father, James Madison Cutts, an officer in one of the departments at Washington, is a nephew of Mrs. President Madison, and enjoyed a considerable intimacy with his uncle, in whose family he resided. In politics he is an old-line Whig, though not ong since he volunteered a communication in the Union, testifying to the good opinion which President Madison held of Mr. Buchanan. He is a gentlemanly, quiet man, and much liked in Washington society.

"Oh, yes, ma'am; Mr. Fremont is a very pious man; his whole life has been devoted to the cause of freedom and piety, and there is great danger if Mr. Buchanan is elected, that slavery will be introduced into Rhode Island, and these dear little children of yours will be placed in a state of bondage!"

Here Deacon Holy-dom puts his handkerchief to his right eye, while he looks at the lady with the left.

Do you really think so, deacon?" "My dear madam, there is no doubt of it, and I sincerely hope you will do all in your power to induce your husband to leave the wicked party with which he has hitherto associated, and vote with us. How does the woman's husband vote who lives in the next house?"

"O, he's a Democrat, too." "Indeed, how shocking! Is her husband at home?

'No. he's at work." "Well, I'll call on her, then; but before I go allow me to leave you a document which contains an account of the manner in which a poor woman in Kansas had her tongue pulled out of her mouth and tied around her neck!

"Why, Deacon Holy-dom, that would be horrible! but how is it possible?" "O, it is true, ma'am; it is published in all the moral and religious papers of the country, and I will vouch for every word they ut-ter. Good morning, ma'am!"
