We think so too. 'Ain't selfish however.

correctly "korrecktleigh." Pshaw! IN LUCK AGAIN.-Last week we received a handsome present from Mr. C. T. Green and lady, of Barree, in the shape of some feet of excellent sausage. They must be a happy young couple, thus to remember the printer with a liberal share of their first butchering. Hope they may never be in want of any thing to make their home happy,

WHAT A TREMENDOUS RUSH-For Christmas presents, at all the stores and shops advertising in our columns. See advertisements.

*Some editor says that the destiny of the world often hangs on the smallest trifles. A little miff between Charles Bonaparte and his love Letitia might have broken off a marriage which gave birth to Napoleon and the battle of Waterloo. To which the Chicago Advertiser says: "Yes that is the fact; but suppose a 'little miff' had taken place between Adam and Eve! What then?"

133_How suggestive of the custom of the season are the following lines:

Hail, season of turkeys and greese! Hail, "sassengers," puddings and grease! And dough-nuts hail!—how plenty and fine, Since death is the doom of the swine!

DULL SALE-Penny Stamps, since Boctor Brewster wa "jerked" for mailing his letters enclosed in newspapers. INTERESTING-The Huntingdon Abolition Journal-filled with stereotyped "astounding" falsehoods, which we offer the editors and their echo $100 and costs to make good in a Court of Justice-disgusting patent medicine and humbug newspaper advertisements. Strong evidence that the paper is on its last legs, or at least crippled in its patron_ age. Even the Trough Creekers, who, it is said, heretofor read the Journal as they would their Bible, are beginning to open their eyes to the fact that they have been deceived and misled by the rascals who control its columns. SOLITUDE SWEETENED-Going to jail and living on molas

Was that all you got when you were caged by Sheriff Greenland? 'No wonder you felt pale. We didn't think a man professing to be an editor, could become a mail robber. Its too bad, too bad.—Sam't G. Whittaker.

That's cool-for an assistant editor to give the Doctor such a thrust under the left rib, in his own paper. Doctor, you should read the proof sheets after that. There is about as much honesty in keeping from as taking from the mails. For If you wish to know what are the "ups and downs of life," get drunk same day when a of life," get drunk some day when the sidewalks are coered with ice.—Brewster & Whittaker.

We didnt hear of it-did you hurt yourselves. 169 Wm. Lewis, editor of the Globe, says Mr. Gillam denies having said that Snare took all the printed mailable packages in his post office, and that we lie. We don't be packages in his post office, and that we lie. We don lieve Mr. Gillam ever said so.—Brewster & Whittaker.

You can easily find out what Mr. Gillam did say, and what he will say. We will take his word, over his own signature. Get him to make a statement, and we'll agree to publish it. Face the music you lying whelps.

1832 We hope to God the Post Office of this place, will have a competent officer the next four years.—Whitaker

One that will not detect and expose your rascality? W cannot forgive ourself for permitting you to act the rascal as long as you did. We should have caught you before you got so deep into it. But then you took the advantage of our stupidity. We'll watch you close hereafter. WHAT'S WRONG WITH GABE?—He has'nt been seen as public as usual for some days past. Guess those fingers of scorn pointed at him, are keeping him within doors .-It's a pity such a promising young man should fall so soon. 1937 Will the editor of the Globe, being postmaster, tell us what mail robber means?—Brewster & Whillaher.

Mail robber means a man guilty of robbing the mail.-Now don't plead hereafter, that because you have been in the habit of doing so and so, that it's a liberty you have "according to law," and "know no better." WE MUST BE SOME, AND NO MISTAKE -- We learn from the Journal, that in view of our strength, the editors intend to import a giant editor to do their fighting. Fetch him on-we'll fight a regiment of such things, with truth as our weapon, and whip them all in the bargain. CHRISTMAS PRESENTS .- For the best and most to be appreciated and admired, call on Mr. Prettyman, and have $3,50 to $4,00 per week. The farmer is reanyour likeness taken, and then present it to a friend. It ing a rich reward for his labor. These high can be sent by mail at a trifling cost.

ASTOUNDING CONFESSION.-Doctor Brewster, one of the editors of the Journal makes this confession in his last paper:-"We have been in the habit of sending our 'cir culars' to advertisers, within our papers," and "more under belief that we were permitted this liberty 'according to law,' and knew no better until the editor of the Globe sued." The Doctor's circular consisted of a half sheet letter paper printed on one side and on the other side was a written letter, making the whole as much a manuscript letter as if the circular had not been printed on the opposite side of the sheet. Doctor Brewster was not "jerked" for enclosing in his paper a "circulat"—it was for enclosing a manuscript letter, as the evidence in Squire Snare's office will show. And such letters Doctor Brewster says are 'circulars'-the same as he admits he has been in the habit of mailing within his papers. One of the ten such circulars he mailed in one day, we handed over to Squire Snare, in compliance with our oath of office and instructions from the office to which the concealed letter had been directed. The Doctor's assertion that he was under the belief that he was permitted such liberty "according to law" and knew no letter, is FALSE. He read the law, and knew at the time he mailed ten letters in one day concealed in his papers, that he was not "permitted the lib erty according to law." But as he had been in the habit of doing the same thing (saving on a fair average 10 cents a day, since he has been in business here,) he thought he could still escape detection. Doctor Brewster has been in business here for near three years—and as he has been in the habit of mailing such "circulars" within his papers, we will see to what amount he has defrauded the United States. Say he has been in business two years and six months-give him 749 days to mail on an average five of his "circulars" daily—ten cents saved every day will amount to $74 90 the Post Office Department has lost by Doctor Brewster's fraudulent conduct. Then there are some fines yet to be collected which will reduce the Doctor's profits to a small-pile-but as the winter promises to be pretty close we shall be merciful and give him a chance to lay in his fodder.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE GLOBE. A Letter from the West.

FRIEND LEWIS:-Having received many letters of inquiry concerning the West, from Line upon Line--Here and There a Little. and knowing that most of them are readers of the Globe, we beg your permission to make it the medium of communicating to them our opinion, together with some facts and features of the western country.

After spending over twelve months in ramhave come to the conclusion that Central Iowa is the place for Pennsylvanians seeking homes in the west.

The almost lake-bound State of Michigan; has its advantages, but it has an ever changing climate, damp and chilly. Illinois, with its excellent and productive soil, is made up principally of low level prairies. Hence, it is prone to fever and ague, and presents too monotonous an appearance, to please the eye of a Pennamite. Wisconsin has a good soil, and plenty of excellent timber in the northern part of the State. Its inhabitants are principally New Englanders, Norwegians, and a good sprinkling of Dutch, in the towns and cities, who gain their living by making and selling "Lager Bier." Wisconsin is a fine State, but the winters are too long and cold to please our Pennsylvania friends, who generally think they have winter enough at home. Iowa is on about the same parallel of latitude with Pennsylvania, therefore, there is not so much difference in the climate, excepting that produced by the ever prevailing winds of the western country. The prairies of Iowa are moderately rolling, presenting a beautifully undulated appearance. Although timber is scarce, there are many fine groves of young timber, sufficient to supply the farmer with fuel and fencing. The interior of the State abounds in coal, and many fine banks have been opened up this fall. The extensive grants of Public Lands, made by Congress, to the State, for Railroad purposes, and the consequent withdrawal of the principal portion of the Public Lands from the market, have caused a rapid advance in the price of land. Prairie land can be bought in the interior of the State, at from four to eight dollars per acre, improved farms from fifteen to twenty dollars per acre.-Prairie land within twenty miles of the Mississippi river, sells at from twelve to eighteen dollars per acre. Improved farms within the same limits, are worth from twenty-five to forty dollars per acre, those within three or from sixty to one hundred dollars per acre, and upwards. We have been asked, "would it be advisable to take household furniture to the west," we answer no, nothing, except bedding and carpeting. Cabinet ware, stoves, tin ware and store goods, are sold in Dubuque, Davenport, and other river towns, about as cheap as in Huntingdon county. Don't move vour family west, unless you have a place prepared to receive them. Houses are very scarce here, rents very high, and Hotel keepers know how to charge. Horses and cattle are very high here, but judging from the recent extensive importation of horses, we conclude that the prices must come down.

We have been asked by young men, "would you advise me to go west?" Yes! if you are a farmer, or have a good trade, as House builder, Blacksmith, &c.; if you have a few "rocks" to invest, so much the better; a few hundred dollars judiciously invested here, will, in all probability, make more money than you can by "hard knocks." Don't come here with just money enough to pay your way, and no trade, expecting to get situations as clerks in stores and offices; the country is flooded with young men of this kidney-better stay with your friends, as friendship is a rarity here; money is the magic, and he is unfortunate indeed, who is without it. All kinds of domestic produce, except wheat and corn is high. Wheat is selling at 70 cts. per bushel; Corn 25 cts.; Potatoes $1,00; Turnips 40 cts.; Onious $1,00; Butter 35 cts. per lb.; Eggs per dozen, 30 cents, and every thing else proportionately high: Boarding is from prices are not attributable to short crops, (the crop this season was considered a fair one,) but to the immense influx of population, causing the consumers to far out number the producers. We now hope we have in some degree at least, complied with the wishes of our friends. Our next epistle will most likely be dated at Omahe, Nebraska, when we will endeavor to give something of interest from that far famed land of promise. O. IOWA CITY, Iowa, Dec. 15, 1856.

William Walker has been met by greater odds than any of us expected just now, and William Marcy may be aware of the cause; the odds were nothing; the steady rifle and inevitable bowie-knife, as usual, were every-thing, and the odds were nothing; the steady rifle and inevitable bowie-knife, as usual, were every-thing, and the odd of the cause of the cause is the odd of the cause of the cause; the odd of the cause of the cause is the cause of the ca inevitable bowie-knife, as usual, were everybling over several of the western States, we thing; and so we have the agreeable duty of recording three victories on land and one on sea.
